PLEDGED TO ROOSEVELT.

Sharon Republican Club Organized With 250 Members.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—A Roosevelt club was organized here Saturday with 250 members. The club had its inception in the Buhl Rifles armory, where addresses were made by Dr. H. C. Hall, Leo Denny and J. A. McLaughry. The following pledge was taken by the members:

We, the undersigned, Republicans of Sharon and surrounding towns, heartily indorse the wise administration of President Roosevelt and admire his energetic and indefatigable effort in the settlement of the anthracite coal strike. We recognize in him the truest exponent of Republicanism, trust his masterful leadership and pledge our hearty support of the ticket this fall that the road may be prepared for his successful nomination and triumphant election in 1904.

YOUNG WOMAN DRUGGED

Daughter of Canton Banker Tells New York Police of Drive About City While Unconscious.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Driven about New York in a handsom cab today unconscious, was the story told by Emeline Hunt, 19 years old, a daughter of a banker of Canton, O., to the police of the Morrisania station tonight.

The young woman appeared to be suffering from the effects of a drug and was removed to the Tremont station.

Police Sergeant Wallace, to whom she told her remarkable story, questioned her, but could get no connected story.

Set Fire to Barns.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Oct. 19.—Sheriff Dreger today lodged Adolph Hadelbach in jail here for having set fire to the barns and warehouses on half a dozen farms near Loretto, in this county. The prisoner declares disappointment in love crazed him.

THE NOTORIOUS CAREER OF JAMES YOUNGER ENDS BY SUICIDE IN ST. PAUL

WAS PAROLED FROM PRISON

Released From Minnesota Penitentiary After Serving 25 Years.

SENTENCED FOR MURDER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 19.—James Younger, the younger of the two bandits paroled from the Minnesota penitentiary a little over a year ago, shot and killed himself in a room at the Hotel Reardon, St. Paul, this afternoon. Younger made his home in Minneapolis, but today went to St. Paul and engaged a room. During the afternoon the clerks of the hotel were startled by a shot and an investigation revealed Younger lying dead in his room.

For some time he had been in ill health. An old wound troubled him, and in addition the board of pardons had refused to grant him permission to marry a woman who had been instrumental in securing his pardon from the penitentiary. It is believed that a knowledge of his physical condition and the fact that he could not marry the woman he loved impelled him to take his life. He was 54 years of age.

Wanted No Tears Shed.

On a bureau in the room was found a long manila envelope, on one side of which was written:

To all that is good and true I love and bid farewell.

JIM YOUNGER.

On the other side of the envelope were these words:

Oh, lassie, good-bye. All relatives, just stay away from me. No crocodile tears wanted. Reporters, be my friends. Burn me up.

JIM YOUNGER.

The envelope contained a package of letters that had passed between Younger and a woman with whom he is said to have been much in love. The woman, who is prominently connected, is said to have reciprocated his affection, and it was reported at one time that they were to be married. The woman's relatives raised strenuous objections to the marriage, and a further obstacle was the fact that it was pointed out that a paroled prisoner could not legally contract a marriage. The couple determined to disregard the objections of relatives, and an effort was made to overcome the other obstacles to their marriage, by securing from the state board a full pardon and restoration to citizenship. This effort failed, and, it is thought, had much to do with Younger's determination to end his life.

The woman is said to be now in Boise, Idaho, for her health. It is also said that the relations between Jim and Cole Younger were very much strained—in fact that the brothers had not been on speaking terms for the past six months. Cole Younger is confined to his bed with sickness and could not be seen by reporters. The difference between the brothers is reported to have been over money matters.

Praises Bryan in Last Letter.

On another sheet of paper Younger had written this message, evidently his last words before committing suicide:

October 13.—Last night on earth. So good-bye, lassie, for I still think of thee. A. U. G. forgive me for this is my only chance. I have done nothing wrong. But politics is all that Van Sant, Wolfer and others of their stripe care for. Let the people judge. Treat me right and fair, reporters, for I am a square man. A Socialist and decidedly in favor of woman's rights. Bryan is the brightest man these United States has ever produced. His one mistake was in not coming out for all the people and absolute Socialism. Come out, Bryan. There is no such thing as a personal God. God is universal and I know Him well and am not afraid. I have pity for the pardoning board; they do not stop to consider their wives or to think of the man who knows how to love and appreciate a friend in truth. Good-bye, sweet lassie.

James Younger was the youngest of three brothers, Robert, Coleman and James, who between 1866 and 1873 gained great notoriety through their association with Jesse and Frank James. The band, headed by Jesse James, was charged with almost innumerable robberies of banks and railroad trains, in the execution of which many desperate encounters took place and many men were killed. The members of the band had served through the civil war, fighting on the side of the confederacy with Quantrell and his guerrillas.

The scene of most of their alleged post bellum depredations was the state of Missouri, and those adjacent thereto, but in September, 1876, the band entered Minnesota, traversing the state as far as Northfield, in Rice county.

Killed Bank Cashier.

There, on September 7, after terrorizing the people on the street, an attempt was made to loot the First National bank. Cashier J. L. Heywood, who was in charge of the bank, made a plucky fight to preserve the funds of the institution and during the encounter he was shot and killed, not, however, until he had wounded one or more of the raiders.

The citizens of Northfield, quickly recovering from the panic, armed themselves and started in pursuit of the desperadoes, who, baffled at the resistance they had encountered, had mounted their horses and were attempting to escape. A week was spent in their desperate retreat, the pursuing posse of citizens, time and again coming into contant with the bandits and exchanging shots with them.

The raiders were handicaped by the wounded, whom they were endeavoring to carry with them, and, finally the posse succeeded in surrounding them in a thick wood. A battle ensued, in which three members of the gang were killed and the three Younger brothers were captured. Jesse James and the other outlaws succeeded in making their escape.

Sentenced for Life.

The prisoners were brought to trial, and on November 21, 1876, pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree.

EIGHT INJURED BY EXPLOSION

Carpenters Are Horribly Burned By Bursting of Steam Pipe.

DEATHS MAY RESULT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wheeling, Oct. 19.—One of the most horrible accidents that has ever befallen this industrial district occurred this afternoon at the blast furnace of the new Riverside mill at Boggs run, near Forty-eighth street, this city. Eight carpenters were building a partition on a scaffolding 35 feet from the ground floor. The main steam pipe, which is nearly two feet in diameter, was situated immediately over their heads, and without a moment's warning it burst, hurling them nearly 100 feet.

The injured are:

WILLIAM ANDERSON, burned about face and body; right arm broken.

HENRY WESTENHAVER, head and body burned.

W. H. JONES, horribly burned about face and shoulders.

ARTHUR HALFPENNY, face, neck and arms burned.

FRANK BARTULA, face and body scalded.

M. H. BURKE, scalded about upper part of body.

EDWARD CARSON, burns on head and face.

Not one escaped the scalding water and steam, but the most singular feature of the explosion was the absence of immediate fatalities. Only one man suffered a fractured bone, he being William Anderson of Bellaire, who had his arm broken at the wrist.

However, all were frightfully burned, so that the skin fell in shreds from their faces, hands and upper parts of their bodies.

Five of the men were taken to the Haskins hospital and the others to the City hospital.

Great excitement was manifest on the streets during the afternoon hours, as it was reported that all were killed and a score or more injured. Nearly all the doctors in town were called and assisted in administering to the wounds. With the exception of Anderson, all are residents of Wheeling. Late tonight no deaths had occurred, but the shock of falling such a distance, coupled with the horrible burns and scalds, it is feared, will result fatally to all.

MANGLED BODY FOUND HANGING ON GIRDER

Engineer Is Charged With Murder of Fireman on Moving Train.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ZANESVILLE, O., Oct. 19.—A murder committed in the cab of his locomotive, in the darkness, with the train running at full speed, and his fireman as his victim, is the charge on which Baltimore & Ohio Engineer P. J. Glancy of Newark was arrested this evening at Bellaire, on the order of Coroner Matthews, of this county.

The body of the fireman, John Shulty, was found at 7 o'clock this morning, hanging across one of the girders of the Baltimore & Ohio bridge, which spans Licking river, a mile west of this city.

Engineer Glancy did not report the loss of his fireman when he received orders at the station here, although he sent Conductor T. J. Andrews back to look for him when he reached the tower, one mile east of the station.

At the post-mortem this evening it was found that Shulty had evidently been struck on the right temple by some blunt instrument, the blow being sufficient to crush his skull. The body was found hanging across one of the girders at the side of the track, and blood and a piece of flesh were found on one of the bridge uprights at a point which he would not probably have touched had he fallen. The condition shown by the autopsy led the coroner to order Glancy's arrest.

On receiving word from Bellaire that Glancy had been placed under arrest, and that blood and brain tissue had been found in the cab of the engine, Coroner Matthews left for that place at 10 o'clock tonight, with a policeman, to have him brought back to Zanesville. It is not known that enmity existed between the two men. The entire train crew lived in Newark. Shulty leaves a widow and children.

TEMPTED AND FALLS.

Later Conscience Stricken Man Returns Jewels Worth $7,000 Which He Had Stolen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—A special to the World from Duluth, Minn., says: "Mrs. T. D. Merrill, wife of a wealthy Duluth lumberman, took a pearl necklace with diamonds worth $7,000 from a safety deposit vault of the First National bank Wednesday, and while writing and getting a check cashed the property was stolen from the counter.

"A reward of $500 was offered for the return of the property and today a stranger called at the house and delivered the jewelry. He refused the reward, which was offered in currency, and left without making any explanation.

"The police believe some respectable man was tempted to steal on the impulse of the moment and later became conscious stricken."

BOYS GO ON EXCURSION THAT ENDS WITH JOLT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

KOKOMO, IND., Oct. 19.—Kirk Wilson, aged 18, came to grief in a novel venture here today.

Wilson is employed in carrying night mail from the postoffice to the depots. He had keys to the depot office, and last night he stole 39 tickets to Michigan City from the Lake Erie & Western office. These he stamped with the official stamp.

This morning he called his boy chums and all boarded the passenger train for a personally conducted excursion to Michigan City.

After the departure of the train, Station Agent J. H. Franks discovered the theft of the tickets and telegraphed ahead. The conductor received the telegram and ejected the youthful passengers, who had a walk of 18 miles to get home.

Wilson was arrested and confessed, and told where he had more tickets, under the station platform.

MYSTERY DEVELOPED BY GOVERNOR STONE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 605 Fifteenth St., N. W. WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.

Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania, accompanied by Mrs. Stone, arrived in Washington late tonight. They went at once to the Arlington hotel, but did not register, the governor evidently desiring that it not become public that he was in Washington.

The nature of his mission here is not known, but it is supposed that it has some bearing on the coal strike situation. What Gov. Stone's connection with the settlement of the strike at this late date is is not evident.

Before President Roosevelt's effort to terminate the strike was crowned with success it was thought he might request the president to assume the responsibility for keeping order in the anthracite region by ordering government troops there, but this necessity is now generally considered past.

OLD "BILL" PRITTS GOES ON STAGE FOR CHARITY

Noted Moonshiner to Assist Country Pastor Clear Off Old Church Mortgage.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 19.—"Bill" Pritts, the most famous of all Western Pennsylvania moonshiners, who for years eluded the government officers and terrorized the inhabitants of the vicinity of the Laurel mountains, is to be again before the public in an entirely new role. An enterprising country preacher down in the Ligonier valley, seeking to lift the church debt, hit upon a new plan of raising the incumbrance.

He has secured the consent of Pritts to appear in several sketches and also to deliver a lecture this week on the reminiscences of a moonshiner.

Flaring posters have been sent broadcast with announcement that the noted moonshiner will be the leading attraction.

While Pritts was in the Fayette county jail he was the leading character in an entertainment given by the prisoners.

Pritts is a hardy mountaineer and full of startling stories of his career.

WHEN CAPT. HOBSON VISITED CAMP GLENN.

Capt. Richmond P. Hobson was the guest of the Fourteenth Regiment at Mahanoy City. Capt. Hobson is at the right of the center with his hands in his overcoat pockets. Col. W. E. Thompson is in the center, facing front. Others are staff officers of the regiment.

ELEVEN MEN KILLED IN A RACE BATTLE

Three White Officers and Eight Negroes Victims of Shooting.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Oct. 19.—Three white men and eight negroes are reported to have been killed in a race riot at Littleton, Ala., 25 miles southwest of this city, tonight. A special train carrying Sheriff Andrew Bergen and 10 deputies left for the scene of the riot at 11 o'clock tonight.

The riot is said to have been caused by a crowd of negroes attacking a white woman who was passing over a railroad bridge en route home from a visit to a neighbor.

As soon as the white citizens of the town learned of the attack they began a search for the assailants. The negroes refused to deliver the men and armed themselves to protect their leaders. When the posse arrived the negroes opened fire, killing three of the officers. The deputies returned the fire, killing eight negroes.

Owing to the large number of negroes, who outnumbered the whites ten to one, the posse was forced to retreat. The negroes are reported to be in complete possession of the town, and have entrenched themselves. The negroes have captured a powder magazine, the property of a coal company, and are strongly fortified.

BISHOP POTTER ABSENT.

Enmity Toward Rev. Arthur Ritchie Shown at Dedication of St. Ignatius Church.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The World this morning says: That the breach which has existed for 10 years or more between Bishop Potter and the Rev. Arthur Ritchie, rector of St. Ignatius church, is still as wide as ever, was made apparent yesterday when the new St. Ignatius church was formally opened.

It is the custom of the bishop of a Protestant Episcopal diocese to attend the opening services in a new church, but Bishop Potter did not appear in St. Ignatius yesterday. This was a surprise to many of the congregation, but not to the Rev. Mr. Ritchie or the officers of the church. They had known for some time that Bishop Potter still maintained his bitter opposition to the ritualistic or high church practices favored by Father Ritchie and his congregation.

The officers of the church had, therefore, invited Bishop Grafton of Fond du Lac, being forced to send to that distant point to get a bishop to officiate in place of Bishop Potter.

MRS. KEHL WEEPS.

Declares There Is Not One Fact to Indicate She Killed Husband or Brother-in-Law.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The World in a special from Cortland, N. Y., says: "With her face buried in her hands and sobbing as though her heart would break, Mrs. Maggie Kehl, 18-years-old widow of William A. Kehl, who is held by Coroner Santee under suspicion of having poisoned her husband and more recently her husband's brother, Adam Kehl, protested her innocence today.

"Oh, this is awful, awful," she moaned. "How can they be so heartless as to put me in a cell with not one bare fact against me—not one particle of evidence except vague hints of a most sensational nature?"

BRITISH FORCE RETREATS BEFORE THE MAD MULLAH

Loses Fifty-Two Men Killed and One Hundred Wounded in Battle in Bush Near Mudug.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The foreign office has issued an undated dispatch from Col. Swayne, commanding one of the columns of British forces operating against the Mad Mullah in Somaliland. The British forces engaged were composed entirely of native troops and levies. Col. Swayne says:

"My force reached Erego this morning. When about one day's march north of Mudug it was attacked in the thick bush. Two advances were made, and the enemy was beaten back in the morning. Their losses were heavy, and we captured 100 rifles. Our force then proceeded to collect animals for transportation purposes and to join the detachment at the stockade camp. In the afternoon a reconnoissance was made and, after sharp fighting, the enemy were again driven off. Two British officers and 30 men were killed and 100 wounded.

Col. Swayne is retiring on Bohotle. He asks that 600 further reliable troops be despatched from Berbera forthwith.

The serious reverses in Somaliland places the small British force there, of about 2,000 men of doubtful reliability, in an exceedingly perilous situation.

Since the beginning of Col. Swayne's second campaign against the Mullah last May, little has been heard of the expedition. The present dispatches seem to show that he was retreating from the frontier northward when the Mullah attacked him at Erego.

The Mullah's success will set the whole Ogaden and Dolbahanta country aflame. The Mullah, who is said to be in communication with Kaif and Inger, in the direction of the Webbe river, is bringing up reinforcements from all sides.

WESTERN UNION SUIT IS NOT UNEXPECTED

Pennsylvania Officials Say They Are Sure of Legal Grounds in Case.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Ledger Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 19.

The filing of a bill in equity in Pittsburgh Saturday by the Western Union Telegraph Company, asking for a temporary and permanent injunction against the Pennsylvania Company, restraining that corporation from taking away from the telegraph company the right to use the telegraph lines along the railroad, was anticipated by the railroad officials. A high official of the Pennsylvania railroad says the company will fight the suit.

Counsel for the railroad company and the officials in charge of this particular department of the great corporation will hold their first conference tomorrow, and exceptions to the bill will soon be filed.

"While it is true that the Western Union is a Gould interest," said a Pennsylvania official today, "I do not think the present move is at all due to any feeling of enmity between the Gould and Pennsylvania interests. The Western Union has lost a vast amount of business through the loss of their control, and it is only natural that they should fight to get it back. You may be sure that the Pennsylvania was sure of its ground before it took the contract away from the Western Union and gave it to the Postal, and when the step was taken it was done with the expectation of a legal fight."

CHESTER D. POTTER.

President Moffat Spoke.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—With impressive ceremony the services attending the installation of Edmund James James as president of Northwestern University were begun in Evanston today. The services will continue until Tuesday. Among those who spoke was the Rev. James D. Moffat, D. D., president of Washington and Jefferson college, Pennsylvania.

YOUNGEST CONVICT IS GIVEN PARDON

Nine-Year-Old Boy Enjoys Himself and Saves Money While in Prison.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JACKSON, MISS., Oct. 19.—Willie Evans, the youngest convict in the United States, was pardoned from the penitentiary last night by Gov. Longino.

Willie is now approaching his ninth year, and has been in the prison about one year, serving a three-year term for robbery. He was sent up from Jackson county by Judge Neville on the charge of stealing $300 from a store near Moss Point. There is considerable doubt as to the intention of the boy to steal the money, and it is not believed that he realized its value, the greenbacks being wrapped up in a sheet of paper.

During his incarceration Willie saved $9.45 from the tips given him by visitors at the prison, and he will start a bank account upon reaching home. He expresses much regret on leaving prison, as he formed a fond attachment for the officials, who have treated him with great kindness.

TUGBOAT BLOWS UP.

Two Persons Are Killed, One Fatally and Three Slightly Injured in Mississippi River.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 19.—Two persons were killed, one fatally and three slightly injured in an explosion which partially wrecked the tugboat Fred Nellis of St. Louis, near Mound City, Ark., today. The dead are: Mrs. Josie Hill, St. Louis, and William Phillips, Memphis, second engineer.

The injured are: Willie Gillem, negro porter, will die; Tom Manning, deck hand, scalded; Capt. Thomas Ledger, St. Louis, scalded; Frank Hill, St. Louis, chief engineer, husband of Mrs. Hill, slightly scalded.

The explosion was caused by three boiler flues giving way.

SHOTS FIRED INTO CAMP BY COAL AND IRON POLICE ON GUARD AT COLLIERY

MILITIA'S POWER IS TO BE TESTED

Civil Authorities Will Try to Force Wadsworth Into Court.

CHEERS AT PARADE

By GIBBONS M. MARSH, Staff Correspondent.

Shenandoah, Oct. 19.—The courts of Schuylkill are going to make a test case of the Wadsworth-Durham shooting affray. Hostilities will be opened tomorrow morning in Pottsville, the county seat, when District Attorney M. P. McLoughlin and Attorney J. P. Bell will apply for habeas corpus proceedings before Judge O. B. Brehlen and ask that Private Wadsworth be brought into court, charged with the murder of William Durham. Attorney Bell leaves here in the morning to cooperate with the district attorney.

Col. Rutledge said tonight that the regiments of the state will combine with each other and make a test case of the shooting. A precedent must be established to show whether the civil authorities can interfere with the course of the militia. No matter what the finding of the court here may be the case will be carried before higher tribunal. Wadsworth cannot be forcibly taken from the camp.

Cheers for Troopers.

The boys of the Eighteenth were cheered as they entered the town this evening for dress parade. The streets were crowded. The evening drill was held in the main thoroughfare and the soldiers held the attention and admiration of the throngs throughout.

The drilling of the hospital corps was especially appreciated by the crowds. Sergeant Hartigan conducted the drill and showed the manner in which the corps look after the wounded in the field. When they finished the drill they were applauded all along the street. This corps is made up of young physicians and medical students and was organized and drilled by Capt. Rathon.

Order prevailed in Shenandoah today. That morning the soldiers and officers attended church services. The possibility of the strike being terminated was the theme of many of the clergymen. The Rev. D. A. Evans of the First Baptist church said that the trouble had been brought about by the wisdom of a few and the folly of many. He said that the local troubles had been many, but the outcome of the strike would elevate the standard of the laboring classes.

Eulogizes the President.

The Rev. S. J. Davis of the Baptist church eulogized President Roosevelt, and told the miners that it was due to his efforts and courage that their troubles would soon be brought to an end. He said that President Roosevelt is a man of common sense, honesty, and resolute courage, and the application of these attributes would bring only one result, harmony and peace between capital and labor.

Father O'Reilly of the Annunciation Catholic church, who denounced the actions of the miners at the time of the outbreak, this morning told his congregation that while they were not disposed to listen to him at the outbreak, he hoped they would abide by the outcome of the arbitration commission, no matter what that result would be. He still maintained their efforts in remaining from the mines will prove wasted and useless.

TWELVE INCENDIARY FIRES IN WHEELING

An Apparent Effort Was Made to Burn the City. Boy Is Arrested.

WHEELING, W. VA., Oct. 19.—Desperate efforts were made by firebugs to burn the city tonight and early this morning. The police have arrested James Ellsworth, aged 18, believing that he was connected with the job.

Twelve different fires were started in rapid succession and for three hours the firemen were kept on the jump. Half burned waste and oiled rags told the tale. The fiends made two desperate efforts to burn Morgan's big carriage works. The second fire was almost a success. The department after half an hour's work succeeded in saving the plant.

SAFE LEFT OPEN MONEY IS MISSING

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The Sun this morning says: "Horatio G. Sickle, night clerk of the New Amsterdam hotel, walked out of the hotel at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, leaving the door of the safe open. When Manager Foster got down to the hotel office shortly after he discovered, according to his report to the police, that between $1,000 and $2,000 were missing from the safe and that some of the valuables put there for guests were missing."

Church Floor Gave Way.

OMAHA, NEB., Oct. 19.—A serious catastrophe was narrowly averted at the First Christian church today when the 500 people were gathered to hear the Rev. Allen Wilson of Irvington, Ind., barely escaped being thrown into the basement, 25 feet below, by the giving way of the timbers in the floor. The vast audience passed out quietly, however, upon being notified of their peril and all escaped unhurt.

Father McEnroe Declares in Sermon That Robbers Put Dynamite Under Bridge.

CLEARS STRIKERS' SKIRTS

By WILLIAM L. ROSS, Staff Correspondent.

Mahanoy City, Oct. 19.—Three shots which came from a culm bank of the Mahanoy City colliery, just opposite the camp of the Fourteenth regiment, startled the guard early this morning. One of the bullets struck in a camp fire near the guardhouse, narrowly missing a sentry.

William O'Neil of Company F, sergeant of the guards, with four men, were detailed to find the source of the shots. It was established that the shots came from ground inaccessible to any but the deputy coal and iron police employed to protect the colliery. It was further established that yesterday was pay day, and charges that a number of the deputies were drunk were freely made. It is therefore supposed that the shots were fired by a drunken deputy.

The matter is being kept very quiet, but it was said that Division Superintendent Reese Tasker of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company and the chief of the deputies visited the camp today to investigate. There is a report that arrests are contemplated.

The camp was asleep at the time, so that few except the guard knew of the shots being fired.

Deputies Are Leaving.

Now that it seems practically certain that the end of the strike is near these deputies are leaving the region as rapidly as they can. Their presence is a continual provocation to disorder.

Two regimental events came off today. The Sunday inspection of the camp, guns, uniforms, etc., was made this morning with all the strictness of the regular army. Col. Thompson and his staff passed through the whole regiment. Every man's rifle was examined with the greatest care. The streets and grounds of the camp were found in perfect condition and there were almost no suggestions to be made in the way of improvement. This afternoon a dress parade was given on the downtown streets. A large crowd turned out and admired the efficient maneuvers.

While Private David G. Crane of Company A was taking part in the dress parade this afternoon a telegram from Wilkinsburg was received notifying him that his father had suffered a paralytic stroke. The parade had hardly ended when another telegram told of the elder Crane's death.

Col. Thompson received today from Corporal James Ottley Corbett of Company K a complete set of blue print maps of the camp and of the surrounding country, showing the exact distances between the centers of possible trouble and the camp, as well as all the means of reaching those places.

Is Civil Engineer.

Corporal Corbett is a son of Lieut. Col. Corbett. He is a civil engineer and has been in the employ of the Wabash railroad at the Greentree tunnel now being dug near Pittsburgh.

A sensation was created in the congregation of the Rev. Father Peter McEnroe at St. Canicus' Roman Catholic church here when the priest announced in his sermon that it was beyond doubt true that the men who placed the dynamite under the railroad bridge leading from the Reading main line into the North Mahanoy and Mahanoy City collieries were the same gang of burglars which escaped arrest about a year ago by almost fatally shooting Chief of Police John Hassel.

"This has been attributed, like other outrages of the same kind, to the strikers, and unjustly so," he said. "Our wonted peace is about to be resumed and we shall soon have no further use of the soldiers. The state guard sent to our city, in addition to preserving the peace, has made many friends here. Still, we shall be glad when the time comes that all armed guards of the kind will be done away with."

BACK TO THEIR SHIPS.

Consulates at Gonaives, Haiti, Are No Longer in Need of Protection of Marines.

PORT AU PRINCE, HAITI, Oct. 19.—The town of Gonaives is quiet. General St. Folx Colin, commander of the government forces there, is maintaining order. There are still a great number of refugees in the foreign consulates. The family of the late Admiral Killick is in the German consulate.

The Marine guards, which were landed from the foreign warships last week to protect the consulates, have gone back to their vessels.

The United States cruiser Cincinnati has left here for Port de Paix; the French cruiser D'Assas has left for Port Au Prince and the German cruiser Falke has gone to Cape Haitien.

Wright at White House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Hon. Carroll D. Wright, who is the recorder of the arbitration commission appointed by the president to consider the differences between the mine operators and the miners, spent a half hour at the White House tonight. He discussed in a general way with President Roosevelt the work of the commission

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 19.—Delegates to the mine workers' convention, which will meet in the Nesbitt theater, this city, at 10 o'clock tomorrow forenoon for the purpose of accepting or rejecting the proposition of President Roosevelt to end the strike and submit all grievances to the arbitration commission, began arriving here today, and about one-fourth of the 700 or 800 delegates are now in the city. Strike headquarters, which has been extremely quiet since the excitement of last week, began to be lively before noon today. Many of the delegates are instructed on various features of the settlement, but a majority of them will follow the advice of President Mitchell.

There is nothing on the surface tonight that gives the slightest indication that the convention will not vote to send the men to work this week, with the probabilities still in favor of Thursday as the day of resumption.

Delegates Are Cheerful.

A noticeable thing among the delegates was their cheerfulness. It was quite evident that they were glad to get together and decide to return to work after the weary idleness of more than five months. All the delegates who were spoken to regarding the action of tomorrow's convention appeared to have no fear of a hitch.

The principal question, outside the great question of accepting or rejecting President Roosevelt's proposition, will be that of strikers getting their old places back. A large number of the men fear that in the general rush to return to the mines some of them may fail to get work. They want some assurance from the convention that they will be able to get the positions they occupied before the suspension was ordered. It is likely that this element from three districts will join forces and make a concerted fight on the floor of the convention for some specific action. In the face of the fact that the operators are on record that they will not dismiss one man who stood by them during the struggle, it is going to be a serious problem to solve.

Mitchell Will Make Speech.

The meeting will be held behind closed doors. President Mitchell will be chairman, and during the first session, in an opening speech, will lay the plan submitted by President Roosevelt before them for action. He will recommend that it be accepted and the men return to work.

National Secretary W. B. Wilson will be selected as secretary and he will have as assistants the district secretaries. These secretaries will probably be appointed the committee on credentials. They were busy at strike headquarters today going over the papers. They hope to be able to report by noon tomorrow. So far as they know there will be no contests.

President Mitchell had many callers today. Most of the delegates who arrived today called and paid their respects and congratulated him on the near ending of the struggle. Among Mr. Mitchell's callers was Mayor Jones of Toledo.

Pittsburghers Make Call.

M. M. Garland, formerly president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers; Uriah Bellingham, vice president of district No. 5, United Mine Workers, and William Dodds, secretary of the same district, all of Pittsburgh, also called on the miners' chief. They came east to learn whether the relief fund is to be kept up in that district.

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 19.—District President Nichols of the United Mine Workers when asked today how long the convention would probably last, said he could not tell, but expected it would adjourn some time Tuesday. He expressed the opinion that there would not be any very great opposition to the acceptance of the proposition.

E. E. Clark of Cedar Rapids, Ia., grand chief of the Order of Railway Conductors, who was chosen as one of the arbitrators of the miners' strike disputes, was here today. He said he had not yet received official notice of his selection, as he has been on the road for two weeks, but expects to find it awaiting him when he arrives home tomorrow. Mr. Clark said he would certainly accept, if for no other reason than to avoid the complication and delay that might result from his declination.

GAVE 116 HEARINGS.

Police Magistrates of the Two Cities Had Heavy Dockets.

There were 52 prisoners at Central station yesterday morning, 27 of whom were discharged, three held over and two held for court trial. The latter were John Daniels, the negro, alleged to have assaulted William Keyes, also colored, who is at the West Penn hospital and likely to die, and Charles Martin, who attempted to steal a woman's pocketbook in Fifth avenue Saturday night.

Magistrate David J. McGarey had 17 cases at the hearing at No. 7 police station, but with two exceptions all were discharged.

At No. 3 police station 11 cases of disorderly conduct and drunkenness were heard before Magistrate Samuel F. Kerr. All were released after paying small fines. At No. 5 police station 13 similar hearings were given, and small fines imposed.

Magistrate John H. Armstrong had 14 prisoners before him at the East End and Oakland stations. J. F. Hober of Brushton was fined $10 for flourishing a revolver in Murtland avenue.

Magistrate Henry Hunneshagen disposed of nine cases at Allegheny Central station. John Roth of Green street, charged with beating and threatening to kill his wife, was given 30 days to the workhouse.

PROMISE ALL DETAIL IN PICTURES BY WIRE

Cleveland Men Believe They Can Transmit Half-Tones and Try to Prove It.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Two young men of Cleveland have devised a machine hardly longer than a typewriter and which does not look unlike a phonograph, by which, it is claimed, half-tones may be transmitted in detail.

It will have a public exhibition tomorrow.

Methods of transmitting illustrations by electric wire have been the subject of study for more than a decade.

There have been numberless devices brought forward, but the detail of a photograph was absent. This, it is asserted, is now supplied.

PLEA FOR IRELAND.

John Redmond Addresses a Meeting in Boston, Claiming That the Contest Is Near an End.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—Ireland's foes were denounced by speakers at two monster meetings in Symphony hall and the Holis Street theater tonight. The receptions by the United Irish league to John E. Redmond, M. P., chairman of the Irish parliamentary party; Michael Davitt, John Dillon, M. P., and the Hon. Edward Blake, M. P., who are envoys to the national convention in Faneuil hall tomorrow, took the form of public meetings at Symphony hall.

Mr. Redmond said that words could not portray the importance of these meetings and the convention to Ireland's cause. He said that all the power and wealth of the English nation is being used in a reckless attempt to crush the spirit of freedom in Ireland.

"We are near the end of the contest," said Mr. Redmond. "The violence of the attacks of the British government on the Irish Land league portends this end, and every assistance should be given to those across the water who are fighting the cause of Ireland with such magnificent courage, self-sacrifice and generosity."

JEWELS WERE RETURNED.

Duluth Woman Gets Pearls and Diamonds Which Were Stolen.

DULUTH, MINN., Oct. 19.—Mrs. T. D. Merrill, who lost a pearl necklace and diamonds valued at $7,000 last Wednesday, recovered the jewels today. The gems were in a jewel case which Mrs. Merrill kept in a safety deposit vault at one of the banks. She took the case from the vault and left it on the counter while she wrote and had cashed a check.

She then left the bank, forgetting her valuable property, but returned quickly to find it gone. The police were notified and a reward of $500 was offered for the return of the jewels. A stranger came to the Merrill home today and delivered the gems to their owner. He refused to receive the reward and declined to give his name or to tell how the jewels came into his possession.

HELD UP AND ROBBED.

Washington Man Beaten Into Insensibility by Thieves.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—One of the boldest hold-ups in the history of this place occurred here Saturday night, when Harry Hawbecker was attacked by four highwaymen and terribly beaten, rendering him unconscious. They went through his pockets, taking $30.

The man was discovered lying at a dark point in the street unconscious and was taken to his home. The police arrested Frank, alias "Cinnamon," Green, and Jake Wallace as suspects. Hawbecker identified the men.

Whisky Boat Raided.

VICKSBURG, MISS., Oct. 19.—A sheriff's posse, reinforced by a gatling gun squad, this afternoon effected the capture of W. G. Hull, his son, R. G. Hull, and his daughter, Mrs. Vaughn of Arkansas. They were aboard the shanty boat Hazel, said also to be a whisky boat, from which shots were fired on Sheriff Frank Strong and his posse yesterday, resulting in the wounding of the sheriff and three of his men.

Frontier Dispute Settled.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—In a dispatch from Fez, Morocco, a correspondent of the Times says the Algeria-Morocco frontier dispute has been satisfactorily settled. France obtains possession of the disputed districts she already has occupied, but the sultan has refused to entertain the French proposal for preferential trade.

Fatal Fire in Oil Field.

BOTTLE CARRIERS WILL BE LICENSED.

VIENNA, Oct. 19.—The bill to combat drunkenness, which is being prepared by the Austrian government, is the first measure of its kind in the history of Austria. It provides for the imprisonment of persons found intoxicated in a public place over a certain number of times within six months and restricts the sale of bottled spirits, which it is declared, leads to home drinking, to holders of special licenses. Only one such license is to be granted for every 500 inhabitants.

NO INTENTION TO EVADE LAW

Gen. Dick Explains His Position on Call Issued for Campaign Funds.

ALL LETTERS ARE ALIKE

No Discrimination In Case of Federal Officeholders—Second Letter Sent After Objection Was Raised by Commission.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Columbus, O., Oct. 19.—Gen. Charles Dick, chairman of the Republican state committee, this afternoon issued a statement in regard to the order issued by President Roosevelt condemning the letter sent by the state committee to all Ohio men in the federal service asking their help in the present campaign.

In addition to the order to Chairman Dick, the civil service commission has addressed letters to several federal officials whose names are on the stationery of the committee as members of the organization. Among these are Charles Leach, collector of customs in Cleveland, and W. C. Wallace, cashier of the Columbus postoffice. Gen. Dick says they knew nothing whatever about the sending of the letter. The statement of Gen. Dick follows:

The letter sent out by Mr. Burdell, treasurer of the state committee, under date of October 10, was a circular letter, general in its character and its mailing was not confined to persons in the public service, but it was sent to Ohio Republicans generally.

The first intimation the officials of the state committee had that this letter would be construed as a violation of the civil service law was a telegram received by Treasurer Burdell from James Rudolph Garfield, acting president of the civil service commission, dated at Washington, October 14.

This telegram was followed by a letter from Mr. Garfield to Mr. Burdell and also a letter to Chairman Dick, the latter dated at Washington, October 14, addressed to Chairman Dick at Akron, and forwarded from there to Columbus, where it was received the forenoon of the 16th.

Immediately upon the receipt of this letter, Treasurer Burdell caused to be mailed to persons to whom his first letter was sent as were known to be in the public service the following letter:

Columbus, O., Oct. 18, 1902.

Dear Sir:

The letter sent you over my signature should not be regarded as levying a political assessment, and the civil service commission is anxious that this be made clear to you.

It was simply to call your attention, as a citizen of Ohio, to the important campaign now being waged in this state, asking your assistance, and that of others, in achieving such a Republican victory as will have an influence on the greater contest of 1904, and to immediately impress upon all the necessity of having every Republican vote cast this year.

Respectfully yours,
W. F. BURDELL.

There was no thought upon the part of any one connected with the state committee of violating directly or indirectly any provision of the civil service law; nor was it intended or expected that Mr. Burdell's letter would be construed as levying a political assessment.

Three Injured in Runaway.

BELLEVERNON, Pa., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—As a result of a runaway accident last night, Miss Posie Kaney may die and Miss Garrne is dying at her home. The Kaney girl is injured about the head and breast and the ligaments were torn from her shoulder. Harry Frye, who was with the young women, had his shoulder and hip hurt. The horse frighted at a train just below the town, and plunged over a steep embankment.

To Construct Race Track.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—According to the American there is to be established in Jamaica Plains, L. I., a race track that shall surpass anything of its kind in the world. The ground, it is asserted, has been purchased for a combination of millionaire horse owners, including August Belmont, William C. Whitney and Thomas F. Hitchcock, Jr., and comprises a tract of 480 acres.

TIN PLATE MEN ARE OBDURATE

They Will Fight in Convention Proposition for Less Wages.

ANTICIPATE A TRICK

Fear That Big End of Production May Go as Rebate Business, Cut Off and Drive Workers of Independent Mills to Idleness.

Opposition to the proposal for a wage reduction of 25 per cent on certain tin plate business is almost certain to carry the special convention of workers, opening today. Theodore J. Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, will scarcely be able to swing the convention to favor the proposition. Delegates did not hesitate to say last night that acceptance of the reduction would abrogate all the fundamental principles of their organization and of all unionism.

As is fairly well known, the proposition for a reduction is to cover such tin plate as the American Tin Plate Company may be able to sell under lesser labor cost to such concerns as the Standard Oil Company, now buying the cheaper plates in Wales and getting it almost duty free by converting it into packages to hold their product for export. The users of large quantities of tin plate for cans to hold export products are now, in practically all cases, buying the Welsh plate and securing the benefit of the rebate clause of the tariff law.

Delegates Opposed to It.

The convention of delegates of the black and tin plate lodges of the Amalgamated association began to arrive here last night for the convention, which opens at 10 o'clock this morning in Moorehead hall, Second avenue and Grant street. About 60 delegates will represent the tin plate lodges, and many of these arrived last night and are staying at the St. Charles hotel.

On three different occasions the tin plate workers have voted down the wage reduction proposition, acceptance of which was urged by President Shaffer, who holds that it means the life of the trade. The workers see only that acceptance of a wage reduction, which will in turn rob fellow-workers of employment, is contrary to their union principles and will not solve the question of a lack of market in the tin plate trade.

After the last effort to secure a vote for the reduction, Shaffer and the tin plate conference committee went to New York and spent over a week in conference with the officials of the American Tin Plate Company. The conference committee stood against the proposition, regardless of the urgency of Shaffer that it be accepted, and this led to the special convention.

Too Many Mills Now.

"Leaving the union sentiment out of the question," said one of the delegates last night, "if we were to accept this proposition it would mean activity of the mills, and this would encourage erection of more mills, while now the capacity of the American company alone is more than sufficient to supply the domestic trade. As long as the mills run, others will start. Our men may be working 12 months with lower wages, but it would be better to work nine with more pay. By favoring this proposition we would have the same question to meet next year, and the Welsh workers could be expected to lose no time in meeting our reduction to hold the trade for their employers.

"Another thing, what is to prevent the Standard Oil Company from becoming the heaviest jobber of tin plate in the country? This company could buy at the lower prices, say 3,000,000 boxes of plate, and this would squeeze out the independent concerns, who are not considered in the proposal for a wage reduction. They would lose their present market and our men in their mills would be idle. Jobbers would be getting Standard Oil Company plate at prices which the independents could not meet.

Danger of Abuse.

"The Steel corporation is not in business as a philanthropic institution, and might not care how much plate the Standard company and others, which would come in under the import business rebate, would buy, and probably would not know whether the plate went into cans to be exported. I am sure the delegates will not accept this trick proposition.

"The situation is a repetition of that in the puddling trade of 1885. There were probably 3,000 puddlers in the Ohio valley, and the soft steel was superseding bar iron. The puddlers were asked to accept a wage reduction from $5.50 to $5 or $4.75 a ton, so that the mills could keep running. By doing so the mills would have had an opportunity to compete with Pittsburgh mills and those of the Mahoning and Shenango valleys, which had not yet met the competition of soft steel. The puddlers refused. The mills were closed. The men sought other work.

Since then the iron trade has had a revival, and today puddlers are the only scarce craftsmen in the iron and steel business. Let the manufacturers meet their own market conditions today, as they had to at that time, which ultimately proved a benefit to the puddler."

OHIO MUNICIPAL CODE IN SHAPE FOR PASSAGE

Mayor Will Be Given Power to Make Some Appointments.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 19.—The municipal code as amended by the conference committee will be ready for final action by the legislature next Tuesday. It is expected the bill will be passed in its present shape.

The code places the line of demarkation between cities and villages at 5,000. The elective officers for cities will be mayor, president of council, members of board of public service, auditor, treasurer, solicitor and councilmen. All will be elected for terms of two years, except the auditor, whose term will be three years. The mayor will make all appointments, except those under the board of public service, and will have veto power.

The board of public service will be composed of three or five members, as the council may determine, and will have charge of all public works. The board of public safety will be the contracting board for the fire and police departments and also will be the civil service commission. The board will be bi-partisan composed of two or four members, appointments for terms of four years to be made by the mayor and confirmed by a two-thirds vote of the council, otherwise the governor will appoint.

Every city will have a board of health of five members, a tax commission of four members, who shall also be the trustees of the sinking fund, and a bi-partisan public library board of six members. The minimum number of councilmen is seven, of whom four shall be elected by wards and three at large. The fiscal year of municipalities will end December 31, and the first election under the code will take place on the first Monday in April, 1903. The code for villages is similar to that now in force for the smaller municipalities of the state.

MURDER IS SUSPECTED.

Private in the Marine Corps Arrested at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—Private John F. Devlin of the United States marine corps, stationed at the League island navy yard, has been arrested, charged with being accessory after the fact to the murder of Christopher Silinsky. Another warrant, it is understood, has been issued for the arrest of Corporal Reese Jones, now in Panama with a battalion of marines on the cruiser Panther.

Silinsky, who was a member of the marine corps at League island, was shot and killed in the clothing room of the barracks on August 9. After an investigation continuing 10 days the coroner's jury decided that Silinsky had committed suicide.

Missionary Forces to Meet.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 19.—The missionary forces of the Methodist Episcopal church, numbering 2,000 persons, will convene in this city Tuesday afternoon, in Gray's armory, for the first convention of its kind ever held. Among the bishops who will be present and address the convention are Moore of China, Hartzell of Africa, Vincent of Europe, McCabe of South America, and Thoburn of India.

Strikers to Arbitrate.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The Chicago Federation of Labor went on record as a "strike breaker" today, when by an almost unanimous vote the striking members of the Wholesale Grocer Employes' union were ordered to return to work, pending the settlement of their troubles by arbitration. Five large establishments had been tied up and two more were threatened.

Scientists Meet Today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Famous scientists from all parts of the world will assemble tomorrow morning in the Museum of Natural History, when Morris K. Jesup calls to order the thirteenth international congress of Americanists, a society interested in American archaeology, which will last through the week. Many distinguished scholars have arrived from abroad.

May Have Been Cremated.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 19.—It is now believed that another life was lost in the fire which destroyed Tower & Brook's Boston store last night. The watchman, Ten Eyck La Mouse, who was supposed to have been in the building when the fire broke out, had not been seen since and it is believed that his body is under the debris.

Addressed by Cramblett.

OMAHA, NEB., Oct. 19.—Visiting ministers to the convention of the Disciples of Christ filled pulpits in every church in the city at the morning services. The Rev. T. E. Cramblett, president of Bethany college of West Virginia, delivered a sermon on "The Lord's Supper," explanatory of the service and its institution.

Stage Passengers Robbed.

NORTH YAMHILL, ORE., Oct. 19.—The Tillamook stage was held up last night by three masked men, five miles from here. The robbers secured $200 from the passengers and then escaped. The country is heavily timbered and there is little probability of capturing the robbers.

Wu's Tenure Uncertain.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Referring to reports that have been circulated that he was to remain in Washington permanently, Mr. Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, said tonight: "I know nothing of the plans of my government relating to this post. I may remain three weeks or three months or a year."

FIERCE BATTLE WITHOUT RESULT

President Castro's Force Still in Position to Be Annihilated By Enemy.

AFRAID TO COME OUT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—A telegram from Minister Bowen, sent from Caracas at 10:45 a. m. today, says the seven days' battle between President Castro and the revolutionists ended without any decisive result.

WILLEMSTAD, ISLAND OF CURACAO, Oct. 19.—One of the leaders of the Matos revolution in Venezuela, who is at present in Curacao, has furnished the following details and explanation of the retreat of the revolutionary army from La Victoria. He says the rebels only abandoned the fight after being convinced that La Victoria was impregnable, and after President Castro had refused to come out of his entrenchments and attack the revolutionists. Twice did the revolutionary general attempt to force Castro to take the offensive, and twice the president refused.

Retreat Was Cut Off.

When the rebel reinforcements arrived at La Victoria last Thursday, President Castro and his forces were located at a point on the Gorman railroad. The rebels made a detour of the city and cut off the only road of retreat open to the government forces. They were then short of ammunition, and had it not been for the arrival of a train bringing them 500,000 cartridges, it is believed that Castro's forces would have been annihilated. Preparations for their retreat had already been ordered.

The revolutionists stationed near Caracas, some 1,200 men, under the command of Gen. Ramos, are alone responsible for the retreat of Gen. Mendoza; they permitted the train carrying ammunition to the government to leave Caracas and reach La Victoria. This train had an escort of only 100 men.

Castro Fears New Battle.

An added proof that the government suffered terribly in the La Victoria fight from the repeated attacks of the rebels, is found in the fact that President Castro does not pursue Gen. Mendoza. The latter's plan in withdrawing from La Victoria is to oblige President Castro to abandon the position he holds there.

The rebels suffered losses, but the government did also. President Castro's forces are reduced to 3,100 men, while Gen. Matos still has 9,000 men in the field. It was not a route, but a methodical retreat.

In conclusion the rebel officer said that the revolutionists, within a few days, would be found near Caracas.

COAL PRICES ADVANCE.

Rush of Applicants for Natural Gas Now Expected.

Coal prices advance again October 25. After that there'll be another increase, according to report. Why pay out-of-sight prices for coal when you can get Philadelphia Company natural gas cheaper? And there's no smoke, soot, ashes, dust or labor.

Owing to the rush for gas this fall the free service connection and free meter period has been extended to November 1. After that date the regular charge of $25 or more will be made. Philadelphia Company natural gas gives a maximum of heat for a minimum of expense. Thousands of people who never used gas before will burn it this winter. Ask at 619 Wood street. But hurry. Soft coal prices advancing and no hard coal at all will bring another rush.

NOTORIOUS CAREER OF JAMES YOUNGER ENDS

gree, this plea, it is said, having been entered to avoid the infliction of the death penalty. The brothers were sentenced to serve life sentences.

In 1880 an effort was made to secure an unconditional pardon for the brothers, it being pleaded that it had not been proved that either of the brothers had fired the shot that killed Cashier Heywood and a further plea for mercy was based upon the ground that Bob Younger was dying of consumption. Superintendent of Census William R. Merriam, who then occupied the gubernatorial chair, refused to grant a pardon, there still being a very strong sentiment against the brothers in Northfield and Rice county. Soon after this Robert Younger died in prison.

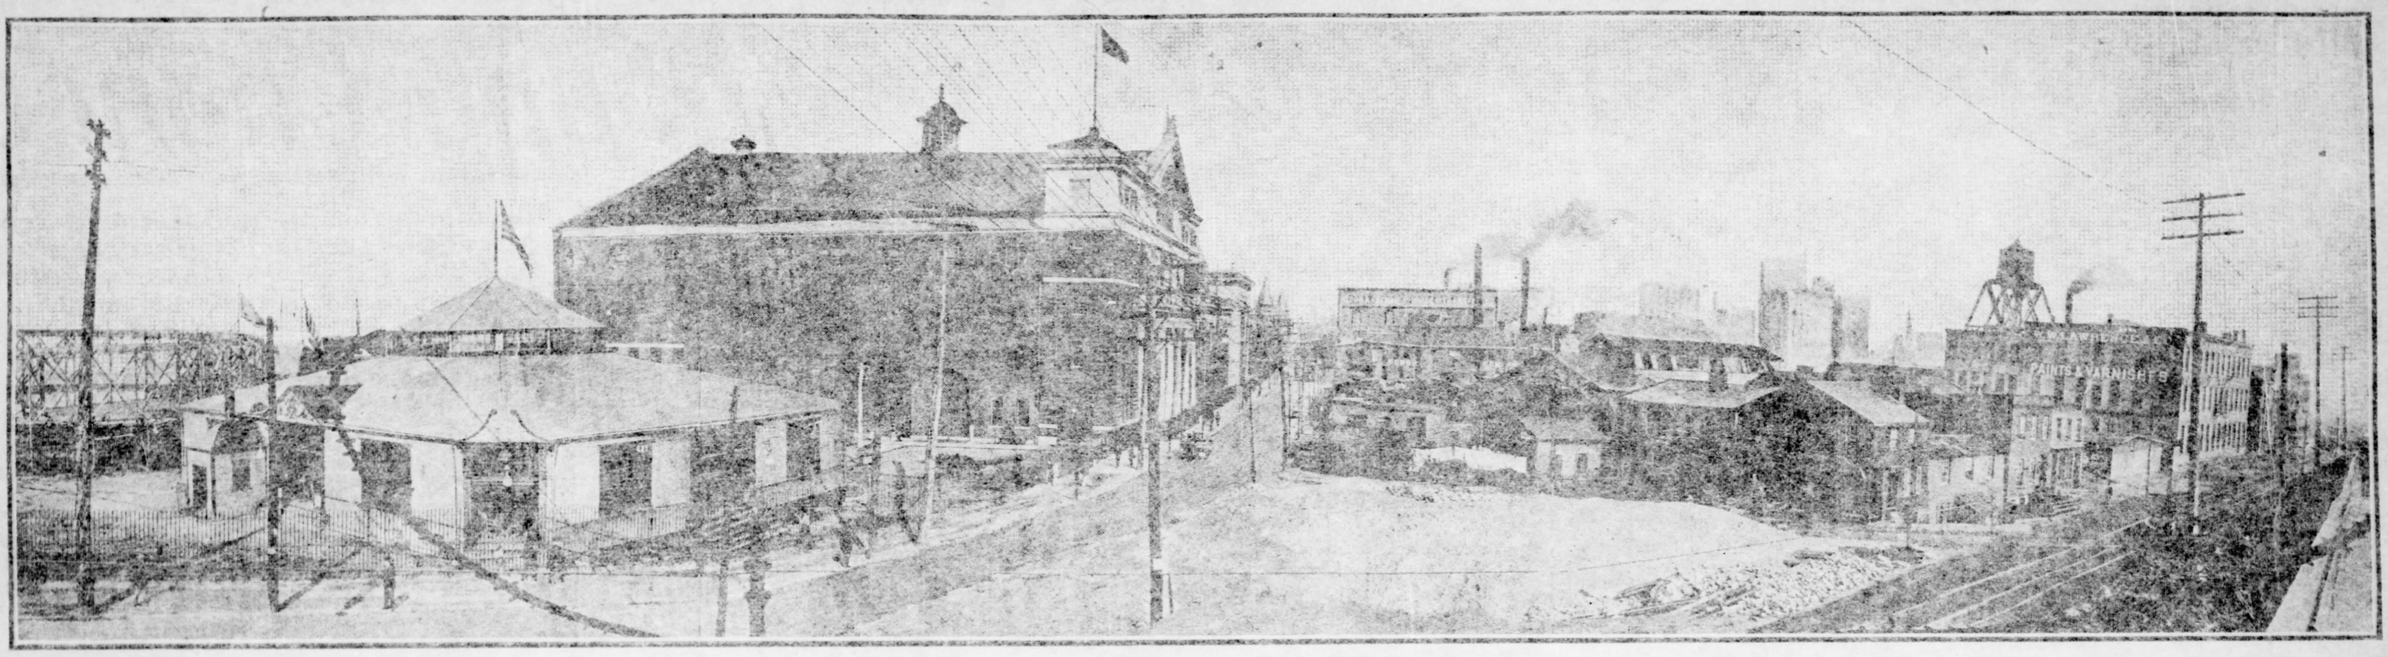
Frequent attempts were made to secure pardons for the remaining brothers, the petitions being signed by leading men in all walks of life, both citizens of this state and of Missouri. Among those who made especial effort to secure the granting of a pardon was Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia, who, it is said, had known the brothers well in the days before the war.

All efforts at securing an unconditional pardon having failed, a bill was introduced in the state legislature in 1901, empowering the state board of pardons to grant paroles to life prisoners who had served 25 years or more. The bill was opposed, but finally passed both branches of the legislature and was sent to Gov. Van Sant for his signature. The governor had three days within which to sign or veto the bill, failing which the act would become a law without his signature. Before the three days had expired the house recalled the bill and did not return it to the governor until the time for his action had elapsed.

The state pardoning board, however, of which the chief justice of the state is a member, decided that the bill had become a law without the signature of the governor, and on July 10, 1901, upon recommendation of the board of prison commissioners, a parole was granted to Coleman and James Younger, and on July 14 they were released.

Under the terms of the parole the brothers were not to leave the state, and since their release they have been engaged in business of various sorts. James Younger has suffered much from old wounds, and several months ago an operation was performed for the removal of a rifle ball from his back.

POINT DISTRICT WHICH WOULD BE EMBRACED BY ELEVATED LOOP OF THE P. R. R.



In the above illustration an idea is given as to the course of the elevated tracks the Pennsylvania railroad desires to establish in place of that abominable line down Liberty avenue from Union station to the Duquesne freight station. As is pretty generally understood, the Pennsylvania railroad proposes going down Duquesne way from its new Ft. Wayne bridge over the Allegheny, at Eleventh street, to the Point, on an elevated roadway. In the illustration the black line at the left shows where this proposed elevated roadway curves from behind the rear of the Exposition's new music hall and makes its way through the building used during the last Exposition season for the "Haunted Swing," through the entrance house to the gravity railway, which is seen at the extreme left of the illustration, and through the northwest corner of the merry-go-round house. The foreground of the illustration is so short that it does not show the full course of the proposed tracks, but the imagination can carry the elevation around to the black mark at the right of the picture, which shows the elevated tracks crossing over the trolley tracks leading to the old Union bridge, and over the embankment leading up to the Point suspension bridge. The proposed line continues curving until it reaches a point near the third telegraph pole at the right, the one in the distance, where the present loading and unloading tracks in Water street are connected with—they to be elevated—and on them the present Duquesne freight station and the big warehouses it is proposed to erect are reached. The new warehouses are to occupy all that property in front of the Exposition's property, from the shanties in the foreground back as far as Haugh & Keenan's big storage warehouse, which shows in the picture just beyond the two black smokestacks a little to the right of the center of the illustration.

STRANGE THINGS ARE DISCLOSED

Citizens Investigate the Jury Wheel and Make Some Interesting Finds.

MANY MEN ARE MISSING

Panel of 1901 Showed Names of 234 Who Could Not Be Located—Machine Wards of Pittsburgh Greatly Favored.

The Citizens party has made an investigation into the workings of the jury system in the county, and as a result has uncovered queer doings. The jury wheel of 1901 has been scrutinized, and it has been found that the names of Pittsburghers are largely in excess of the number the city is justly entitled to, compared with the population of the rest of the county; that the occupations of the jurors are largely inaccurate; that the designation "laborer" includes policemen, "white wings," bartenders, mechanics, clerks, conductors, motormen and others; that 234 jurors could not be found at all, although every effort was made to find them, and that the machine wards are favored above the rest.

It required lots of work to prepare the information, which the Citizens party has secured and which is to be printed in pamphlet form. A novel plan was devised to find whether men whose names were found in the wheel really existed or not. The work took several weeks; hundreds of letters were mailed to find whether jurors lived at the address stated in the book kept in the sheriff's office, and scores of emissaries were sent out by the Citizens ward committees, who were kept in ignorance of the reasons for trying to find the owners of the names.

This is the method by which jurors should be selected under the law. There are two jury commissioners. These two meet 30 days before the first Monday in January in each year, and, alternating with one of the judges of the courts of common pleas, should select the names of sober, intelligent and industrious persons from the qualified electors of the county at large, write them on slips and deposit the slips in the jury wheel.

A list is made and deposited in the prothonotary's office, and the sheriff keeps a book containing the names in alphabetical order. The names of all jurors excused and those who do not obey the summons of the court after being drawn out of the wheel are, under the law, required to be put back into the wheel. The court, previous to the selection of names, has determined the number to be put into the wheel, usually 4,000.

It having been charged that the jury wheel is largely filled not with the names of the class of persons contemplated by the law, but with selections made for political or personal reasons, and that some parts of the county were unduly favored at the expense of other parts, a careful examination of the names and occupations of the jurors put into the wheel from Pittsburgh was made.

Many Could Not Be Found.

The investigation showed that 808 names of the jurors were not in the directory, and that of these 808 the letter carriers returned 386 as not found. The canvassers for the directory are paid for each name they procure and the mail service is considered efficient.

The directory did not contain 46 per cent of the names in the wheel and the carriers failed to find 40 per cent of those not found in the directory.

It is asserted by the Citizens party's investigators that the returns of the national election in 1900 showed that 112,624 qualified electors voted, and that with 4,000 names in the wheel, 35 electors out of every 1,000 were enough to fill it; that the number could have been apportioned to each ward, borough and township and the names selected from the tax books, but this was not done. Based on the election returns, Pittsburgh was entitled to 1,515 names in the wheel, and not 1,907, the number placed therein. The excess, 391 or 25 per cent, was therefore taken from the complement of the rest of the county.

Occupations in Definite.

The same carelessness is, it is urged, was shown in naming the occupations of jurymen. One-fourth are entered as laborers; the designation "clerk" covers a multitude of occupations. "There is but one man called a manufacturer in the wheel. Hundreds are entered in such general terms as "agent," "collector," "private secretary," "president," "superintendent," "railroader," "riverman," "student."

The purpose of the act, in requiring that the occupation of jurors and their residences shall be honestly stated, is that attorneys may thereby be guided, in challenging jurors before the trial of cases, yet out of 20 men, called to a case, probably one-third are not entered in the list with their proper occupation. This evil has grown to such an extent, that the Pittsburgh Railways Company employs a corps of men to ascertain the correct employment and residence of jurors throughout the county, and gives this information to its attorneys for guidance.

Other Parts of County Lose.

For the whole number not found, the explanation is given that when the name of an unknown man or one not easily found is drawn from the wheel, one of the professional jurymen, hanging about the court house, answers to the name and draws the pay.

It has already been shown that the number apportioned to Pittsburgh, 1,907, is greatly in excess of the number the city is entitled to. A table has been prepared, showing the result of the efforts of the letter carriers and ward committeemen, and this is the recapitulation number of jurors found in the 1901 directory, 1,028; number found by letter carriers or by the ward committeemen, 655; total number not found at all, 234; total number found with wrong occupation, 292, and total number of those found on the pay-roll, 716.

Eleven names are not credited to any ward, but with their street addresses, some of them being put in twice. The excess of 391 given to Pittsburgh was taken from the remainder of the county, showing these shortages: Allegheny, 48; McKeesport, 31; Duquesne, 12; McKees Rocks, 14; Sharpsburg, 15; Wilkinsburg, 40; Harrison township, 11; Lower St. Clair, 18, and Mifflin, 35.

It is shown that the wards where the machine, at the time the jury wheel was filled, had a majority of votes, were unduly favored. In the First ward, which goes for the machine in municipal elections, there are 46 jurors, 29 more than the ward is entitled to, and 12 cannot be found. In the Second, four officers and employes of the Rod and Gun club, a notorious gambling house and speakeasy, were in the wheel as "sober, intelligent and judicious" persons, although lawbreakers themselves.

The Fifth ward has just 44 more names in the wheel than it is entitled to and the Sixth has 24 more. In the Seventh 15 could not be found, one man in the Eighth ward is found in the wheel twice, the Ninth ward has more than double its quota, a "laborer" in the Eleventh is a city employe living in the Eighth ward; the Twelfth ward, entitled to 41 jurors, has 71; the Fourteenth, until after February a machine ward, has 37 more than its quota, 10 of them being on the machine payroll; the Nineteenth ward, Senator Flinn's ward, has 35 more than its just allotment, eight of them being payrollers. The Twentieth ward, which pays more taxes than any three wards in the city, excluding the Third, is short 34 names in the wheel. It is the home of many anti-machine workers. A similar ward, the Twenty-first, is short 27. The Twenty-third has an excess of 40 per cent over its quota, and the Twenty-fourth has double the number it ought to have. The Twenty-seventh ward, a real, not a ring Democratic ward, is short nearly 70 per cent of its quota, in contradistinction to the First ward. The Twenty-eighth and the Thirty-third have less than their proper amount. The Thirty-eighth ward is entitled to 19 and has 10.

Judges Know of It.

The judges evidently have had their eyes opened to the shocking state of affairs shown in the foregoing pages, for after this matter was prepared for the printer Judge Evans, who is to assist the jury commissioners in filling the wheel next year, addressed a circular letter to employers and individuals, asking them to furnish the names of "sober and intelligent men, competent to serve as jurors," with the ward, borough or township in which each resides, and the street number, something that has never been asked before.

If Judge Evans will call the jury commissioners' attention to the laws and exert his judicial influence with them, they may make an honest effort to select good men, and the panel for 1903 may be like unto those that we had for some years after the bar association's investigation and report in 1885. The bar association's report showed great carelessness in filling the wheel, but not the shocking state of affairs found now.

Another Party Meeting.

The Socialist Labor party will hold a meeting on Saturday, October 25, in Old City hall. Preceding the meeting there will be a parade, beginning on the South Side and ending at the hall. William Adams, the party's candidate for governor, will speak in the interest of the party, a free lecture is given every Sunday at 3 p. m. at No. 510 Wylie avenue.

IS ACCUSED OF FRIEND'S DEATH

William Schuler Held to Await Action of Coroner on T. H. Wells' Death.

HAD DISPUTE IN STREET

Department Store Clerk Blew Out His Brains—Six-Year-Old Allegheny Child Dies After Drinking a Pint of Whisky.

As the result of a quarrel, Townsend H. Wells is dead at the Wiley undertaking rooms and William Schuler, his friend, is locked in Central police station, McKeesport, to await the coroner's inquest into the death of Wells.

Wells and Schuler, who were fellow workmen and companions, while on their way home in McKeesport late Saturday night had a quarrel at Third avenue and Mulberry street. A basket of beer which they were carrying fell to the ground and the two men became involved in a dispute as to the number of bottles broken. Adwald Ludkie, an eye-witness, says he saw Schuler strike Wells two blows.

Ludkie says Schuler's second blow caused Wells to fall, his head striking the curbstone. Wells, who was unconscious, was removed to the McKeesport hospital. He never regained consciousness and died at 1:45 o'clock yesterday morning. The post mortem examination revealed a fracture at the base of the skull and a number of blood clots on the brain.

Wells was 30 years old and a brother of the late Alderman J. T. Wells and an uncle of James N. Wampler, common councilman from the Fourth ward, McKeesport. He resided at No. 230 Pine street. The remains will be taken to Brownsville for interment.

At the police station last night Schuler denied all knowledge of the affair.

Edward Colbert, a clerk in Kaufmann's store, committed suicide early yesterday morning in his room at No. 236 East North avenue, Allegheny. He sat upright in a chair and fired a 32-caliber bullet into his right temple. The motive for the deed is unknown. He was 30 years old and came here from Butler, where his family lives.

Mary Murphy, aged 6, whose parents live at 54 Petrel street, Allegheny, died of convulsions Saturday night, as a result of drinking a pint of whisky and glycerine.

The child had a cold and her mother got the medicine from a drug store, and left the bottle where the little one could reach it. The child drank the whole pint and died four hours later.

The body of Michael Slater, a plumber, 40 years old, and single, whose home was at Mill street and Grant avenue, Wilkinsburg, was identified at the morgue yesterday by his brother, Daniel, of Rebecca street, Wilkinsburg.

Slater died at Mercy hospital last Friday, a week, from injuries received on the preceding Saturday by being struck by a car at Peebles street and East End avenue.

SAYS THE SPRAGUE IS IN GOOD SHAPE

Coal Combination Officials Deny Published Story of Sinking of Boat.

Officials of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company positively deny the report, purporting to come from New Orleans and printed in a Pittsburgh Sunday paper, that the Peter Sprague, the finest and largest towboat ever built to ply on the rivers between Pittsburgh and New Orleans, had been sunk at New Orleans. The boat is not the property of the river coal company up to this time, unless officials of the company at New Orleans took her off the hands of the shipbuilders after she was repaired. President J. B. Finley of the river company received a message from New Orleans yesterday afternoon that there is absolutely nothing wrong with the Sprague, and that she had been successfully launched. This lead to the inference that she may now be the property of the coal company.

The big boat, which is costing about $200,000, has been earning the coal company $160 each day since a certain day in last December, when the Iowa Iron Company of Dubuque was to have had her ready to deliver. The coal company in entering this contract assumed on its part to pay the iron company $50 a day for each day ahead of the specified time in December, that the boat might be ready for service.

When she was launched at Cairo, it was found that there was a curvature in her hull, and the experts of the coal company would not accept her. She was taken to the government docks at New Orleans and there this defect was remedied. At the time she moved down the Mississippi, the coal company proposed to furnish a crew for her, but the iron company insisted on arranging the movement alone, in strict fulfillment of the terms of the contract.

The officers of the coal company in New Orleans advised President Finley yesterday that the Sprague will start from there on October 24 of this month with a tow of 42 barges. Capt. August Jutte of Pittsburgh was on the boat when she went down the river, and pronounces her the finest that ever entered the river trade.

Europeans Expelled from Fez.

MADRID, Oct. 19.—A dispatch to El Liberal from Tangier, Morocco, declares that all Europeans have been expelled from Fez.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

—James L. Carey, a negro, 34 years old, who is wanted in Harrisburg, was arrested late Saturday night by Inspector Frederick Will and will be turned over to Sheriff Harry C. Wright of Dauphin county this morning. Carey is alleged to have a terrible record and his capture is considered important.

—Lieut. Garrett Crossan and a squad of police made a raid on a crowd of negro craps shooters in Franklin boulevard, near Union station, yesterday afternoon. There were almost a score of men engaged in the game, but the officers only succeeded in capturing four prisoners. They were locked in Center avenue police station.

—August Johnson, 20 years old, of East Liberty, was locked in No. 7 police station last night for disorderly conduct. He was arrested while throwing money to children in Mt. Oliver street. Scuffling and standing on his head for their amusement.

—Mrs. Mamie Singleton of Jones avenue, a colored waitress in a restaurant conducted by Mrs. John Dobbins at No. 1207 Wylie avenue, was locked in Center avenue police station by Policeman John Doyle yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Dobbins claims the woman stole a gold watch and two dozen silver spoons from the restaurant Saturday night.

—John Lasky, aged 26, of Spruce street, Allegheny, is at St. John's General hospital with both legs badly crushed. He was at work yesterday afternoon at the Riter-Conley Company's plant, where a pile of scrap iron fell on him.

—Six cases of smallpox were reported to the bureau of health yesterday, all but one being removed to the Municipal hospital.

CUBAN PARLIAMENT WILL ADJOURN TODAY

Likely to Reconvene to Ratify Treaty With United States.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—Cuba's first congress will adjourn tomorrow without the reciprocal treaty with the United States, which grew out of the United States congress' failure to keep the administration's pledge for the industrial relief of the island government.

The draft of the treaty which has been negotiated between Secretary Hay and Senor Quesada, the Cuban minister here, is now in the hands of President Palma. He has called into consultation at Havana the biggest and brainiest men of the Cuban government, as well as those interested directly in the resources of that country, and has asked their opinion of the treaty.

It is the belief of Mr. Quesada that he will soon receive from Havana final instructions for the conclusion of the treaty, and that he will be able to sign it for Cuba within the next month, before the United States congress assembles. If the convention is concluded then President Palma of Cuba will probably call an extra session of the Cuban congress some time in November or December.

This, of course, depends on whether or not the Cuban congress adjourns tomorrow until a certain date. It may be that adjournment will be made to the date when it is expected the treaty will have been concluded before Secretary Hay and Minister Quesada, and will be ready for Cuba's ratification.

LIBRARIAN CRANE DIED VERY SUDDENLY

Executive of Braddock Carnegie Library Seized With Attack of Heart Disease That Proved Fatal.

Walter Crane, aged 45, died suddenly yesterday afternoon, at his home in Hawkins Station. Mr. Crane up until a few hours of his death was in his usual good health. He was librarian at the Braddock Carnegie library and attended to his work Saturday night as usual and returned to his home in Hawkins about 10 o'clock. Yesterday he arose at 8 o'clock and seemed to be in his usual good health. About 11:30 he left the other members of his family and started upstairs.

He did not return and Mrs. Crane, thinking something was wrong, went up to investigate. Mr. Crane was lying across the bed in an unconscious condition. Physicians could do nothing for him, and he expired at 3:30 of heart trouble.

He was born in Rosshire, Scotland, his father being a clergyman of the Free Church of Scotland. After his father's death Mr. Crane went to live with an uncle in Glasgow, Scotland, where he gained a good business education. Mr. Crane after leaving his uncle attended college at Aberdeen, where he graduated with honors.

Twenty-one years ago he went to Boston, where he was admitted to the bar. After leaving Boston he went to Chicago where he was also admitted to the bar. He gave up the practice of law 14 years ago, and went to Joliet, Ill., where he founded a combination club house and library for the working men employed in the steel mill at Joliet.

It was here that Andrew Carnegie heard of his work. He soon afterward was brought to Braddock, where he had charge of the library until his death. He was a member of the National Librarians' association.

He is survived by the following: One brother, George Crane, who is president of a college in Natal, South Africa. His widow and the following children: David Crane, with the Fourteenth regiment in the anthracite coal fields; Emerson Crane, a draughtsman at the Edgar Thomson steel works, and Rodger, Harry and Steven. The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, from his late residence. Interment in Monongahela cemetery.

NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS.

—As a result of the killing of Oscar Banks by Lawson Stubblefield at McKees Rocks Saturday evening, Acting Chief of Police Thomas Grogan notified about 20 negroes last night to leave town.

—Suit was entered last night before Burgess John P. Gillen of McKees Rocks, charging Miss Parcetta with disorderly conduct. It is alleged that during a Polish ball Saturday night he struck Maty Workowski over the head with a beer bottle.

—Searching parties were engaged yesterday dragging the Allegheny river near Aspinwall for the body of John Calhoun of Pittsburgh, who was drowned there Saturday afternoon. The body was not recovered and the search will be continued today.

"Tired to death" is the feeling which frequently precedes a collapse. Don't neglect the warning. Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge will remove the obstructions and pave the way to health.

Hotel Victoria lunch can't be beaten for 25c. A la carte meals at any time.

Iron and Brass Beds

Iron and brass beds won their laurels by virtue of their beauty of design and their hygienic qualities.

They have come to stay.

Some persons may prefer other beds, but the fact remains that more iron and brass beds are sold every year. That means something more substantial than a fad. It presupposes solid merit.

The variety of iron and brass beds was never before so large or interesting. So no difference the sort you may wish, or the price you care to pay for it, you will have no difficulty in suiting your fancy here.

This store's selection of bedroom furniture is remarkable for its magnitude, as it is for variety and modest prices.

QUIET DAY SPENT BY PENNYPACKER

Spends Sunday in Franklin and Attends Church Morning and Evening.

HAS A PLEASANT WEEK

Past Few Days Have Given Renewed Evidence of Large Majority for the Republican Ticket.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Franklin, Oct. 19.—Judge Pennypacker threw aside the cares of a political campaign today and took a well earned rest in one of the prettiest towns in Pennsylvania. In the morning he attended services at St. John's Episcopal church and in the evening attended the services in the First Presbyterian church.

Tomorrow Judge Pennypacker will start in on the sixth week of a campaign which has taken in some 25 counties, beginning with Centre and ending with Venango. As the campaign progresses the interest in the fight increases and during the past two weeks the meetings have been large and enthusiastic, emphatically evidencing the fact that Republicans in all walks of life, from the farmer to the steel worker, are neither anxious nor ready for a political change. On every side has been evidence of wonderful industrial development and prosperity. Rarely has there been any sign of disaffection among Republicans, and where it did exist it was unimportant and due to some local cause. In most, if not all the old so-called insurgent counties, the factions have been harmonized, and since the announcement of the settlement of the coal strike the greatest enthusiasm has been manifested everywhere the candidates have spoken. In no instance has any falling off in the regular Republican vote been predicted.

In the Twenty-third congressional district, consisting of Fayette, Greene and Somerset counties, there has been considerable talk of the Democratic candidate, O. W. Kennedy, carrying Fayette county on account of his connection with the Frick Coke Company. The three counties, however, last fall gave 3,600 Republican majority, of which Fayette county gave 800, Somerset gave 4,000, Republican and Greene went 1,200 Democratic. Kennedy's record as an opponent of labor unions is being brought up against him, however, and the Republican candidate, A. F. Cooper, is popular in Greene county, where he expects to break into the Democratic majority. No one doubts that Cooper will carry the district by a big majority.

The gubernatorial party will tomorrow visit New Castle in the afternoon and Meadville at night. On Tuesday the party will be at Bradford; Wednesday at Towanda and Athens; Thursday at Montrose and Tunkhannock; Friday at Scranton; Saturday at Wilkesbarre; Monday of next week at South Bethlehem; Tuesday at Allentown; Wednesday at Lansdale and Norristown; Thursday at Reading; Friday at Lebanon, and Saturday the campaign will close at Chester and Media.

BRADDOCK BAPTISTS DEDICATED CHURCH.

New Edifice Was the Scene of Three Special Services Yesterday.

The new edifice of the First Baptist church, Braddock, was dedicated yesterday. Three services were held, the afternoon and evening meetings being of a special dedicatory nature. The morning service was largely a choral one, selections being furnished by Mrs. James D. Simons and others, and anthems by a choir of 25 voices. An orchestra and the new pipe organ were utilized. The Rev. E. L. Scott delivered the invocation and the Rev. Dr. J. Howard Harris, president of Bucknell college, preached a sermon.

The afternoon service was a "platform meeting." Addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. George H. Trapp, a former pastor of the church, now located at Germantown, Philadelphia; the Rev. Thomas Griffiths of the Lawrenceville church, and the Rev. A. J. King of the Maple avenue church. The principal address of the afternoon was made by the Rev. Nicholson M. Holmes, until the past week pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Braddock, who was chosen by the Braddock Ministerial association to give greeting to the Baptists on behalf of the other congregations of Braddock.

The dedicatory services proper were held in the evening and the dedicatory sermon was preached by Dr. Harris. The prayer of dedication was made by Dr. Trapp. The "dedicatory covenant," participated in by the entire congration, was an impressive and interesting feature of the closing service. During the day $500 was pledged in subscriptions from members to pay the remainder of the church's debt on the new buildings.

OBSERVED RALLY DAY.

Sunday School and Epworth League at Christ Methodist Episcopal Church Hold Celebrations.

The Sunday school of Christ Methodist Episcopal church, East End, had Rally Day exercises yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock, the services being held in the spacious Sunday school rooms under the direction of Benjamin Dangerfield, superintendent, assisted by Prof. Edward Rynearson. Addresses were made by Mrs. T. C. Fears, formerly president of the Buffalo Primary and Junior Teachers' union, and T. J. Heims, chairman of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania State Sunday School association. The graduation exercises of the class from the primary department of the Sunday school followed. Fine music was a feature of the occasion, including a "rally hymn," composed by the pastor, Dr. E. A. Blake.

A special rally of the Epworth league of the Christ Methodist Episcopal church chapter was held in the evening at 6:45 o'clock and continued until the hour of the regular evening church service. The music included solos by Miss Wheat and Miss Selcoth, and short addresses were made by Durbin Horne, S. W. Cunningham, Joseph W. Marsh, Prof. Edward Rynearson and J. C. McDowell. The meetings were attended by many members of the congregation. In addition to the Sunday school scholars and members of the league, and were most interesting and successful.

STOPS DRESS PARADE.

Ministers at Mt. Carmel Object to Martial Music During Church Hours.

MT. CARMEL, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The daddy dress parade of the Sixteenth regiment, which has been the feature attraction with the public, was stopped today at the request of Chief Burgess Green, who acted upon resolutions of the city ministerial association. The latter claimed that the music of the band and the movement of the military distracted the people attention from church duties.

Instead of holding the parade in the municipal park, as was his custom, Col. Hulings held it opposite the regimental camp ground.

WABASH LINE ASSURED.

Rights-of-Way Practically Secured In Greene County.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—That the Wabash will build a road through Greene county is now practically assured. A party of Waynesburgers, headed by J. W. McKay of the Waynesburg Times, who have been securing rights-of-way through Greene and Washington counties for the road, were in Washington this afternoon and stated that the work of securing the necessary rights is practically complete, and that the contracts would all be signed in a few days.

They stated that they had assurances from the Wabash people that as soon as the contracts were signed the contracts for construction of the road would be given out and work on the construction started as soon as possible.

DUNGEON FOR BAD BOYS.

Police Experiment Apparently Successful at York, Pa.

YORK, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Police Sergeant Stroman of this city is experimenting with the dungeon to curb refractory and incorrigible boys. This dungeon has been improvised in the cellar at police headquarters, and was tried for the first time on 11-year-old Joseph Isaac who was arrested yesterday at the instance of his mother. According to her statement he committed frequent thefts and was a confirmed crap shooter.

Fifteen minutes in the dungeon wrought a wonderful transformation. When released he was docile and promised to be a better boy.

To Elect College Directors.

LATROBE, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The Pittsburgh synod of the United Presbyterian church will hold the next meeting in the First United Presbyterian church of Latrobe, on October 21. Over 300 ministers and delegates have signified their intention of being present, as there is business of importance to be transacted, notably the election of directors for the Theological seminary at Allegheny. Three directors are also to be elected for the Westminster college.

Escaped Prisoner Captured.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Will Gardiner, the negro who escaped from the penitentiary at Moundsville recently, was captured here this morning in a raid made by the police force on his home. Gardiner attempted to use a shotgun when the officers broke in the door, but the officials had the drop on him. Gardiner was serving a 10-year sentence for highway robbery.

Marriage in Irwin.

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 19.—John Hamilton, one of the prominent young farmers of this vicinity, and Miss Catherine Thomson of Bellefonte, were married this morning at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage, by the Rev. J. W. Fast.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

BEAVER FALLS, PA.—The dry goods store of Paff Bros. of this place was robbed of all its silks.

SHARON, PA.—William Bradley, employed by the American Bridge Company, fell 70 feet from a building at the Sharon steel works and will recover.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—Miss Mary J. Miller of this city died in the Shenango Valley hospital from injuries received from a fall. She was 71 years old.

WESTON, W. VA.—While attempting to force an entrance into a disorderly house Harry Pritchard and Thomas Carrol were shot by Harrison Arbogast. Pritchard through the foot and Carrol through both legs above the knees.

DUBOIS, PA.—Edward Lindenmuth, aged 17, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart with a shotgun at his home, near Brookville. It is alleged that some trouble had occurred between the boy and his father.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, PA.—John Austin, 18 years old, who came here from Pekin, Ill., to learn the machinists' trade, had both legs cut off while attempting to board a Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg train here. The doctors say he cannot recover.

STABBED IN EYE.

Was Only Good One He Had, and Patrick Sullivan Is Now Totally Blind.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Crying bitterly, Patrick Sullivan was led into Bellevue hospital early this morning. He had been stabbed in the eye and made totally blind in a mysterious stabbing affray of which the police know nothing. Three well-dressed young men who were leading him could not be induced to tell anything about the stabbing. They took him away after his wound was dressed, and he has since disappeared.

"I am done for this time," said Sullivan. "I am of no use in the world any more."

Sullivan said he had been blind for years in his right eye, and a man had stabbed him in the other shortly after midnight.

CALLED FATHER OF LAW LIBRARY

HENRY GREGG.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Henry Gregg, Esq., is termed the "Father of the Law Library." Jefferson county is one of the few counties in Ohio that boasts of a law library, and it is a large and very complete one as to reports and decisions, and a room has been set aside for it and the court bailiff cares for it. A large oil painting of Mr. Gregg has been placed on the wall of the library by the bar association.

Y. M. C. A. DELEGATES OCCUPIED PULPITS

District Convention Closed By Series of Meetings at Beaver Falls.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Oct. 19.—Today's proceedings of the convention of the Young Men's Christian association of the Pittsburgh district, which has been in session here since Friday, were characterized by a series of religious meetings at a number of the churches of the town, and the following addresses were made: Presbyterian church, G. N. Bierce, Dayton, O.; Methodist Episcopal church, S. M. Bard, state secretary; United Presbyterian, S. A. Taggart, Pittsburgh; Methodist Protestant, A. F. Hoffsommer, Tarentum; United Brethren mission, W. J. Miller, Jr.

This morning a special service was held in the United Presbyterian church for delegates and young men. It was largely attended and was conducted by C. E. Ludwig of Washington and Jefferson college, who gave an address on "The Secret of Success in Service."

This afternoon there was a men's meeting in the Presbyterian church, addressed by G. N. Bierce, on "The Great Discovery." A woman's meeting was held at the same hour in the United Presbyterian church. This meeting was presided over by S. M. Bard, state secretary. C. B. Horton, superintendent of the Newsboys' home, Pittsburgh, conducted a children's meeting.

The convention closed its sessions with a farewell meeting at the Presbyterian church this evening. S. M. Bard presided and addresses were made by Mr. Bierce, T. J. Gillespie of Pittsburgh and others. Mr. Gillespie also made a report of the world's conference, held at Stockholm, Sweden, during the past summer.

Greensburg Pastor Resigns.

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The Rev. John A. Marquis, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of this city, tendered his resignation at the morning services here today. He announced that he had accepted a call to the First Presbyterian church of Redlands, Cal. The move is made on account of the health of his wife. Some time ago the Rev. Mr. Marquis received a call to become assistant pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church of New York, but declined.

PRESIDENT TAKES WALK.

Resents Slightest Insinuation That He Is Subject of Sympathy as an Invalid.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt is now in a condition to resent the slightest insinuation that he is a subject for sympathy on account of his recent injury.

Although the doctors have not entirely relinquished their professional surveillance over him, he insists that he is off the "hospital list." His natural color has returned.

He moves about with his usual sprightliness, and as a further evidence of his recovery he today indulged in one of his favorite cross-country walks. He not only enjoyed the short tramp in the country, but he felt no ill effects from the effort.

H. C. Frick to Be a Guest.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 19.—Preparations for the inauguration of President Woodrow Wilson are still going on and by next Saturday everything will have been arranged. Among the prominent men who will be the guests of the university will be ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed, Mainc; Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), Robert T. Lincoln, J. Pierpont Morgan, and H. C. Frick, Pittsburgh.

WIDOW OF EX-SLAVE SECURES A PENSION

Story of Remarkable Career Has Developed at Steubenville.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 19.—A strange story is related in the pension case of Mrs. Leander Merchand, whose claim has been secured through a local agency. Merchand was born in Florida, his father being white and his mother an Indian. His mother died when he was young and a trader took him to South Carolina and sold him. Five years later he was sold to a Mississippi planter, but escaped and later joined a confederate regiment and was captured, and then he enlisted in the One Hundred and Second Ohio volunteer infantry.

He was captured by the confederates, and after imprisonment in Cohaba prison was exchanged and sent north on the ill-fated Sultan. When the boat blew up he was landed, insensible, on a raft of drift wood and was rescued and taken on an island below Arkansas City. He was badly injured and scalded.

He recovered and drifted west and met the present Mrs. Merchand, who taught him to read and write. He wrote facts about his life in a prayer book, which was used to establish the claim. The widow will use the money in buying a plantation in the southwest.

Boy Killed While Hunting.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Edward Willis, aged 15, of Shanksville, Somerset county, met death while hunting with a companion, Fred Spangler. While sitting on a fence the gun slipped, catching on a rail and discharging. The load blew off one side of his face. While Spangler was gone for assistance, some distance away, Willis' clothing, which had been fired by the shot, burned to the loaded shells in the ammunition belt, and caused many of them to explode.

BOY ENDS HIS LIFE.

Leaves Note Saying He Would Die Because Mother Would Not Take Him Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—William J. Kadlec, 19 years old, was found dead today in his furnished room at 183 East One Hundred and Seventeenth street. The police reported the case as suicide from illuminating gas. In his room was found a note signed Willie, which read:

"Dear mamma—I must say goodby. I am going to die because you would not take me home. I am going to take gas."

Mrs. Kadlec denied that she had forbidden her son to return home, but said that he had been wayward and had left of his own accord.

TWELVE PAGES.

Most sacred among the bulwarks of liberty in all English speaking nations is the right of trial "by a jury of his peers" accorded to the citizen. It is the corner stone of exact justice and "equality before the law." Our laws provide more strictly the character of jurors than of judges, for while the latter must be "learned in the law," the former shall be "sober, intelligent and judicious."

In Allegheny county jurors do not always fulfill these requirements of the law. Judge Evans recognized this fact recently when he requested assistance from good citizens to secure the names of such men to be put in the jury wheel for next year. Prior to his pronouncement the fact had been realized by others. The Citizens party had appointed a committee to investigate the names put in the jury wheel for 1901. The report of that committee has just been made and a summary of it is printed on another page of The Gazette this morning, containing information that is nothing short of startling. Many of the names were selected without any regard to the letter or the spirit of the law, and the supposed owners of a large number of the names cannot be found at all.

On the basis of the vote for presidential electors in 1900, an even apportionment of jurors to the various divisions of the county would have given the city of Pittsburgh 1,516 names in the wheel. It had 1,907. That disproportion is less serious and significant than is shown by a comparison of the wards of the city. Some of these, such as the First ward and Second, have an excessive representation, while others, such as the Twentieth, have not their quota. An analysis of the figures show that excess representation is given where the political ring has been strongest, while the deficiency is in wards that have shown resistance to ring rule. This indicates use of the jury wheel in a system of petty rewards and punishments, not to mention an unfair advantage attained by the machine in the event that it might be hauled into court.

Worse than the disproportion of citizens selected from the various wards is the falsification in giving the occupation of the men chosen and the neglect to specify others with distinctness. An attorney could tell nothing about a jury panel by its classification of occupations without making a private investigation. It is noted that one corporation, which has many cases in court, maintains a bureau for the investigation of jurors, their occupations, personalities and other information useful to an attorney when challenging. This gives it a tremendous advantage over the poor litigant who cannot afford to make any such inquiry, even if he knew the necessity for so doing. The search of the committee disclosed the fact that 517 persons classed as "laborers" were in reality white wings, policemen, bartenders, mechanics, clerks, conductors, motormen, and others having specific occupations. A man on trial before a jury of these "laborers" might have doubts whether they were his peers in all respects.

Most amazing is the fact that of the 1,907 names accredited to Pittsburgh, 868 are not to be found in the city directory for 1901 and 234 could not be located by letter carriers or by the ward chairmen of the Citizens organization. "Sober, intelligent and judicious" citizens usually have house addresses and are known to their neighbors. Yet 868 of those drawn from the jury wheel of 1901 had no addresses in the city directory. Of these, 655 were located by means of letters addressed to them or by inquiries made by the ward chairmen, but 251 could not be found anywhere. Of the jurors located, 292 were given wrong occupations, and 116 were on the payrolls controlled by the political machine. There is more of the same kind of neglect or willful falsification; of careless or intended disregard of legal requirements in the selection of the names of the men called upon to adjudicate disputes, or even to hold the power of life or death for the citizens of Allegheny county this year.

It would be impossible to bring a more stunning indictment against the practices of the political ring in Allegheny county than these simple facts. It has increased the cost of administering the public business; has let contracts for roads and other public work without safeguarding the public interest, but in this matter it has poisoned the fountain of justice. To the charge of extravagance the machine has replied that there has been no per capita increase in expenses. The official figures show an increase per capita from $4.35 in 1896 to $4.61 in 1901; in the payroll, per capita, from $1.65 to $1.98. For this enormous increase it has not given good government. The jury wheel has been stuffed with names of men who cannot be found, and public works are as badly constructed as they are extravagantly paid for. The only way to get good government or economical government in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county is to throw out the machine altogether. The opportunity is offered in the elections of November and February next, and while the so-called Australian ballot is far from perfect, the job can be effectively done with it when the people are in earnest.

It is not to the credit of the Schuylkill county authorities to continue their efforts to arrest Private Wadsworth while on military duty. They are well aware that he is not trying to escape, and they are presumably not ignorant of the laws in such cases made and provided. The natural conclusion, under the circumstances, is that they are trying to make political capital out of an unfortunate occurrence, catering to the worst sentiment of an excited community. It may be well believed that Private Wadsworth did nothing but his duty. He obeyed orders. If it is true that an innocent man was shot, it is still not murder, because the man had no right to be where he was, or to run away without answering when challenged. But it is could be admitted that Private Wadsworth had committed a crime, yet the actions of the Schuylkill authorities would necessarily be regarded as indiscreet and calculated to foment bad feeling between citizens of Shenandoah and the troops stationed there. When the strike is ended and order restored there will be time enough to settle the legal questions involved in this case. At that time they can be better settled without prejudice, though preferably in a court remote from the region of disturbance. The people of the state at large want to see justice done, no matter what the Schuylkill authorities want.

FIXING A NEW STANDARD.

Eugene F. Ware, commissioner of pensions, has established a new standard for promotions. He has advanced a gentleman, Wiggins by name, because he has worked and has not attempted to exert any political or other influence upon the bureau or the commissioner. True, Mr. Wiggins has passed creditably in other matters. He has been efficient in the performance of his duty, so that he is qualified for promotion under the civil service law, but Commissioner Ware openly admits that conspicuous ability was not what attracted his attention to the man from Georgia.

Commissioner Ware posted a bulletin giving the record of J. S. Wiggins. Annual leave, 14 days in four years; not one day of sick leave in eight years; on merit roll, excellent; "has steered no statesman up against the commissioner;" "has never told the commissioner about his pedigree and distinguished relatives." The commissioner says in the bulletin that his deputies heartily concur in his opinion.

This bulletin ought to have some good effect upon the departments at Washington. There are so many clerks who think it is necessary to have some sort of "pull" to get promotions even in the classified service that it is a good thing to notify them thus publicly that honest effort may have its reward. Commissioner Ware has set a good example to his fellow chiefs in picking out a man for promotion who has relied upon nothing but the quality of his work for his standing, and his public bulletin is a reminder to government employes generally that business qualifications are more important than political friends or distinguished family relatives. Jackson's dictum, "To the victors belong the spoils," is no longer the governing sentiment in public offices. Ability and faithfulness have come to have recognized value, and the new standard of Commissioner Ware, that to these qualities may profitably be joined modesty and abstention from steering statesmen "up against" the head of the bureau is to be commended as another step forward.

ONE OF THE VICTORIES OF PEACE.

It is somewhat curious that the first question to be adjudicated by The Hague tribunal of arbitration, while in form a difference between Mexico and the United States, was, in fact, an ecclesiastical question involving rights of the Roman Catholic church. It is even more curious that the claims of the church were submitted to a tribunal composed of men who might be assumed to be at least out of sympathy with it, and the climax is reached in the entire willingness of the church to have its claims adjudicated by them. M. Asser is a Jew, M. Loman a Dutch Protestant, Sir Edward Fry an English Protestant, M. de Martens a Greek orthodox. These four composed the court. They considered the facts and last week made their award. The confidence of the church is justified in the terms of the award. Its full claim is allowed. The decree gives it the lump sum of $1,420,482.67 in Mexican currency and $43,650.99 each year forever, also in Mexican currency.

Nearly three centuries ago what is known now as "the pious fund" was accumulated for the support of Catholic missions along the Pacific coast. When, in 1768, the Jesuits were expelled from Mexico, a royal commission assumed the administration of the fund. After Mexico ceded California to the United States in 1848 her government considered itself released from all liabilities to the church in the alienated territory. The Catholic church authorities held a contrary view, and finally appealed as citizens of the United States to the government of the United States to take up their cause. Negotiations with Mexico were opened, and at last arbitration was agreed upon and the question was submitted to a tribunal provided for under the international agreement established by the congress that, at the instance of the czar of Russia, met at The Hague. The judgment has been rendered, and it was unanimous. Mexico, through President Diaz, agreed in advance to abide by the decision. The long open and troublesome question may be therefore regarded as finally disposed of. As the first case arbitrated by the new international court it is noteworthy, and the result must be to strengthen the principle of arbitration of the differences of nations as a substitute for

"The good old plan
That he may take who has the power,
And he may keep who can."

THE BOER GENERALS.

The good sense of the Boer generals is indicated in reports from Berlin that picture them as disappointing efforts of an anti-British party to use them to further an anti-British propaganda. Reports of these attempts may be exaggerated, but it is well established that there is a strong anti-British sentiment in Germany, based in part at least upon industrial rivalry, and promoters of this sentiment would, of course, as gladly use the Boer generals as any other persons or things to fan the flames and keep them burning. During the South African war the fires approached the proportions of a conflagration, but the restoration of peace acted as an application of cold water. It is not out of love for the Boers that the Anglophobes would make catspaws of them, and it does not seem necessary to instruct them on that point. Both in Britain and on the continent they have acted with admirable propriety. The manner of their acceptance of the gift for their people from Henry Phipps of Pittsburgh is a key to their conduct and character. They have in a similar manner accepted all courtesies and attentions. They have sought or welcomed friends in a way not to arouse enmities and have left behind them everywhere a good impression.

Why should anyone expect the Boer generals to participate in an anti-British propaganda? Their homes are in South Africa and there they will remain among their own people in British territory, under the sovereignty of Britain, with Britons for their neighbors. They desire peace and an opportunity to repair the material fortunes of their people, whom they led in battle and guided to an honorable surrender. Their task in South Africa could be only made more difficult by giving countenance to any anti-British sentiment in Europe. On the appearance of the generals in Berlin declarations were made that an unpleasant situation had been created by their refusal to meet the German emperor if they must be introduced by the British ambassador. The clouds vanished, however, with the brief statement by one of them that the emperor had not asked them to meet him, and if he did they would not expect to be presented by anyone but the British representative. In fact, they have in every instance observed the proprieties after the manner of sincere, single-minded men, who have but one purpose in view, and that a good one. Their heads have not been turned by the insincere adulation of the continent, and they remain unswerving in devotion to the one purpose to better the condition of their people by adherence in the spirit and in the letter to the terms of peace that secured them their lands and a new footing in South Africa.

MAKE IT BRIEF.

The popular demand for condensation which the newspapers have long responded to is having influential official recognition these days. To the practice of the newspapers is now added the action of the Presbyterian Synod of Pennsylvania and the authority of the president of the United States. One of the reverend commissioners to the Presbyterian synod found the official report from Lafayette college too long, and the synod concurred with him that it must be cut down to 1,000 words. President Roosevelt has found the annual reports of government officials too long, and has ordered that they be briefer.

Much may be expressed in 1,000 words. There is a current story that a newspaper correspondent, on insisting that the 1,500-word story he had offered couldn't be cut to 600 words, received this answer over the wires from the editor: "Story of Creation told in 600 words. Try it." If the story of the creation can be told in 600 words, a report from Lafayette college may be told in 1,000, and doubtless the correspondent's story was finally given to the readers of the newspaper in less than 600 words. What the coal operators said to President Roosevelt would have been much improved by condensation. What the president of the U. M. W. wrote to him would have been better severely pruned. What President Roosevelt said to coal operators and miners was the stronger for its brevity. Doubtless the report from Lafayette college was not injured by condensation. The government reports will improve by it. A newspaper conducted on the literary principles adhered to by writers of government reports, able though many of them be, would soon go out of business. Political speeches would go surer to the mark if briefer. So with political platforms. So with most oratorical and literary efforts. It is the meat of the matter that is wanted. A beefsteak is more easily digested than a bale of hay by any human being. Life is short. Cut short all else.

IT IS DENMARK'S DILEMMA.

Cession of the Danish West Indies to the United States, according to advices from Copenhagen received at Washington, depends on the doctors rather than on the politicians, and the significance of this dependence is that it discloses the unpopularity in Denmark of the proposed transfer. Ordinarily the health of members of the Danish rigsdag is of little concern to the government or people of the United States, but it is of some concern just now, as on the state of health of one or two of them depends the separation of the islands from Denmark and the alienation of several millions of dollars of good money by this country. To put it briefly two members of the Danish parliament are too ill to appear to vote, and if one of them will remain ill long enough there will be just votes enough to make the Danish government's bargain with the United States effective. But should both recover soon enough the bargain will be off for the time being, unless something else happens. From this it appears that there is a strong sentiment in Denmark against parting with the expensive dependencies. But if the Danish government obtains sanction to transfer the islands to the United States, this government will not bother itself concerning Danish popular feeling, which is a Danish and not an American matter. More important is the sentiment of the people it is proposed to transfer to American jurisdiction. If they be satisfied to come under the protection of the stars and stripes and join perpetually in celebrating the Fourth of July, the attitude of Danish electors or the illness or convalescence of members of the Danish parliament will be unconsidered trifles. But for the moment the recovery or continued ill-health of two Danes is a matter of some international concern. However, the United States has worried along into its second century without the Danish West Indies and is not suffering for them now.

An observant person once said: "A story rarely loses in the telling; many gain." Yesterday's Press, retelling the crime of Berkman, said: "And when, having fired two bullets through Mr. Frick's neck and stabbed him half a dozen times, he tried, by chewing a concealed stick of dynamite, to demolish 'the grasping corporation' by his own suicide," etc. This story has grown so it is hardly recognizable by Pittsburghers who knew the facts. It would certainly not be approved by Mr. Frick, who is a modest and truthful gentleman, and we imagine his disgust with the further delineation of the spirit of Arnold Winkelried "when a deputy sheriff asked, with a pistol at the head of the wretched assassin: 'Shall I kill him, Mr. Frick?' and Mr. Frick answered in his gentle voice: 'No, don't kill him. Raise his head and let me see his face.'" Mr. Frick, on that occasion, was brave and calm, but it will draw on his power of self control to read the Press yarn in the same spirit.

Washington, Pa., sends word that the friends of Congressman Acheson are up and doing. There is no mistaking the fact that it is the time for deeds. All Republicans in the new Twenty-fourth congressional district should be up and doing and getting together. The district ought to elect a Republican to congress.

The news from Chicago that Senator Mason will quit the Republican party loses importance from the circumstance that the party, or the Illinois section of it, has already thrown him overboard.

According to Gen. Wiley it will be a very cold day when Private Wadsworth is taken from any camp he commands by the authorities of Schuylkill county. And the general means business.

Attorney General Elkin decides again that the ballots are not to be numbered. Of course not. But the votes will be counted all right and will show a big majority for Pennypacker.

Now that President Roosevelt has laid aside his crutches it may be said that his intellect never limped and his heart was in the right place, where it continues to be.

Grover Cleveland thinks tariff readjustment is a good thing for the Democrats to stick to. So it is. It will show where they are and keep them harmless.

The New York correspondent of the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian is a ready writer and his own authority for facts. This makes his position an easy one.

With no opposition in the Thirty-eighth senatorial district the Hon. J. K. P. Hall is just sauntering toward the state senate.

These being Republican times the work is still there for the anthracite miners who will vote today to return to it.

Mitchell says Morgan is all right. Now, Mr. Morgan, its up to you to say something.

COAL DEALERS ARE HEARTLESS

Stick to Same High Price, Notwithstanding Strike Settlement.

SPECIAL TO THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.

Although more than one pastor in this city took occasion this morning to refer thankfully to the ending of the coal strike, it does not appear that we are to enjoy its benefits immediately. The local coal dealers evidently do not mean to let go of the good thing they have had since the setting in of the famine. They are watched and restrained by the operators in the matter of prices to some extent, but must be controlled largely by their own consciences, after all. They say that there will not be much new coal here for two weeks, and that therefore the price cannot come down quickly from the altitude it has reached. The consumer does not see why he should pay $20 a ton; the dealer does not see why he should not, that is the situation. A lot of coal has been held back by dealers for months, it is said, which can be thrown upon the market at half an hour's notice. Local dealers will not admit this. They insist that if the miners go back to work on Thursday next it will be 10 days or so later before the coal they cut out can reach the metropolitan market. In the meantime the people that want coal to burn must pay $15 a ton for it. That is the ruling price, and it is not likely to be less tomorrow. In the face of all this there is a much more buoyant feeling than prevailed in this city last Sunday. Let the dealers quarrel over the price of coal as they will, the fact remains that miners will most likely be digging by the middle of the week, and that there will not be any coal hardship this winter. That it will be necessary to wait for two or three weeks before the figures get down to a reasonable mark is generally acknowledged, while there are not wanting persons who declare that the strike is not ended yet, and perhaps will not be this month. These sad individuals are in the minority, however, and there are few to criticise the minister for his grave and fearful attitude in the pulpit this morning.

Brer Punxsutawney Sends Rain.

New York had another of those drizzling days that have come to be the regular thing on Sunday. It is noticed that the number of fine Sundays this fall have been so few that some disgruntled New Yorkers declare that we never have one. It has not been quite so bad as that, but it is true that they have been very few, from the beginning of summer to the present.

Coroner Investigates Today.

The coroner's inquest into the deaths of the three men, including Albert Hamilton of Pittsburgh, who were killed in the Broad Exchange building on Friday will be held tomorrow. The proceedings will be perfunctory, of necessity, since all the persons immediately concerned are dead, while the remains of the two victims, Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Mallard, have already been taken to Pittsburgh and Atlanta, respectively.

When Old Guard Marches By.

When the "Old Guard," in their enormous bearskin, or "Busby" hats, marched along Broadway yesterday afternoon they looked like a detachment of the old Grenadier Guards of England, or the Cuirassiers of France. It is not usual to see American soldiers in the gorgeous trappings affected by this distinctively New York military organization. They were on their way to Fifth avenue for their historic parade, the first of which was held on October 19, 1870, in celebration of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, which was the termination of the revolutionary war. The display is always an impressive one, and the men, all of the same height, make a handsome and brave showing, of course, being composed of wealthy men as a rule, the Old Guard has to suffer the same kind of a slam that is occasionally bestowed by the "man in the street" on the Seventh regiment in New York and the Duquesne Greys in Pittsburgh—that it is a "silk stocking" affair, and that the men are "feather bed soldiers." But the Old Guard does not care for that, because like members of the other two regiments I have mentioned, there are enough veteran fighters in it to make the sneers fall flat.

Cheerful In Face of Death.

Roland B. Molineux seemed to be cheerful in his cell in the Tombs today. He looked better than last Sunday, as if the plunge into the fight for his life which was made in court last week had nerved him for the struggle yet to come. It is expected that the twelfth juryman will be obtained tomorrow and that the case will go right on. It is pretty well understood that Molineux himself will be the first witness for the defense.

Liner Sails on Sunday.

The unusual Sunday sight of a big North German liner backing out into the middle of the North river, and straightening out for a run out to sea, was witnessed this morning. It is not usual for Atlantic passenger ships to start on their voyage to Europe on Sunday, but it could not well be helped in this case. The vessel that started for Germany today was the Grosser Kurfurst. She was scheduled to sail yesterday morning, but it was found that she had not enough coal to take her across, and it was late last night before her bunkers could be filled. She had 500 tons when she reached this side, but needed 700 tons more, which could not be delivered without much delay. So about 100 cabin passengers and 200 steerage passengers had to stay aboard till this morning without moving out of the slip.

Opening Shot at Snow Man.

It is a hopeful sign that the street cleaning department has begun already to make arrangements for disposing of snow this winter. One bid was made for the contract for snow removal, and Commissioner Woodbury opened it yesterday. The bid is 50 cents per cubic yard against 36 cents bid last year. It looks as if the 50 cents may have to be paid, as there is no other bid. The contract may be a profitable one, and it may not. It all depends on the kind of snow that falls. Last year the contractor declared he lost money, because the weather was so cold after each snowfall that the snow became almost solid ice, and could not be handled without tedious labor. Those unfortunates that sort of last winter in this city remember, to their sorrow, that the streets were heaped up with snow for weeks after each snowfall, and that life was scarcely worth living, in consequence, from Christmas to Easter.

John Barleycorn Becomes Prominent.

Whisky seems to be booming in New York. For some reason there have been more advertisements of different brands of whisky on blank walls, in "L" trains and on regular bill boards for the last six months than ever were noted in this city before. If one may judge by the number and splendor of these advertisements—usually enriched by artistically made pictures of men drinking or pouring into the mouth some special brand of liquor—the average New Yorker must be developing into as hard a drinker as his ancestors of 150 years ago, who did not consider themselves gentlemen unless at least occasionally they fell under the table in a drunken stupor after dinner.

Helen Gould's Sunday.

Helen Gould was in town this morning, attending church, as is her wont on Sundays. She usually comes to town from her splendid home at Irvington-on-the-Hudson for church and to attend some of the meetings of charitable and religious societies in which she is interested. She is a quiet, self-contained young woman, as many Pittsburghers know, but she is always active for good.

NEW STANDARD WAS ESTABLISHED FOR PITTSBURGH SUNDAY JOURNALISM.

Journalistic triumph is so much of a regular thing for The Gazette that its readers are beginning to be surprised when there is any argument over which is the best Sunday newspaper in Pittsburgh.

The news from the strike field—to the officials who seem to have successfully brought about its settlement, and from the camps of Pennsylvania's citizen soldiery, was covered fully in every way and every item of local interest was there. The plans of the Wabash for its new terminals in this city were published in full for the first time, beautifully illustrated.

In the financial reviews and market reports, both local and national, the proud record of the "Old Lady" was sustained, and by means of its special wire and cable service, touching every spot of importance in the civilized world, the foreign news was covered in a way that only the greatest journals of the country could rival.

The feature stories that make the magazine sections of The Gazette so different from the routine matter offered by its competitors was of a class to excite unusual interest. The Coon Hollow folks, Simple Simon and other favorites threw a line of original humor into the comic section. It is worthy of notice that The Gazette is the only paper in Pittsburgh that does not largely depend on a paper in New York or Philadelphia for its comic supplement. It is entirely original and can be found nowhere else, something illustrated by one of the foremost cartoonists of his day and a special corps of staff artists, such as none of The Gazette's competitors pretends to carry.

The crowning feature of the edition was the art supplement in the shape of a cartoon by Oscar Holliday Banghart of "The Masquerader." It is a beautiful piece of work and more than carries out the promise of the first of the series. All in all, The Gazette yesterday was a paper so far in advance of its rivals in Pittsburgh that the points of its excellence are too numerous and varied to be touched on at all. It established a new standard for Sunday journalism in this city.

Giving Sage Advice.

One of the amusing incidents in connection with the nearly-ended coal strike is the gravity with which one of the papers here gives directions to its readers about burning soft coal. It tells them that they must not fill the firebox too full; that after the fire is burning well the dampers should be shut off, and so on. The truth is that few New Yorkers had ever burned bituminous coal until the scarcity of anthracite made it soft coal or nothing for them. Still, to a Pittsburgher, to whom soft coal fires seem as homelike as natural gas itself, it is interesting to be told impressively that "the fires smoke pipes and chimneys must be cleaned from time to time, and the soot removed." All these directions seem to carry the average New Yorker, and I do not think there will be much bituminous coal used domestically when once the supply of anthracite gets anywhere near its normal proportions.

Manager Davis Attends Theater.

Manager Harry Davis of the Pittsburgh Grand Opera house is in New York and is a familiar figure on Broadway. He is here on business, and it takes most of his time, although he contrives to spare enough of it in the evenings to see the principal productions at the theaters. He expects to stay here for nearly two weeks, I understand. He looks very well, notwithstanding the hard work he has accomplished in Pittsburgh this fall in connection with his theaters.

James E. Wilson Creates Part.

It is rumored along the Rialto that James E. Wilson, who was for several years leading man of the stock company of the Grand Opera house, Pittsburgh, has been engaged to create the leading part in the new production of "Audrey." Mr. Wilson has become a steady New Yorker since leaving Pittsburgh. Last season he was leading man at the American, while this year he holds a similar position at Proctor's Fifth Avenue.

Piper Seems a Good One.

The new deputy police commissioner, Capt. Piper, has the whole force on tiptoe, wondering what will happen next. Piper sleeps at police headquarters two or three times a week, and when he does that he is sure to be prowling about the city to see what policemen are doing. He is not looking for thieves and thugs, but for the men that are supposed to keep the classes in order. He has caught several policemen in infractions of duty, and the celerity with which he brings them to the police court is a caution to the whole force. Piper says that the department has fallen into loose ways, and that it must be braced up quickly and thoroughly. The men, on the other hand, declare that Piper is the most pronounced martinet they have had anything to do with since Theodore Roosevelt ceased to be a police commissioner.

Prayer for Christian Revival.

There will be an interesting religious observance in this city on Wednesday next. The occasion will be a day of prayer for a revival in all departments of Christian work, and it will be general throughout Greater New York and the vicinity. Many people from other cities are expected to come here to participate in the exercises. It will be part of the twentieth century national gospel campaign. GEORGE C. JENKS.

Her home at Irvington is kept pretty nearly as it was left by her father, Jay Gould, when he died. The pictures in the billiard room are hung as he ordered them to be placed. The statuary in the hall has never been changed, and the general arrangement of all the furniture is just as he disposed it. It is a sentimental determination of Miss Gould's not to make alterations, save when imperatively necessary, so that those who are favored with admission to the house may see the interior as it was when the late king of Wall street sought it every day for relief from the distractions of the financial maelstrom in which he spent most of his days.

Birdie Becomes Chipper.

Well, who would have thought it? Here is Bird S. Coler kicking over the traces and declaring that he will run his campaign for the governorship of New York in his own way, without the interference of D. B. Hill, or anyone else. Hill does not reply to this, but Democrats say that it will all come out right in the end with Hill having his own way, whatever may happen to Coler. The common sentiment here is that the "Sage of Wolfert's Roost" is one of the "smoothest" gentlemen in the campaign, his speciality being the handling of self-willed candidates.

PERSONALS.

George Robertson of Manchester, England, the owner of one of the largest cotton spinning establishments in England, passed through the city last night to Chicago. While waiting for the limited he said he was on his way to Chicago. "From Chicago I will go to New Orleans," he said, "and to Galveston, Tex. While in the south I will make a trip of inspection through the cotton belt, and intend to purchase 10,000 bales of cotton for my house. We hope in Manchester to one day see England independent of the United States in cotton raising. In India and Egypt the cultivation of cotton is improving annually. The cotton now grown in India is almost equal to that grown in the United States, while that raised in Egypt is superior to both of them. Business is very fair in Manchester, considering the present price of cotton."

"I propose to go ahead with my candidacy and intend to make an aggressive campaign," remarked Congressman Ernest F. Acheson while passing through the city last night to New Castle, where he will take part in the Pennypacker demonstration in that city this evening. "Of course, the election of the Dauphin county court is not pleasing to me, but I am setting up my fences just the same."

Capt. W. L. Sibert, local United States engineer, went to Louisville, Ky., last evening to attend the meeting of a special board of United States engineer officers, appointed by the secretary of war to report on certain improvements connected with the navigation of the lower Ohio and other southern rivers. Capt. Sibert expects to be absent 10 days or two weeks.

John S. Duss and his famous band go to New Martinsville, W. Va., over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad this morning. The band will occupy a special coach and a baggage car.

C. W. Hodson, of Portland, Ore., is at the Monongahela house.

THE DEATH ROLL.

William M. Phillips.

William Mortimer Phillips, chairman of the Republican county committee of Washington county, died at his residence in Venetia yesterday morning. He was born in that locality September 20, 1852, and resided there nearly all his life. In 1888 he entered the railway mail service and was assigned to the Pittsburgh-Cleveland route. He resigned in 1894, and for the last year has been connected with the Republican county committee. For 15 years he was one of the most ardent and active Republican workers of Washington county. During that period he was many times a member of the county committee and owing to his untiring efforts the political aspect of that locality was somewhat changed. Three years ago he was a candidate for nomination for clerk of courts and lost by a narrow margin. In convention the vote was 84 to 90, and the popular vote was so close that the change of one vote in any of the several precincts would have changed the result. His zeal for his party was not diminished by defeat. Last June he was unanimously elected chairman of the county committee and devoted himself with untiring energy to the work of the campaign. He had pleasant manners and a kindly disposition and always thoughtful and courteous. He was a member and trustee of Wrights Methodist Episcopal church and belonged to the Masonic, Elks and American Mechanic orders. He was a son of the late Evan E. Phillips and leaves to survive him his widow, Mrs. Katharine Phillips, and three children, his mother, Mrs. Jane Phillips and sisters, the Misses Jane and Maria, at Rome, and Mrs. Andrew Irons of Allegheny.

Mrs. Mary A. McCauley, 56 years old, wife of Peter McCauley, died yesterday afternoon at the family home, No. 1112 Morrison avenue, Allegheny. She was a member of St. Andrew's Roman Catholic church, Beaver avenue, Allegheny, from which she will be buried tomorrow morning with requiem high mass at 9 o'clock.

Obituary Notes.

Jackson Stockdale Calhoun, 22 years old, a draughtsman, is dead at the family home, No. 213 Irwin place. He was a son of George Calhoun, of the firm of Calhoun & Miller, contracting builders.

William Reid, one of the pioneers of Beaver county, is dead at the old homestead at Industry, Pa., aged 81. He is survived by one brother, David, of Independence, and three sisters, the Misses Jane and Maria, at Rome, and Mrs. Andrew Irons of Allegheny.

Mrs. Mary A. McCauley, 56 years old, wife of Peter McCauley, died yesterday afternoon at the family home, No. 1112 Morrison avenue, Allegheny. She was a member of St. Andrew's Roman Catholic church, Beaver avenue, Allegheny, from which she will be buried tomorrow morning with requiem high mass at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Margaret E. Thomas.

Mrs. Margaret E. Thomas, nee Johns, aged 68, died yesterday morning at her home, No. 715 Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg, of apoplexy. Deceased was born in Wales. Her father, William Johns, was one of the first men employed by Dr. Hussey as an experienced copper worker. At that time the family resided at No. 884 Second avenue, Pittsburgh. She is survived by the following sons and daughters: T. E. Johns, chief clerk in the bureau of fire, Pittsburgh; Mrs. J. K. Austin of Youngstown, O.; Miss Margaret Johns of Wilkinsburg, and Edward Thomas, who is superintendent of the South Side postoffice. The funeral services will be conducted from the home tomorrow afternoon, following which the private interment will take place at Homewood cemetery.

Mrs. Henrietta Selig.

Mrs. Henrietta Selig, age 87, died on Saturday evening at 6 o'clock of the residence of Isaac Halff, No. 1125 North Highland avenue, East End. Mrs. Selig was a native of Alsace and came to this country about 30 years ago. She has recently made her permanent home with her only daughter, Mrs. Samuel Sommer of Athens, but for the past three months she has been visiting her stepdaughter, Mrs. Isaac Halff. Her death was not unexpected, as her health has been gradually declining for some time past. Deceased was of the Hebrew faith and the services at 2 o'clock will be conducted by Dr. J. Leonard Levy, the interment being in the Hebrew cemetery in this city.

Dr. Eugene G. Carpenter.

Dr. Eugene G. Carpenter, superintendent of the Columbus, O., state hospital for the insane, died last evening from a stroke of apoplexy sustained last Thursday. Dr. Carpenter was one of the most celebrated alienists in the country and became superintendent of the state hospital in 1898, going to Columbus from Cleveland. He was comparatively a young man, but had risen to almost the highest position in his profession, especially in the treatment of diseases of the nerves and the brain. He was a native of Mansfield and was a cousin of Frank G. Carpenter, the well-known journalist.

RAILROADS AT WAR IN EARNEST

Fight Between Pennsylvania and Goulds Grows More Bitter.

AFTER reading The Gazette yesterday about the suit of the Western Union Telegraph Company against the Pennsylvania railroad a coal operator said: "This is evidently war. What the public sees is a small part of it. My company has been shipping coal to a certain concern in the west for eight years. Its works are located on the Wabash railroad. They use about four cars of coal a week. Of the 300-mile haul about 450 miles are on the Pennsylvania system. The remaining 50 are over the Wabash. A short time ago we loaded some coal as usual for the western customer, but it was stopped en route and we were notified the Pennsylvania railroad would not send any of its cars to the Wabash system. Since then we have been compelled to catch foreign cars as best we can to load for the man on the banks of the Wabash, far away."

"Such business may be good policy, but I doubt it. The more of that we see the more anxious we become to see the Wabash in our territory. A railroad may have everything its own way for awhile, but if it abuses its privileges during such times, when the competing road comes in it is preferred for everything that can be thrown to it. The patrons of the old road feel like the Irishman who was pounding an adversary upon the highway. A traveler who happened along called to him to desist, as it was unfair to strike a man who was down. He replied: 'Well, if you knew how much trouble I had getting this fellow here you wouldn't talk that way.' The man who has been punished will not stand on ceremony when he sees a chance to get even."

A CROWD of young medical students were out for a good time one evening and among other pranks they attempted to play a practical joke upon a bartender. They secured a "stiff," which lay in the dissecting room ready for dismembering the following morning. Two of the men dressed the corpse in old clothes and taking him between them, went to the saloon. One called for three glasses of beer. The order was supplied as they stood the dead one up against the bar. The bar contained a fairly good-sized crowd, so no particular attention was given to the jokers. The students drank their beer while the other glass remained untouched. After chatting a few minutes the two stationed themselves just outside the door, where they waited.

The crowd in the saloon gradually diminished and there were but two or three remaining when closing time came. The bartender told the men to drink up and leave. All did so save one. The bartender walked over to where the man was and told him to hurry and drink his beer, as the place was closed. There was no compliance with the request and it was repeated in a harsher tone. From the lips of the corpse a profane answer seemed to come, but in reality it came from one of the men outside, who was somewhat of a ventriloquist. The bartender became angry and resented the profane epithet by reaching over the bar and striking the corpse in the face. The body fell to the floor with a thud and the two jokers rushed in. After a hasty examination they accused the bartender of killing the man.

With quick wit, he replied: "Well, he drew a knife on me" and pointed to a table knife, which was lying on the bar just where the man had been standing. Then they told him the man was a corpse and had been embalmed for a week. The bartender was not abashed. He declared he knew the man was dead the minute the trio entered the saloon, and knew there was something brewing, but he confidentially told a friend of his the next morning that he really thought he had committed murder.

The medical students lugged the "subject" back to the dissecting room and refused to answer the next morning when some of their class mates asked them how the joke ended, but somehow the story leaked out.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

Among those at the leading hotels last night were the following people from nearby towns:

Monongahela—A. W. Jones, Youngstown; A. J. Wachter, Marietta; J. B. Woods, West Newton.

Griswold—S. F. Brady, Johnstown; E. D. Nolan, Sistersville; C. E. Swanson, Massillon; J. E. De Saullers, G. H. Guchhaff, Greensburg

STRICKEN HOME VISITED BY MANY

Sympathy and Condolence For Family of Murdered Albert Hamilton.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENT

Services Will Be Private and of a Simple Character—Members of Household Gather for the Sad Event.

The remains of Albert Hamilton, who was so foully murdered by William C. Turner in New York on Friday, were brought to the family residence, No. 400 Highland avenue, yesterday morning, arriving at East Liberty at about 5:30 o'clock. All day long there was a stream of sorrowing friends visiting the home. Mr. Hamilton was very well known in social and church circles throughout the East End as a man with malice toward none, and the family has been deluged with messages and calls of condolence.

The funeral will take place this afternoon from the residence. It is the desire of the family that the funeral be as nearly private as possible. While Mr. Hamilton was a member of Pittsburgh commandery, Knights Templar, it is not to be a Masonic funeral, although the commandery will be represented. The same is true of Alexander Hays Post, G. A. R. The Rev. Dr. R. S. Holmes of the Shadyside Presbyterian church will pronounce the funeral oration at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the residence, and the funeral cortege will move to Homewood cemetery, where the burial will take place.

Miss Grace E. Hamilton, daughter of the deceased, arrived home Saturday night from Boston, where she had gone the Saturday before to visit friends. Her brothers, Frank and Albert G., who have been attending Princeton university, also arrived, and their uncle, James T., the only brother of their father and his partner in business, arrived here with the remains yesterday morning.

Last evening members of the family, who have had no rest since the terrible occurrence, were induced by their friends to seek some repose. Mrs. Hamilton has recovered from the most serious effect of the shock she suffered at the first word of her husband's death. The only sister of the deceased, a Mrs. Wallace of Butler, is at the Hamilton residence.

TURNER IN PRACTICE.

Spent Afternoon Before Tragedy Shooting at Mark in His Back Yard.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—It developed today that William C. Turner of Mt. Vernon, the slayer of his two partners and himself, practiced shooting at a target in the back yard of his home at No. 12 South Fifteenth street the day before the triple tragedy.

Several neighbors saw him shooting, and they say he aimed quickly and fired in rapid succession. It is believed that Turner was then trying his aim previous to ending three lives.

Mrs. Turner is still in a serious condition as the result of the shock, and it is doubtful if she will be able to attend the funeral of her husband, which will be held on Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

RECKLESS SHOOTING

Somebody in Uniform Handled a Revolver in an Uncalled-for Manner in the East End.

The reckless and indiscriminate shootings by a police officer or a private night watchman created no little excitement at Center avenue and Craig street shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Several shots were fired and one of them is now buried in the back door of the house in which Dr. J. R. McCurdy lives, at No. 4615 Center avenue. The affair was reported over the telephone to No. 4 police station later in the morning, and Officer M. S. Hanley was sent to investigate. The report made by the officer was that a young man was visiting one of the servants at Dr. McCurdy's, and was seen leaving the place by one of the private watchmen of the Western Pennsylvania Protective association who took him for a porch thief and fired when he refused to stop and give an account of himself. The young man ran as though fiends were after him and made good his escape.

The supposed porch thief was a young colored boy, a stranger recently arrived from Virginia, he was visiting one of the house maids, who was sitting up late for one of the other servants to return home. At Dr. McCurdy's it was said that as soon as the maid opened the rear door to let the young man out, the shooting commenced. The people at Dr. McCurdys' say the shots were fired not by the private watchman, who wears a gray uniform, but by the regular police officer on the beat.

FOUGHT DEMENTED MAN.

Young Girl and Her Rescuer Injured by Assailant.

Samuel Sweeney, aged 40, of No. 104 West Lacock street, Allegheny, who is thought to be insane, was arrested in Linden avenue, Saturday afternoon by Henry Houser, watchman at the Nunnery hill water tank. It is alleged Houser saw Sweeney attack Minnie Cox, aged 11 years, near her home in Linden avenue. In trying to get away from Sweeney the girl fell against the curb and cut her head.

Houser, in rescuing the girl and arresting Sweeney slipped and fell and badly injured his right leg. The sanity of Sweeney will be inquired into today.

YALE GROWING FAST.

Almost One Hundred More Students Enrolled This Year Than Last.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—It was announced today by Rev. Anson P. Stokes, Jr., secretary of Yale, that the total enrollment of students is 2,785, which is almost 100 more than a year ago. This is the largest increase in the university's history.

The greatest growth is in the Sheffield scientific school and second in the law school. Twenty-two graduates from other colleges have entered the senior class for a year's study, so as to receive a Yale degree.

Made a Big Haul.

The police were asked last night to look out here for William A. Burg, or Burke, a German, 28 years old, who is alleged to have stolen three $1,000 notes and seven $100 notes in Washington, D. C., on Saturday. He is an expert piano player and usually plays with traveling theatrical companies.

Horse Badly Burned.

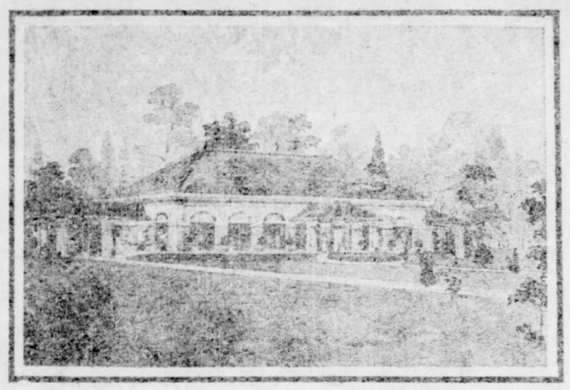
A frame stable, at No. 1228 Wilson street, occupied by Edward Williams, an expressman, was almost destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The fire spread so rapidly that considerable difficulty was had in getting out the three horses which were in the stable. One of the horses was badly burned before it could be got out. The loss will be about $75.

SHELTER HOUSES IN THE PARKS ARE TO BE BEAUTIFUL STRUCTURES



Much interest has attached to the proposed building of shelter houses in the public parks of this city. Few persons, however, realize how elaborate and comfortable they are to be. The above cut is a good reproduction of one of the two buildings which Architect Harry Summers Estep has designed for Highland park.

The building will be located in Rhododendron grove, Highland park, a little to the left of and beyond Carnegie lake. The main building will be 38.8x86.5 feet. It will be built after the Italian style and two shades of brick will be used.

The house will face toward the entrance to the park. Seven entrances are provided in front, two at each side and two in the rear. The building will accommodate 1,000 people and has a lunch stand and a hardwood floor for dancing. The cost is put at $11,000 and bids are now being asked on its erection.

THE SWIFT PLANT DAMAGED BY FIRE

Loss on Stock and Building in Church Ave., Allegheny, Placed at $5,000.

Swift & Co.'s cold storage plant in Church avenue, Allegheny, was damaged by fire early yesterday morning. The loss is placed at $10,000, fully covered by insurance.

The fire originated in the cellar and was caused by the bursting of an ammonia pipe. When the firemen arrived the flames had eaten their way up the elevator shaft to the second floor, where butter, lard and dried and smoked meats were stored. Most of the goods on the floor was burned or badly damaged by smoke and water.

During the fire the ice plant in the cellar was badly wrecked by the explosion of two cylinders of ammonia. In another part of the cellar 85 head of live sheep, with 35 horses, were kept. They were all got out in safety. Two carloads of soap stored in a room of the meat-smoking department were also destroyed, together with a lot of offal.

A fire in the oil house of the Linden Steel Company in Second avenue yesterday morning at 10:45 o'clock almost completely destroyed the building, besides damaging much stock. The fire was confined to the oil house and the loss will reach $1,000.

LABORERS INDORSE CITIZENS TICKET.

South Side League Adopted Strong Resolutions—Denounced—Mass Meeting November 1.

The South Side Labor League of Western Pennsylvania yesterday enthusiastically indorsed the entire Citizens congressional, legislative and county ticket. Resolutions were adopted commending the Citizens candidates as being friendly to the cause of labor.

The resolutions are signed by August Krell, president; Herman Hartman, secretary; M. Greiner, chairman of the executive committee; Theodore Smith, W. A. Pafft, Al. Beebe, John Denk, Jacob Traft, Frank Meiser, James Kearns, William Klinzing, William Dugan, John Murphy, Timothy Sullivan and Charles Kearns. The meeting was addressed by Stephen Madden and Conrad Auth.

George J. Churchill was denounced as having misrepresented the friends of organized labor.

It was decided to hold a mass meeting at the new Turner hall, South Side, on November 1. The meeting will be addressed by James W. Brown, William J. Brennon, Joseph R. Vitchestaln, John Heath, John B. Yellig, Ben Weaver and W. N. Willett. The meeting yesterday was held in the hall at South Fourteenth and Carson streets.

DENOUNCE TURKEY.

Macedonians in Bulgaria Hold Meetings to Discuss Their Revolution Against Sultan.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, BULGARIA, Oct. 19.—There was a large meeting here today under the auspices of the Macedonian committee. Resolutions were passed requesting Bulgaria to negotiate with the powers to secure their mediation for the enforcement of the Berlin treaty in Macedonia.

SOFIA, Oct. 19.—An open air meeting convened today by the Macedonian committee was attended by 10,000 people. M. Michailowsky, president of the local committee, described Turkish misrule in Macedonia, and was loudly cheered by the gathering.

It is reported here that Turkish troops have occupied the Kresna pass, thus becoming masters of the Struma valley, and that all the insurgents' positions are now untenable.

PASSENGERS WERE COMPELLED TO FAST

Wreck on Baltimore & Ohio Delayed Trains for Hours. Rush for Restaurants.

A big freight wreck near Rockwood on the Connellsville division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad delayed all passenger trains for many hours yesterday. The wreck occurred shortly after midnight on Saturday. It tied up the road for nearly nine hours east and west, miles of freight and passenger trains being strung out on each side of it. As the wreck occurred off the Pittsburgh division no report of it was made here.

Train No. 8, which left New York at 3.35 p. m. Saturday, and which was due in Pittsburgh at 6:30 a. m., yesterday, was delayed over nine hours, and train No. 11, due here at 9:15 a. m. did not get in until 2.05 yesterday afternoon. All other trains bound both ways were held up for many hours by the wreck. Many of the passengers actually suffered from hunger, and those that arrived in Pittsburgh made dashes for the nearest restaurant. Before nightfall the tracks were cleared and all trains were moving on schedule time.

CROWDS VISITED ALL THE CITY'S PARKS

First Autumn Day Drew Throngs. Chrysanthemum Show Is Ready for Next Sunday's Opening.

There was a big attendance at both Schenley and Highland parks yesterday. It was an ideal October day, and people took advantage of it to the utmost. The roads and driveways were crowded with fine turnouts and the auto was in evidence everywhere.

One of the big attractions at the zoo is the snake den which was arranged during the week by Superintendent Tretow. The zoo is becoming a Sunday resort for the Chinamen of Pittsburgh and vicinity and over a dozen of them were noticed there yesterday afternoon. They appeared to be very much interested and chattered to one another like so many monkeys.

A large number of visitors were to the conservatory in the afternoon. The chrysanthemum show will open next Sunday, but many people yesterday took a look at the flowers. The chrysanthemums are in bloom and by next Sunday will be at their best. The show will be the finest in many years.

The new cactus house, the only one of its kind in the world, will also be thrown open to visitors next Sunday. Every plant has been labeled so that the visitors will have no trouble in learning the names of the different specimens. One of the plants that will most attract the attention of the visitors is known as the giant cactus tree. This specimen is now over 10 feet high and grows to a height of 60 feet.

The free organ recital in Carnegie Music hall was well attended. The recital was given by W. K. Steiner of Pittsburgh, who presented an entertaining program in three parts. The recital opened with a sonata by Bach. A symphonic poem, "Life," by H. W. Nicholl, was played for the first time here and was received with much enthusiasm. This poem is dedicated to the memory of the composer's father and mother.

Mullen Is Recovering.

City Assessor Thomas Mullen, who underwent the amputation of one of his legs at Mercy hospital last Thursday, is rapidly recovering from the effects of the amputation. It was stated at the hospital yesterday that Mr. Mullen's condition was all that could be expected, and that his ultimate recovery was only a question of time. No person outside of his family physician and three of Mr. Mullen's intimate friends are allowed to see him.

A BUSY DAY FOR PRINCE OF SIAM

To Have a Glimpse of East Pittsburgh, Glassport and Torrance Factories.

MAY VISIT HOMESTEAD

Aside From Luncheon at Monongahela Club No Social Function Will Interrupt Hasty Look at Pittsburgh's Great Industries.

Chowfa Maha Vajiravudh, crown prince of Siam, will spend a busy day in Pittsburgh, Wednesday, November 5, as the guest of Francis J. Torrance, president of Allegheny select council and vice president of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company. Mr. Torrance will take care of the entertainment of the prince himself. The cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny know nothing officially of the coming of the prince and have done nothing in preparation for his entertainment. Everything will be arranged by Mr. Torrance with the idea of avoiding the time-losing incidents of meeting a great number of people.

Probably at the Monongahela club, Mr. Torrance will entertain the prince at luncheon at noon and there he will meet a number of representative Pittsburghers. Mr. Torrance has made no arrangements as to the guests, nor has he determined on a committee to accompany the prince in his hurried visit to some of the mills and factories.

The prince and his suite will arrive here on Wednesday morning, November 5, unless something unforseen causes alteration of his itinerary. The party will arrive in a special train and this will be used in the trips about several Pittsburgh factories and mills.

The journey to Pittsburgh will be over the Pennsylvania railroad and the most of the morning will be consumed in a stop at East Pittsburgh to visit the works of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company. The works of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company in Allegheny will be visited, probably before luncheon. Then there will be a visit to the model glass works of the United States Glass Company at Glassport, or to some other factory. Then, if there is still time, the royal party will be taken to the Homestead steel works.

All this will consume the day and the prince and his party will continue their trip westward.

It has been reported Mr. and Mrs. George Westinghouse would be here to entertain the royal visitors at "Solitude," but it is understood that this will not be done, and if Mr. Westinghouse comes, it will be only to see the prince through his works.

The prince, who is a youth of about 22 years, will be accompanied by his brother, Prince Chakrabongse, personal aid-de-camp; Col. Phya Rajavallobk of the Siamese army, first aid-de-camp; Capt. Luang Sarasiddhi, second aid-de-camp; Mom R. Anuvatra, private secretary; Phya Prasiddhi, who is envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary at Washington, and other members of the legation, possibly E. H. Loftus, secretary, and Prof. J. H. Gore of the Columbian university.

JAMES CAWLEY NOT MOVED BY SERVICES

The Homestead Youth Evinced Little Interest in the Jail Religious Services.

"That's a long sermon," was James Cawley's comment on the religious services which he attended in the corridor of the Allegheny county jail yesterday afternoon. He was indifferent to the praying and singing and sat among his fellow-prisoners apparently oblivious of his surroundings. His brother Charles remained in his cell throughout the day.

The brothers have had no conversation since the incarceration of James last week. They have manifested no interest in the fate of each other, and the sullen manner that has characterized them since the tragedy in Homestead is unchanged.

When the Christian Alliance evangelist called at the jail yesterday afternoon to hold the regular Sunday religious services, the prisoners picked up their rude chairs and carried them from the cells to the rotunda on the first floor, where they gathered around the rail facing the jail office. In the crowd of coatless men was James. The words of the speakers had little effect upon him. The only interest he manifested was during the singing of the hymns with a piano accompaniment. Among the prisoners who grew listless during the long discourse James was the first to evince impatience, and silently returned to his cell.

St. Ignatius Church Opens.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—St. Ignatius' church, the new Protestant Episcopal place of worship at West End avenue and Eighty-seventh street, was opened today with a solemn mass, at which the Rev. Dr. George L. Christian of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin and Bishop Grafton of Fond Du Lac officiated. St. Ignatius church was founded by the late Rev. Dr. Ewer, and the present rector is the Rev. Arthur Ritchie.

Mgr. Chapelle Reaches Rome.

GENOA, Oct. 19.—Archbishop Chapelle reached here today from the United States and proceeded for Rome.

BEAUTY AND HEALTH

How to Care for the Hands and Nails.

Not everyone can have well-shaped hands—that is one of Nature's gifts—but all can improve their appearance by attention and can keep the nails in good order by constant care. Nothing is more expressive than the hand. It indicates so plainly the character and habits of the owner. A neglected hand shows lack of refinement. A hand may be large and not well shaped, yet if it is well kept it is attractive and shows that the owner loves neatness. There is no excuse for a lack of care of the nails. It is not necessary to go to a manicure, and there are but few articles to be purchased if one would be her own manicure. One will need a good pair of nail scissors, a pair of cuticle scissors, a nail file, a buffer or chamois polisher, a few orangewood sticks, a box of nail powder and some rose paste.

Carelessness in washing and drying the hands will make them rough. Hard water and soap containing an excess of alkali injure the hands. Rain water is softening. If you have rough work to do, wear gloves. If impossible to do that, rub the hands with cold cream or vaseline when your work is done and then wash them with good soap in warm water in which is a pinch of borax. Rinse them in warm water, then in cold, and dry them with care. Almond meal sprinkled over the hands after washing is softening and prevents chapping. Lemon or a raw potato will remove stains, good mixture for making the hands white is of lemon juice, honey and alcohol.

When manicuring dip the nails in warm soap suds for several minutes. Dry on a soft towel and press down the skin at the base of the nails with an orangewood stick so that the half-moon, which is one of the beauties of the nail, will show. File the nails and trim them carefully, making them oval in shape and not allowing them to extend beyond the tips of the fingers. The nails should not be scraped or pressed with the scissors, as this injures them and makes ridges on the soft parts, causing them to grow unevenly. Very little cutting of the cuticle at the base of the nail should be attempted or the skin will be coarsened. Touch the nails with rose paste or cold cream. Spread the nail powder freely on the polisher, or on the round part of the palm of the hand, and polish briskly on this surface. Every trace of paste and powder must be rinsed off and a final polishing given after washing. Equal parts of talcum powder, pulverized boric acid, finely pulverized starch and 10 drops of carmine will make a good nail powder. A thorough manicuring once or twice a week and a careful filing and quick polishing every day should keep the nails in good condition.

Indigestion Spoils the Complexion.

The influence which indigestion, caused by errors in diet, exercises upon the complexion is universally appreciated. The flushing of the cheeks after a heavy meal or after eating some indigestible food, the appearance of cutaneous affections after partaking of sea fish, shell fish (such as oysters which are not fresh), crabs, smoked and preserved meats, salted and fermented cheese, certain acid fruits, berries, nuts, almonds, truffles, sweets, pastry, etc., all go to show that a proper alimentary regimen is of great importance to all who desire a good complexion. You must make a study of your own susceptibilities and abstain from the use of all substances found harmful to you. A certain consolation lies in the fact that individual susceptibilities become modified with age. The so-called liver spots which sometimes appear on the face are caused by the pathological conditions of the internal organs, perhaps least of all by those of the liver. They disappear under proper treatment.

Recipe for Elder-Flower Water.

Elder-flower water is highly recommended as a plain wash for the skin and quite close up to the blossoms and place the latter in a large earthenware jar or in an enameled saucepan. If in the latter, just cover with water, and heat to boiling point; then strain off the water and bottle for use. Half an ounce of simple tincture of benzoin or two ounces of spirits of wine added to one quart of this water will help to preserve it. The earthenware jar is used rather differently: When packed with elder bloom, it is filled with quite hot but not boiling water and left for 24 hours, when the water is carefully strained through a muslin bag. The latter process gives a better colored water.

Vegetables With Health-Giving Properties.

Most people know but few heed the merits of the homely onion. In persons who have lost appetite, onions will revive the wish for food, and it is well known that they induce sleep and noticeably clear the complexion. Boiled, they are soothing to the mucous membrane, and in inflammation of the stomach may be digested when little else can be. They not only purify the blood but are an almost sure cure for a cold, eaten in copious roasted doses or raw; they induce perspiration and help to throw off chills. The roasted onion is also recommended as a poultice for severe earache. Some people object to the odor of onion on the breath, but it is by no means the worst odor we notice in people's breaths, and it may be overcome generally by a drink of milk or of black coffee. Really, after the first strong smell has passed off the breath is left much purer than before, bleased be the onion!

Lettuce is said to be active as a natural opiate and as a blood purifier, and should be eaten in abundance by persons troubled with nervousness and sleeplessness.

Celery is also excellent in all nerve disorders, especially nervous indigestion, and should be eaten every day, when obtainable, by persons suffering with this malady or with neuralgia or sciatica. Even rheumatism and gout may be relieved by the liberal use of celery.

Bilious people should eat plenty of oranges, apples, tomatoes and onions and should drink lemonade and plain water between meals, avoiding, if possible, the usual table drinks.

Watercress contains iron, and this is a good blood medicine, cleansing the system and clearing away defects in the complexion. Watercress will also neutralize the chalky deposits of the blood which cause stiffening of the joints and fibers. Therefore to keep young and supple eat plenty of watercress. The cauliflower is also excellent for the blood. Many physicians regard tomatoes as remedial in cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. A diet of carrots and turnips is beneficial to persons inclined to asthma or bronchial trouble.

Pineapple is especially good for dyspeptics who lack a natural secretion of pepsin. If the blood is turbid and sluggish eat plenty of grapes, swallowing no seeds or stones. The acids of the grapes will dissolve obstructions in the blood and a normal circulation will be re-established.

On a Windy Day.

A little cream rubbed into the skin with fuller's earth when it is dry protects from rough winds. The face should be washed in lukewarm water drain, and then rinsed, with water in which a few drops of eau de cologne have been dropped. If a little cold cream is rubbed in it maintains the tissues in good condition. "An apple a day keeps the doctor away" is a truth which should be borne in mind.

For Reddened Eyelids.

Inflamed and red eyelids will generally improve if bathed with a boracic lotion. Do not forget to dry them carefully afterward, or the bathing will probably do more harm than good. To make the lotion pour a pint of boiling water over an ounce of boracic acid and stir till dissolved. When cold, bottle for use. When needed, pour a little of the lotion into a saucer, add boiling water to make it lukewarm and bathe the eyes at once, using a fresh piece of linen for the purpose.

Autograph Initialing.

"Autograph initialing" is the fad of the moment at smart stationers. Like many styles this season, it is a revival, but nevertheless the up-to-date creature who follows the latest is having her autograph initials reproduced on the top of her note paper, either in the upper left-hand corner or in the center. Of course, this newest trick is not as apt to be artistic, but it at least possesses an added touch of personality.

SHOULD PREACH CHRIST ALONE

Moderator of Presbyterian Synod Objects to Other Pulpit Subjects.

MESSAGE OF THE TIMES

It Is "Jesus Christ, the Sufficient Saviour," and Gospel Should Be Preached As He Did it, but Illustrations Are Allowable.

The Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan, who was elected moderator of the Pennsylvania State synod of the Presbyterian church, held in the First church, Allegheny, last week, preached what is termed the moderator's sermon in that church yesterday morning. His subject was: "The Message of the Times—Jesus Christ, the Sufficient Saviour," and his text was taken from Acts viii:35: "And preached unto him Jesus." Mr. McEwan said in part:

It is a fascinatingly interesting thing to follow the processes by which a great man reaches a conclusion that influences the world. Let us then study the story of the conversion of the Ethiopian eunuch. He had great qualifications for a successful minister. It is written of him that he was able to understand the communications of an angel. That must mean that he lived in such conscious and constant dependence upon God for guidance that he was able to understand the revelations of God's will to him.

Was Eager to Learn.

Philip knew his Bible. He began at the same scripture and expounded the same meanings as the Messianic prophecies. This preacher had another excellent qualification, in that he was eager to speak to the inquirer. Do not fail to observe that before he ran and joined himself to the chariot, the spirit of God commanded him to do so.

In this case the audience consisted of one man and he doubtless was a black man who came from Ethiopia. He had some characteristics that are plainly marked and worthy of attention. He was a student of the Bible. Led by the restless hunger of the heart, from the empty and unsatisfying pagan religion he had gone up to Jerusalem to worship. He sought all the light available. He studied the Bible, which was the guide of the Jewish people.

This man in the chariot was willing to learn. He had no prejudices to lay aside. He was an earnest seeker after the truth. As far as he was able to understand the things written he was ready to accept their teaching, and when there came one, who, from his appearance was a Jew and so likely to be able to understand the prophecy, he inquired of him the meaning of the book.

Should Preach Christ Only.

When the Lord was on earth He spoke as one having authority, and as never man spoke. As He sought to teach the people the things concerning the kingdom He used as illustrations whatever made the truth more plain; the birds of the air, the grass of the field, the lilies, the sower sowing his seed. Whatever the familiar object before the eyes of the people who heard Him used to make plain the great truths and principles He sought to teach. So it is true today that all poetry and all history, and all science, and all art may be used to illustrate and enforce the truth.

It is my belief that clubs and politics and sociology as such, are not proper themes for pulpit treatment on the Sabbath day. When a minister of the gospel ceases to preach Jesus Christ and Him crucified he descends from the throne of his power and diverts himself of the authority as an ambassador of the kingdom, and becomes a lecturer on subjects of more or less interest, and his pulpit is merely a platform.

BIBLE UPHELD AS BOOK OF HISTORY

The Rev. W. A. Stanton Tells Why It Should Be Given Credence.

The Rev. W. A. Stanton preached a sermon on "Getting at Truth Through Testimony," at the Shady avenue Baptist church yesterday mornin. His text was Job, xxxiv: 32: "That which I see not, teach Thou me; if I have done iniquity, I will do it no more." Mr. Stanton said in part:

"Were it not for the value of witnesses, history would have no value; judges and juries would be useless; text books would be ruled out as a means of educating. By this method we know the most that we do know. How do we know that Caesar, Luther, Cicero, Cromwell, Constantine and Washington lived and did as they are said to have done? You cannot know it by your intuitions or your logic. You never saw them or heard them. For all your evidence you must depend upon others.

"Apply this to religious history and religious truth. You want to know about God's dealings with men; about Jesus Christ; about the way to be saved; about God's will concerning you and other men. How are you going to know all this? Your Bible is within reach; read it.

"But you say, I am not sure as to the infallibility of that book; I do not believe in inspiration; I do not have faith. Well, suppose not. You can surely give the Bible the same investigation and credit that you give other histories.

"The many critics have not done away with its authority, but they have done away with many crude ideas and false notions that men had about the Bible.

"It is not at all impossible to understand the historical parts of the Bible. They are as plain as any other history. It is not impossible to understand the poetry of the Bible. It is as plain as any other poetry, and much more so than that of Browning and some others. It is not impossible to understand nine-tenths of the epistles, and every day is making the other tenth plainer."

GEN. AND MRS. BALLINGTON BOOTH ADDRESS TWO BIG MEETINGS HERE

Gen. and Mrs. Ballington Booth, at the Head of the Volunteers of America.

Ballington Booth, the commander of the Volunteers of America, and his wife, Mrs. Maud Booth, addressed two meetings yesterday, one in the Carnegie music hall, Allegheny in the afternoon, and the other in the East Liberty Presbyterian church in the evening. He and his wife stopped off in Pittsburgh while on a tour of inspection of the posts of their army throughout the country. They will leave for Kansas City, Mo., this morning. While here they were the guests of C. C. Herron, the colonel of the Volunteers' local regiment.

J. Walter Hay, a well known business man of Allegheny, and a prominent worker in the Volunteers, presided at the Allegheny meeting and introduced Gen. and Mrs. Booth. The general's address was mainly statistical and historical. He went over the work of his organization since its inception, six years ago, and the figures he gave show that it is now on a firm financial basis and their members legion.

Mrs. Booth's address was an urgent plea for the recognition of society for the ex-convict. "The reason there are so many habitual criminals," she said, "is because society turns its back upon the man or woman who has ever been in jail. There is no avenue open to them. It is a case of starve or steal. And the strongest among them would choose the latter. The Volunteers of America are doing their best for ex-convicts, and we have established Hope Halls throughout this country, where men who have the stigma of prison life upon them can get spiritual and practical assistance."

At the conclusion of the meeting several hundred dollars were subscribed for the Volunteers.

There was a big audience at the East Liberty Presbyterian church in the evening. The regular church services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Frank W. Sneed, and Mrs. Booth spoke, occupying her own and her husband's time, the General having been detained on some private matter, although he arrived at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Booth made the same address that she had delivered in Allegheny in the afternoon. The collection that was taken up during the meeting netted nearly $200.

It had been reported that Gen. Booth was to meet his father, the General of the Salvation Army, either in Pittsburgh or Chicago. He was asked if he had made such an engagement. It is well known that it was on account of a disagreement with his father regarding Salvation Army management in this country that Ballington Booth left the Army and organized the Volunteers.

"My father is in Canada, and will not be in the United States for four or five weeks, I understand," said Gen. Booth. "If my father wishes to see me I shall be very glad indeed to go out of my way to meet him, as father and son, and to renew the filial relationship. If he does not wish to see me then I do not see how I can meet him."

"Could by any chance the two armies be amalgamated?" Gen. Booth was asked.

"That question has already been answered. They will not be amalgamated, and I do now know that there is any desire on the part of either organization to unite. Since the organization of our movement we have tried to conduct it so that we should not interfere with the Salvation Army. We respect that body and would do nothing to injure it."

SELF-SACRIFICE IS THE PATH TO LIFE

The Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander Points Out Its Necessity and Sure Reward.

At the First Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh last night the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander preached on "Sacrifice, the Path to the Best Life." He took as his text Matt. x:39. "He that findeth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth it for my sake shall find it." He said in part:

"History has exalted the virtue of sacrifice. It is the constructive element of society. It has been said that if selfishness is the flame which destroys society, sacrifice is the element which repairs it.

"All the processes of evolution are results of sacrifice. Not only is this plainly taught and declared in the Bible, but it is authenticated in nature, in the composition of our social fabric, and in the intellectual world.

"The glories of nature are the result of the heat-giving power of the sun and the fertility of the soil, both of which exhaust themselves to produce the harvests and the flowers.

"The power of the church is found in the blood of the martyrs. Some of our best men have given their lives to prove some scientific truth that would counteract these.

"In the intellectual world we have in Milton the illustration of how a man may sacrifice his most precious gifts for the production of a classic verse or a description of the celestial world. The most invaluable gifts which the world has have always come through the path of sacrifice.

"There is the gift of knowledge. The value of a steady earnest thinker can hardly be over-estimated, and the right use of knowledge and the power to communicate often costs much.

"There is the gift of inspiration: there is the gift of sympathy, and there is the gift of God. These things cannot be valued intrinsically. They are without money and without price; but to give them costs a man strength, nerve, sympathy and an expenditure of self which the world seldom recognizes.

"What, then, is the path of sacrifice? "When a man leaves a life which is centered upon himself and upon his own things in order that he may pervade the lives of others at the expense of his own tastes, feelings and powers, this is the path of sacrifice.

"Whenever a saint leaves the cultivation of his own spiritual life that he may go and tell the story of a Saviour from sin, or to point a lost man to the path of peace, or to show the Rock of Ages to a sinking soul—this is the path of sacrifice; and whenever a scholar leaves his study, lets his own pursuit for knowledge go, that he may lift the veil of ignorance from some other life, this, too, is the path of sacrifice.

"The Hall of Fame is open first to those who have lived sacrificial lives. All the great names of history have been names whose unselfishness has made them great. The highest illustration of sacrifice is found on Calvary. Christ, the King of Eternity, sweats in the Garden of Gethsemane with drops of His own most precious blood, and stretches out His hands nailed to the cross that men might have life, hope and peace."

CHURCH REDEDICATED.

Wilkinsburg United Presbyterians Open New Addition With Services.

The Second United Presbyterian church of Wilkinsburg, one of the most prosperous in the borough, last night rededicated its building. An addition to the church building has just been completed at a cost of $12,000, making it practically a new structure, and one of the most imposing in Allegheny county.

Last evening the Rev. Dr. J. K. McClurkin, pastor of the Shadyside United Presbyterian church, preached the dedicatory sermon to a large congregation. His remarks dealt with the history of the church. The Rev. Dr. John A. Burnett, the pastor, is chaplain of the Fourteenth regiment National Guard of Pennsylvania, and obtained a furlough for 10 days in order to be present at the dedicatory ceremonies. It is to him that a large share of the credit is due for the present condition of the church. A new pipe organ is being installed at a cost of $2,500, and will be ready for use about the middle of next month. The Second United Presbyterian church has a membership of about 400.

CHURCH SHOULD CHANGE ITS WAY

The Rev. John A. Jayne Tells Wherein Modern System Is Wrong.

MUST GO TO PEOPLE

Only Way to Win World Is to Go Out in It—Christ Did Not Wait for People to Seek Him, He Sought Them.

At the Observatory Hill Christian church, Allegheny, yesterday morning the Rev. John A. Jayne began a series of sermons upon the general theme, "Problems Confronting Pittsburgh Churches," his special topic being "The Church and the Non-Church-going Masses." He took for his text, Acts, viii.:4, "They, therefore, that were scattered abroad, went everywhere preaching the Word." Mr. Jayne said in part:

The disciples did not preach in the established places for worship. On the marketplace, the street corner, the court room and the jails of the cities they preached. Wherever there was a human soul there was a pulpit, wherever a human heart there a sanctuary. In this they followed the custom of the Christ, who was the most unconventional preacher the world has ever seen. But in the course of time, after the third century, Christianity, so-called, began to be absorbed by the political power at Rome. From this time on until the reformation we hear the terms church and state, Christian and citizens, and the two terms were in those days interchangeable. There is no need of going out after the masses of the people, for they are in the church, indeed, they dare not be in any other place. The church ceases its evangelistic effort and instead of going to the people demands that the people come to the church. A teaching that is opposed to the words and teaching of Jesus as far as the east is from the west.

With the rise of Protestantism there comes a change. Protestantism, instead of following the custom of the Christ and His apostles and going after the people, the masses, practically says with every church it builds, you come into the church and be converted. Instead of the church being a base of supplies for the worker the church has become a place for conversion for the few, for the many do not attend church at all.

Here are some startling facts. Well recognized authorities are telling us that less than 50 per cent of the population attend any church. Less than 30 per cent of the population of Pittsburgh and Allegheny attend Protestant churches, or any, for that matter. On this hill there are in round numbers 20,000 people. There are sittings in the five Protestant churches for less than 2,000 people.

Instead of building churches and saying come here and be converted we must go to the people and by our lives influence and teach, convert in the homes, mills and street. The masses of our population will not come to the church for conversion, therefore it is the duty of the church member to take the gospel to the masses.

Go where the people are with the story and you will convert the people. Brethren, upon the church in Allegheny, upon the church in Pittsburgh God has given the responsibility of souls. The measure of our success in God's kingdom will not be the beautiful sermons to which we have listened, the songs we have sung, or the public prayers we have offered, but the measure of our success will be the number of souls we have won for God and His truth. When that time comes, that out from the church there shall flow a stream of apostolic evangelism, then the world will be won for Christ.

INTERESTING TALK ON REFORMED SYNOD

The Rev. A. C. Dieffenbach Commends Brotherhood Spirit of Laymen.

At the Reformed Church of the Ascension yesterday the Rev. A. C. Dieffenbach gave an entertaining talk on the work of the Reformed synod of Pittsburgh, which was in session last week. He said in part:

The history of the Christian church is abundant in philosophy and inspiration largely on account of the deliberations of its men in councils and synods. We love to harken to the olden days when churchmen battled for more holiness and more knowledge, and when they strived for more truth and more life. It is in this spirit that we review synod's work.

As a branch of the Christian church we are learning in common with our brethren the singleness and simplicity of the gospel. We thank God and our forefathers that we are content with the doctrine of the fatherhood of man. It is the great consciousness that you have God in you, and that God in Christ contains human perfectness. He is the divine life in man and the human life in God that makes God and the whole world kin. This is the working formula of our church and its synod in which we are particularly interested.

Is it remarkable then that the obligations we made to gather certain funds were redeemed? It is no longer remarkable that laymen by the score join heart and hand with the clergy in appeals for larger obligations, and that the word "foreign" in our mission work is obsolete. The countless nationalities found in our land and within our gates are touched by the warm sympathy God has sown in our hearts. The word brotherhood means something today when we are educating them for the Kingdom of God.

It is not surprising, therefore, that we are preparing to invite young and ambitious Hungarian to our schools to study our national life in order to more successfully minister to their brethren on these shores. In such a community as Pittsburgh it is surprising for one to see men set aside their exacting duties to advance the interests of the church in such measures. Men are powerfully touched by the gospel and will always promote it. The desire to fill gatherings of churchmen with the spirit of brotherly love is a perpetual record of good works based on simple faith in God and man.

Welsh Preacher Here.

The Rev. William Williams of Wales, will preach at the Copper Works mission, Second avenue and Maurice streets, tonight. It was announced that he would be here next Wednesday, but a change in the arrangements of his tour has caused him to be here tonight. As the Welsh Presbyterians have sold their church building and moved out, and the new structure is not yet ready, they are holding some of their services at the mission. The meeting tonight will start at 7:30.

An East End woman came here Saturday to do some shopping. She is known among her associates as a close, careful buyer, capable of telling a bargain when she sees it.

At first it was only four of those tabourettes that she wanted at the advertised price (45c). On second thought she decided to take in our Carpet department. Before leaving we had her order for a little over $400 worth of floor coverings.

Not an uncommon incident. But the incident doesn't close here, for, as the customer took a pleased look at the last pattern selected, she volunteered this remark:

"I've priced carpets at half a dozen other places, but you folks are selling ever so much lower."

That's the sort of reputation that it does a store good to get. But it's not only on carpets we quote less prices. Try other stores for anything in housefurnishings, then come here and see what we save you.

HARD WORK AHEAD FOR BIG FOUR ELEVENS

YALE FULLBACK REPORTS TODAY

Return of Bowman Will Strengthen the Back Field.

HARVARD MEN ALARMED

Crimson Defense Not Up to Expectations—U. of P. Team Is Badly Crippled—Tigers Are [illegible]d to Take a Brace.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 19.—Yale's back field will be strengthened tomorrow by the return of Morgan Bowman, the freshman from the Hill school, who was injured twice in succession and has been crippled three of the five weeks since the season opened.

Bowman will probably be the permanent choice for 'varsity bullback. Charley Rafferty of Chicago, last year's end rush, will tomorrow take an examination to remove the conditions in his studies.

He has been ineligible all the fall. If he passes he will rejoin the eleven immediately. All the members of the eleven finished Saturday's game in excellent physical condition.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Harvard's poor showing at West Point yesterday is the sole topic among students today. Harvard's defense was so lamentably inferior to her attack that the coaches are alarmed.

The men seemed wooden. Besides the general demoralization there is still a dearth of material for tackles. Wright appears to be the best man out so far this season, and he has been doing fairly well at left tackle in most of the games.

Knowlton and Mills have been tried in the other position, but neither of them is up to either Cutts or Blagden, the star tackles of last year's team. Charley Shea, an old Hopkinson school player, should make a desirable man for the place.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The score yesterday on Franklin field was not a surprise to the coaches. With the team intact and in the same physical condition as when playing the Gettysburg game Penn had little to fear from Brown, even though she used "guardsback" and played it with two as fine line bucking guards as have been seen together in this powerful formation since Hare and McCracken.

But to be compelled to play an inexperienced quarterback, a man who had never played behind the 'varsity and had known the signals but two days, upon 24 hours' notice, is as severe a blow as one could administer to any team.

The absence of a tackler in the back field like Dale or Howard, and also of a man who could catch and run back punts as they can, easily explains the defeat. Penn's defensive play, with the exception of the fullback position, was superb and will be an important factor in winning her future games.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The Tigers have gradually emerged from their chaotic condition during the week past, but have not taken the needed brace, as the result of the game with Washington and Jefferson on Saturday shows.

It seems, however, that the coaches are not through shifting some of the line men around yet, and the moves made this week, though not as extensive, are quite as important ones. Fortunately, the back field has not been tampered with again, and the men behind the line are working together like clockwork.

In the interference on end runs, particularly, concerted action is noticeable, making possible the many long runs that have characterized the recent games.

From present indications Princeton will have a set of backs equal to almost any others on the college gridiron: Hart and Poulke, halves, and Kafer, full.

RIOT AT BIKE RACES.

Crowd Showed Its Displeasure at Judges' Decisions—Kramer Beaten in Team Event.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 19.—About 3,500 spectators witnessed a good day's racing at the Vailsburg track today. The onlookers took exception to two decisions of the judges and a small sized riot was the result.

In the five-mile open race Billington came fast on the inside, and to the onlookers it looked as if the Newark man had won by half a wheel. The judges thought differently and placed Root of Boston first and Billington second. The crowd howled for half an hour.

Lawson won the first heat of the three-cornered match race by a length, Kramer was pocketed. The second heat was given to Kramer, much to the displeasure of the crowd.

In the third heat McFarland defeated Kramer in handy fashion. The champion was not at his best. Lawson and McFarland teamed, and as each won a heat they won first prize. The summaries of the two important events are:

Five-mile open race (amateur)—Won by E. T. Root of Boston; "Teddy" Billington, New York Athletic club, second; Samuel Sullens, Boston, third. Time, 11:55. Lap prize won by A. Byerman of New York.

Three-cornered team match race (professional)—Won by Iver Lawson, Salt Lake City, and Floyd McFarland, San Jose; W. S. Fenn, Bristol, and G. H. Collett, New Haven, second; O. S. Kimble, Louisville, and Frank L. Kramer, East Orange, third. Time, 2:19 3-5, 2:16, 2:20.

WESTMINSTER VS. GROVE CITY.

Close Game Is Expected Between These Rival College Elevents Today.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Since the Western University of Pennsylvania game the Westminster eleven has had little practice, but the men are in a fair condition for the game with Grove City tomorrow, except Sampson, whose arm gives him some trouble.

Much interest is manifested in tomorrow's game. This is the first game since 1898 with Grove City. Westminster has insisted on a rigid eligibility rule, and the contract requires that every member be certified to by three members of his faculty.

He must be a regularly registered student taking 12 hours of recitations weekly and having been a member of his college since September.

Unique Wins Again.

At High Bridge yesterday the Unique A. C. defeated the Watson A. C. 10 to 0 in one 15-minute half. The second half was called off on account of darkness. Line-ups:

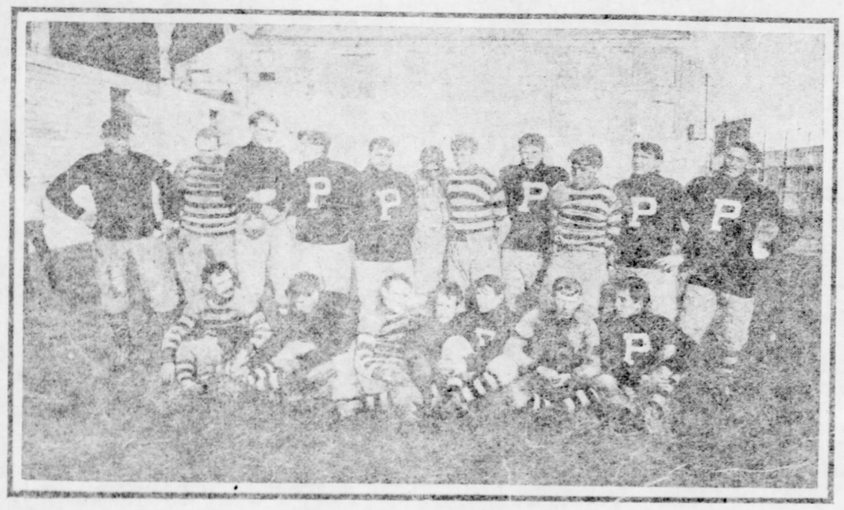
TAKEN WHILE RESTING BETWEEN HALVES OF SATURDAY'S BIG GAME.



Pittsburgh's All-Star Football Team.

ALL-STARS TO PLAY EAST END ELEVEN

Strength Contest Will Be a Feature of Saturday's Game at Colosseum.

Great local interest centers in the football game scheduled for Colosseum park, Allegheny, next Saturday afternoon between the Pittsburgh All-Star eleven and the team representing the East End Athletic association. The fact that a local amateur team made the best showing against the All-Stars of any eleven this season, leads the backers of the East End team to believe they can see a victory in sight.

The East End team is without question the strongest of the local amateur teams. While it has played but two games this season the decisive scores which it rolled up against opposing teams demonstrates its ability to play the great college game.

The team from the East End last season succeeded in counting two scores against the famous Homestead eleven in the two contests played. Already many bets have been made that these same East End eleven will score against the Pittsburgh team and several short end wagers have been made that victory will come to the East End.

One of the features of Saturday's contest will be the playing of the local strong men. Lantz is a regular player of East End, and Barney is with Berry's aggregation. The disability of Kerchoff in the All-Star-Bucknell game Saturday will force Capt. Richardson to put Barney in at guard and he will be pitted against Lantz in the line.

Lantz has signified his willingness to compete with Barney for all-around strength honors at the park and the tests will, in all probability, be made during the game on Saturday. The managers are arranging to have the strong men lined up between the halves, as competent judges have been secured, and as there exists a great rivalry between the two strong men the contest on Saturday promises lots of interest.

Coaches Joe Heh and Frank Hudson will put the East End team through the hardest kind of work this week in preparation for the big game Saturday. East End will try the famous guards back play and their new trick plays will also be brought into service.

SEVERAL PLAYERS HURT.

Members of Wash.-Jeff. Eleven Were Badly Used Up at Princeton.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The Washington and Jefferson football team, which was defeated by Princeton Saturday, returned home this afternoon, much the worse for the game. The eleven was given a good reception by the students, who feel proud of its record in making the first score of the season against the Tigers.

Quarterback McIlonough has a broken nose, and Sutter's arm was injured. All the members of the team are stiff, but the usual practice will be resumed this afternoon. Waynesburg and West Virginia teams will be met during the week, and the game scheduled with the Ohio Medical university eleven at Columbus next Saturday will be a hard one. O. M. U. played W. and J. to a 9 to 0 score last year.

Coach Greene seems pleased that W. and J. scored on Princeton, which team he regards as one of the strongest of the big Four this year. He says Hayes' goal from the 35-yard line was one of the prettiest field goals he ever saw kicked. The Tigers, he claims, should have had but two touchdowns.

Hermis and McChesney May Race.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A match race between Hermis, the champion 3-year-old of the season on the eastern track, and McChesney, the best handicap horse that has been seen in the west in years, will be arranged if the Westchester Racing association agrees to hang up a $5,000 purse for the contest. Duvall & Herz, owners of McChesney, say they will bring their horse east under such conditions. The western owners are willing to add a little something on the side to this if Mr. Bell, owner of Hermis, wishes.

Annual Turkey Fly.

The East End Homing club, Pittsburgh district of the N. P. of A. H. P. P., held its annual turkey fly yesterday from Coshocton, O., distance 100 miles. The birds were liberated at 7:15 a. m., standard time. The first bird to home was a silver cock, owned by S. B. Fisher, at 9:30, making an average speed of 1,379 yards a minute.

American Jockey Victorious.

VIENNA, Oct. 19.—Vandusen, the American jockey, rode Beregveolgy to victory today, in the contest for the Austrian prizes, which is one of the biggest races in Austria. The stake was $25,000.

AMONG THE AMATEURS.

Unique A. C. would like to know if that game with Brightons for next Saturday will be played. Address O. J. Stock, No. 55 Pius street.

The Lowell A. C. players were badly used up at Ingram Saturday. They were stoned from the field to the cars, about a mile. Three of the Lowell team are now under a physician's care.

The South Side A. C. is without a game for next Saturday and would like to hear from some good 110 to 115-pound team. West Lake A. C. and Crescents of Wilkinsburg preferred. Address William Thurmont, No. 98 Elm street.

LYNE IS LEADING AMERICAN JOCKEY

Kentucky Lad's Sensational Career in Saddle—May Ride for Keenes.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Lucien Lyne, the young jockey from the Blue Grass region, is now regarded as the leading jockey in the United States. The Messrs. Keene have such a high opinion of his ability that they are eager to engage him to ride their horses in England next season at a salary of $20,000. This is the biggest sum ever offered an American jockey for a single season. Lyne's remarkable success as a jockey dates back but a single year.

During the 19 days' meeting at Latonia in 1891 he won 19 races. His subsequent fine showing at Beunings induced Enoch Wishard to secure his services for his principal, J. A. Drake. The boy's first ride of importance for Mr. Drake was when he piloted the winner of the American derby, Wyeth, defeating the greatest field of 3-year-olds ever seen in this country. Then came his final triumph, the winning of the Futurity with Sevable.

Young Lyne, who is 18 years old, is a shining example of what intelligence, courage and tenacity of purpose in a boy can accomplish in a short time.

His sheer merit he has risen in a few months from an unknown jockey to a famous rider whose services are eagerly sought after by many owners.

Lucien is a Kentuckian by birth and breeding. He ranks above the average jockey because he possesses good manners and intelligence, qualifications that the race track riders of the present time are sadly deficient in.

WANDERED FROM HOME WHILE DISCOURAGED

Allegheny Inventor Wept Over the Reproaches of His Mother and Disappeared.

While suffering intense anxiety over an imagined attempt of friends to discourage his inventions, Samuel Sweeney, aged 55, wandered away from his home at No. 121 West Lacock street, Allegheny, on Saturday morning and has disappeared. He had wept a short time before leaving home, when told by his mother that he had wasted too much time and money in his experiments, and left the house, saying that he would go out and collect a small bill.

Sweeney had $40 in cash and an equal sum in checks upon his person, together with a bank book, and his friends fear that he has met with foul play. Last night his sister called at the Pittsburgh police headquarters to make inquiry for his whereabouts. She called at all the police stations in the two cities and at the hospitals, but found no trace of the missing man. Sweeney had spent years in perfecting an invention for an ice cream freezer. He was a devout church member and had been affiliated with the Salvation Army.

Woman's Name on Ballot.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—For the first time in the history of Massachusetts, the name of a woman will appear on the official ballot as a candidate for the house of representatives at the November election. She is Mrs. Fannie J. Clary of Williamsburg, nominated by the Prohibitionists.

POE MAY PLAY WITH PITTSBURGH TEAM

Princeton End is Wanted for the Big Games—Elevens in Good Shape.

It is quite probable that Arthur Poe, the famous Princeton end, who was a member of the Homestead eleven last fall, will begin practice with the Pittsburgh team in a few days. Coach Richardson has asked Poe to join the squad for the big games to be played by the team and he will give a definite answer this week.

Manager Berry has secured Hill, the captain and left halfback of the Cottage team, to play with the All Stars in several of their most important games. Hill is a Leland Stanford university player and shows a thorough knowledge of the game.

With the exception of Kierkhoff, all of the men of the Pittsburgh squad are in good condition after Saturday's hard game with Bucknell. Many of the eleven complain of slight bruises, for the Lewisburg players put up a sturdy defense.

Two games will be played this week. On Wednesday Pittsburgh college will be the attraction at Athletic park, and on Saturday the East End Athletics will play at the Colosseum.

Coach Richardson has over two weeks to get the squad in shape for the first league game with the Philadelphia National eleven on election day and the hardest work of the season will be done.

WANT GOVERNMENT TO OWN TELEGRAPH

One of Plans of Operators to Meet in Pittsburgh on November 26.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Several hundred telegraphers assembled this afternoon and formed the New York lodge of the International Union of Commercial Operators.

In the last three months unions have been formed in nearly every city in the United States and Canada, and New York was left for the final work of the organizers. It is expected that the members of the New York union will run up into the thousands.

What the outgrowth of this general organization is to be the organizers of the union do not say, beyond the declaration that they expect to obtain better pay and better hours. One of the leaders also proclaimed this afternoon that government ownership of the telegraph lines will be urged.

A national convention will be held at Pittsburgh, commencing November 26.

RUSSIA BEHIND IN REFINED OIL

Production of Crude Petroleum Far Ahead, but Quality is Poor.

LACKING IN MARKETS

Transportation to Sea Is Difficult as Pipe Line Is Short and Inadequate — Some Interesting Figures.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—The present condition of the coal supply of the United States and the possibilities of the large substitution of petroleum for coal as a fuel give an increased interest to the statistics of Russian petroleum as reported by the United States geological survey.

Since 1897 Russia has produced more petroleum than the United States. Beginning with 1897, the Russian production has been increasing by an average of over 12 per cent each year to the close of 1901. In round numbers the figures of production for the two countries are as follows: 1897—Russia, 54,000,000 barrels, United States, 60,000,000 barrels; 1898—Russia, 62,000,000 barrels, United States, 55,000,000 barrels; 1899—Russia, 63,000,000 barrels, United States, 57,000,000 barrels; 1900—Russia, 76,000,000 barrels, United States, 64,000,000; 1901—Russia, 85,000,000 barrels, United States, 69,000,000 barrels. The average annual increase during the five years for Russia has been 12.57 per cent; for the United States, 2.80 per cent.

The facilities for handling the large Russian production are at present crude, costly and wasteful. The markets are far away from the production. The main foreign shipping port at Batum, on the Black sea, is separated by mountain chains from the chief center of production, Baku, on the Caspian sea.

Shipped by Railroad.

To bring the oil to the seaboard 400 miles of railroad must be traveled to the terminus of the pipe line, and then 160 miles still remain before reaching Batum. The capacity of the pipe line is almost double the capacity of the railroad, so that the amount taken to Batum depends upon the capacity of the railroad. The Volga river is an outlet for 80 per cent of the production, and reaches many miles into the heart of the Russian empire. But the Volga is frozen up for several months in the year and is subject to months of low water stages in the summer and fall.

The price of 10 kopecks per pood, equal to 46 cents per barrel, for residuals or fuel oil, allowing 3.5 barrels to equal one ton of Russian coal, places a value upon the oil corresponding to $1.61 per ton for coal. When the oil is valued at 11 kopecks per pood, or 51 cents per barrel, the price is equivalent to $1.78 per ton for coal. This is a very fair price for the petroleum and should carry it a long distance before the cost equals the corresponding cost of the Russian coal, which is high-priced and inferior in quality. It is the irregular supply and the fluctuating price which interfere with the sale of larger quantities of fuel oil in the great interior of Russia. At the price of 10 kopecks per pood, or 46 cents per barrel, which is considerably higher than the average price for 1901, the oil cannot fail to secure a market, if transportation could be guaranteed, and at prices much in advance of the price named for comparison.

Big Demand for Fuel.

During 1901, Russia produced only about 17,580,000 short tons of coal. The higher grades of which sell for about $7 to $8 per ton. During the same year the United States produced, in round numbers, 270,000,000 short tons of coal. All of the countries bordering on the Mediterranean sea are poorly supplied with fuel. When it is considered that two-thirds of the total production at Baku (about 81,000,000 barrels in 1901) now finds a market as fuel oil, we have in the petroleum an equivalent of nearly 10,000,000 tons of coal.

The total exports of petroleum, crude and refined, from Russia to foreign points in 1901 were 428,657,210 gallons, or 40.32 per cent of the total exports of petroleum from the United States in 1901, which amounted to 1,062,750,306 gallons, valued at nearly $71,500,000.

The very great difference between the petroleum of the United States and that of Russia is shown in the statistics of refined petroleum. Of the total world's production of crude petroleum in 1901, 165,385,725 barrels, the United States produced 63,389,194 barrels, or 47.9 per cent, and Russia produced 85,168,566 barrels, or 51.49 per cent; and yet of the total production of refined petroleum of all grades in 1901, estimated at 1,500,000,000 gallons for all countries, the United States produced 911,120,944 gallons, or 60.7 per cent, and Russia 414,122,999 gallons, or only 27.7 per cent.

PARKHURST APPLAUDED.

Pays Striking Tribute to President Roosevelt for Settling Coal Miners' Strike.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Paying a striking tribute to President Roosevelt and dealing sarcastically with "discredited patriots" of New York and Pennsylvania, who made an attempt to end the coal strike "for political reasons," the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst preached this morning in Madison Square Presbyterian church on the lessons of the coal strike.

Asserting that he wished to be careful to avoid saying anything revolutionary, yet declaring the Gospel revolutionary from core to circumference, Dr. Parkhurst discussed ownership, arbitration, labor rights and wrongs and at times was so effective that his large congregation audibly expressed its approval of his views.

FAHEY IS CONFIDENT.

Believes Delegates from Ninth District Will Vote to Go Back to Work.

Fahey is more confident than ever that they will vote unanimously in support of Mitchell, notwithstanding that at present some of the delegates are not in favor of going to work without knowing what wages they are to receive.

Company hands were busy today setting up prop timber, cleaning gas from the shafts and repairing tunnels, slopes and gangway tracks.

Individual coal operators are crowded with rush orders for coal to be delivered by next Saturday. Thousands of empty cars are scattered throughout the field.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 19—River 12.2 feet and stationary. The good stage of the water has allowed the full resumption of business by all packets out of this port.

LOUISVILLE—River rising; canal, 4.7 feet; falls, 2.5 feet; foot of locks, 8.8 feet. Business quiet. The Tom Rees and tow arrived at 5 p. m. and returned. The Charlie Brown and tow is to be in tonight and goes back. The Alice Brown leaves Paducah for New Orleans tomorrow. Pilots Jim Martin and Arthur McCann left for Rockport to bring up the Harry Brown.

GREENSBORO—River 7 feet and falling. Woodward down Monday; Elizabeth and Columbia up.

STEUBENVILLE—River 4.7 feet and rising.

WARREN—River .8 of a foot.

OIL CITY—River 1.7 feet and falling.

GALLIPOLIS—River 7.5 feet and falling. Morgantown up tonight and meital examinations, will go into effect January 1 next, and it is said that, owing to physical disqualifications of years standing, a number of the oldest officials not in the service will lose out.

GREENSBORO—River 7 feet and falling. Woodward down Monday; Elizabeth and Columbia up.

STEUBENVILLE—River 4.7 feet and rising.

WARREN—River .8 of a foot.

OIL CITY—River 1.7 feet and falling.

GALLIPOLIS—River 7.5 feet and falling.

MORGANTOWN—River .8 feet and stationary.

WHEELING—River 6.1 feet and stationary. Departed, Kanawha, Pittsburgh, 3 p. m.; Bessie Smith, Pittsburgh, 4 p. m.; Lorena due down for Zanesville.

PARKERSBURG—River 7.2 feet and falling. The Greenwood is due down for Charleston tonight.

Packets Leaving Today.

Bessie Smith, Parkersburg, noon.

News of the Rivers.

At 9 o'clock last night the marks on the gauge in Davis Island dam indicated a depth of 4.6 feet and the river was rising.

The Bessie Smith enters the Pittsburgh and Morgantown trade today, in place of the Ben Hur.

The steamer Kanawha was due in port last night; she leaves tomorrow for Charleston.

L. A. Jung of New Orleans, a prominent coal dealer of that place who was in Pittsburgh several days last week, went home Saturday night.

Capt. Joseph Price has moved into his new residence at Rankin. He has sold the house in which he lived for 53 years.

The Julian Powdrss is said to be coining money for her owners in the rivers of lower Louisiana.

The Belle of the Bends, plying between Vicksburg and Greenville, is regarded as one of the prettiest pieces of marine architecture in southern waters.

The Sunshine, which left Louisville one day last week for Cincinnati, took 500 barrels of oil as far as 60 various points, of which that city, 260 of which go to Kanawha river points. It is the first lot of Louisville made cement that has been sent to the upper Ohio region for commercial purposes for many months, but this is only a starter to what will follow within the next two weeks. The mills have extensive contracts to fill for Uncle Sam.

A recently made regulation in the United States life saving service, which makes it imperative that all keepers of life saving stations, after reaching the age of 54 years, must undergo physical and mental examinations, will go into effect January 1 next, and it is said that, owing to physical disqualifications of years standing, a number of the oldest officials not in the service will lose out.

Curing Pittsburgh Backs

Hundreds of them—Pittsburgh is a great place for backache—So much bustle and work and worry here—So much strain on the kidneys—the little filters of the blood—
Kidneys get sick—backache comes—
Cause and effect—that's all—can't have a well back with sick kidneys—
But Pittsburgh backs are being cured—The remedy for sick kidneys has been found—
DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
act directly on the kidneys—strengthen and invigorate them—
Make them strong and well—Don't affect any other organ at all—Pittsburgh people say so—They know—They've been cured—Read this statement—

Mrs. William Armour, who has a grocery store at No. 528 Seventh avenue, suffered for several years with kidney troubles and would have been suffering yet had it not been for the work of "The Little Conqueror." "It began with a pain across the small of my back," she says, "and gradually grew worse until I was scarcely able to go about my work. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I got a box. The first few doses helped me wonderfully, and before the box was finished I was completely cured. I was so rejoiced that I sent a box to my sister, who lives in Leechburg, and who has suffered a great deal from kidney trouble. She was as greatly benefited as I was, and never gets tired of talking of the wonderful merits of Doan's Kidney Pills."

BRITISH LABOR IN HARD LINES

Net Decrease in Wages to Workingmen Over Million Pounds in 1891.

HOURS OF SOME CUT

Large Increase in Percentage of Disputes by Arbitration—Some Interesting Figures Showing Present Conditions.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—A marked reduction in wages of labor in England is reported in the Labor Department of the London chamber of commerce, a copy of which has just reached the treasury bureau of statistics. It says:

There is a warning to masters and men alike in the official record of the changes in rates of wages and hours of labor during 1901. It foreshadows a relapse from the prosperity of the last few years, a decline in wages having to be recorded for the first time since 1895. Moreover, during the first half of the present year the tendency is still towards lower wages. The number of workpeople affected by reductions in 1901 was greater than any year in the period 1894-1901, the computed amount of the reductions being more than the total reductions recorded in the previous eight years.

It is estimated that the net decrease in the wages bill last year was about £1,584,000, compared with a net increase of £6,000,000 in 1900. The fall in wages was confined to the mining and quarrying and the metal, engineering and shipbuilding groups of industries, there being net increases in the other groups—building, textile, clothing, etc.

One most satisfactory feature in the report is, however, the fact that there was a large increase in the percentage of workpeople whose wages were settled by conciliation boards, etc., which is mainly due to the formation or re-establishment of such boards in the mining industry. Out of every 100 persons whose wages were changed only two were concerned in strikes and lockouts. This is the lowest recorded percentage. With regard to changes in hours of labor, 580 workpeople had their hours lengthened and 28,600 had them shortened, the net result being a reduction of 53,728 hours per week. The principal changes were in the printing trade. Included in those affected by changes in hours in this trade are 12,923 compositors, readers, machine-minders, bookbinders, etc., employed in the London printing trade. Compositors' hours were reduced under the award of the arbitrators appointed by the board of trade from 54 to 52½. The letterpress printers, bookbinders and machine rulers of London secured a reduction of 3,000, also secured a reduction from 52½ to 50.

A brief consideration of the foregoing will show that altogether the outlook for labor is less encouraging than for some years past, and it behooves both employers and employed to use common sense, zeal and intelligence in maintaining and consolidating industry, upon which the prosperity of the country depends.

The following table, compiled from the eighth annual "Abstract of Labor Statistics of the United Kingdom," recently issued by the British board of trade, shows the standard rates of wages per week for various trades recognized in London at the beginning of 1902:

| Trades. | Wages Per Week. |
|---|---|
| Shipwrights | $12 96 |
| Ship yard platers | 11 67 |
| Cabinet makers | 11 34 |
| Boiler shop platers | 10 94 |

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MARKET PRICES

Strong Hay and Grain Situation—Flour Firmer—Lard and Hams Advance.

Firmness has been the prominent characteristic of the hay and grain market for a week past, all lines having been affected, either directly or sympathetically, and quotations have ruled strong, with several advances. Timothy hay has not changed in price, but sales have been made at quotations listed, and there has been no shrinkage in values, as sellers have had the market largely in their own hands. Clover and mixed have been in short supply and excellent demand, quotations going higher. Rye, after a slight weakness at the beginning of last week, reacted and held firm at quotations which have been ruling for several weeks.

Shelled corn is quoted a little lower than the figures of a week ago, not because the situation has actually lost strength, but because dealers have realized that there was some difference between local quotations and the real condition of the market throughout the country, and dropped a cent from list prices, although some sales are still reported at old figures. There is but little corn arriving; new ear has been offered at 53 cents. Oats have advanced for all grades, and the market is strong, with offerings moderate. Middlings and bran are in demand, and quotations are considerably above those of last Monday.

Millers Advance Flour.

In the grocery market there have not been many changes. Flour is higher; strong wheat and mill advances have forced local jobbers to put up prices, although figures asked in this market are not unpopular, unfortunately for high grade conditions elsewhere, or values as held at the mills justify. Actual selling is about $4 15 per barrel for fancy spring patent, with an occasional very desirable order accepted at $4 10, and a few sales reported above $4 20.

Sugar is dull and slow of sale, but there has been no change in price. Demand is growing smaller as the winter approaches, and there may be declines, though there has not been any indication of a speculative character. Coffee is as it was, with jobbers and importers alike awaiting developments in Brazil, where prices are advanced, planters alleging that damage has been done to the coffee crop by recent frosts. It will be a month or two before the amount of damage can be definitely known, as this will appear when the flowering time of the crop arrives.

Navy beans have fallen slightly from the high range of prices occupied a week ago, but the decline has been very slight, and quotations are still high. Canned goods are steady at last week's quotations, and the demand is greatly on the increase. Jobbers are predicting advanced figures for tomatoes when buying by retailers is fully under way. Dried fruits are firm, with no material changes in prices, except that Ondara Valencia raisins are a trifle easier than quoted last Monday. Clover seed has been steadily advancing.

Fancy Apple Demand Growing.

There has been an advance in quotations for fancy apples, which are in active request, and which will be increasingly sought for the Halloween trade. Lower grades are just fairly holding their own, and stocks of these description. Potatoes in carlots are a little higher, figures asked by farmers having been increased, but selling prices to the trade are unchanged. Sweet potatoes are unchanged, with the outlook for an advancing market, as quotations at shipping points have been moved forward. Cabbage is unchanged, but moving rapidly. Fresh tomatoes have been advanced and spinach is higher. Green corn and string beans are commanding higher figures and are scarce.

Frosts during the past week hurt all vegetables, and the season for home raised products will soon be over. So-called grapes are now on the way from the south and other vegetables will follow. Concord grapes weakened several days ago on account of heavy receipts, which caused the railroads to put an embargo on shipments for this market. Stocks have been cleaned up to some extent, however, and the feeling is better, with prices firmer. Damson plums have disappeared from the market and Bartlett pears are about done. Bosc pears are not now offering, but other varieties are plentiful.

Chestnuts Very Plentiful.

This is a great season for chestnuts and many of them are arriving, prices ranging all the way from four to eight cents, according to size and quality. Peaches are still in Florida in very active, but receipts are good and prices fluctuate but little.

Creamery butter advanced a cent a pound at Elgin last Monday and the market has been firm at the advance ever since. It is not likely there will be any decline today, and there might be another advance. Choice is maintaining a strong hold on its high position, with prospects favoring further advances. There is not much cheese in storage, and the season for manufacture will soon be past. High quotations are bound to prevail all winter, limited in extent only by the refusal of the consuming trade to purchase. Eggs are quiet and holding their own. The market gave a slight exhibition of weakness about the middle of the week, and a few sales were made at slightly lower figures, but the situation has since become firmer.

Poultry is coming forward in fair supply and demand keeps up to a good average, with quotations steady, no changes having occurred during the week.

Another advance was made by provision dealers in the price of hams and breakfast bacon last Saturday, while lard has also moved up in price.

WHEN PRIESTS MEET IN DEBATE

Annual Conference of Pittsburgh Diocese Hedged About With Secrecy.

TOPICS OF INTEREST

Canon Law, Parish Management, Theological Subjects, Secret Societies, Strikes and Public Questions Discussed.

The semi-annual conference of the priests of the Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh passed off last week as quietly as usual. Priests from all over came to Pittsburgh, gathered at Bishop Richard Phelan's on the morning an dafternoon in conference and departed again to their homes.

Although the church authorities hold that these occasions are of no interest to the public, a great deal of interest is taken by the bishop and the priests who participate. The conference is a sort of officers' school, as they have it in the United States army and navy; a kind of post-graduate course, an occasion at which the priests present knotty problems to solve, where matters of parish management are discussed, where hard spiritual nuts are cracked.

It is impossible to learn from any participant in the conferences what subjects are discussed. All are pledged to secrecy. From the nature of the semi-annual gatherings it is obvious that subjects must come up that are of interest.

Preparing for Conference.

The Rev. Joseph Suehr is the master of the conference, or the moderator, as he would be called in gatherings of the Protestant clergy. Just at present Father Suehr is already busy with the program of the next conference, casting over in his mind the subjects upon which he desires the preparation of papers. Having selected the subjects, Father Seuhr notifies the priests of the diocese that they will be expected by the time of the next conference, to prepare an essay dealing with the points he names.

When the time arrives the priests will come primed for the war of intellects, for they expect many of their arguments and conclusions to be attacked by some of their brothers. For a month or two preceding the conference, book stores remark that ecclesiastical customers are replenishing their libraries, and the dealers are frequently obliged to order books which they do not keep on their shelves, for the needs of the writer for the conference debate cannot be supplied by drafts on fiction or the fresh books constantly coming from the printing presses.

Papers and Debates.

When the conference has been assembled and opened with the usual prayer, the master of the conference looks over the gathering and calls on some priest to read the paper he has prepared. When he has finished another is told to state his position, and so in rotation a half dozen clergymen may read their essays. Then the debate becomes general. Some dispute, some approve the papers that have been read. One priest may strike a novel note and be ready to defend it, finding opponents and champions among those about him. By the time all have had their say he will know what the majority of opinion is on the proposition.

A question of parish or parochial school management may come up and some priest sitting modestly in a corner may be requested to give his opinion. He is known as one who has particularly studied that question and is well informed on the subject, and he is listened to attentively. All priests are not experts in canon law, but there are some fine canon lawyers in the Pittsburgh diocese. Like judges and experts of the law profane they sometimes differ, and, it is a great treat for the younger priests to hear the canonic giants dealing intellectual blows at their opponents' position.

Many Questions Come Up.

Questions in spiritual guidance may occur. The difference between oath-bound societies and those which claim to be purely beneficial and not controlled by an oath, forbidding the disclosure of proceedings to their spiritual adviser, may be discussed. Some years ago, when the Knights of Labor were flourishing, the order was often discussed in conference and in some dioceses, especially in Canada, Catholics were at first forbidden to join the order.

Labor questions may be debated and priests will give their opinion on the moral responsibility for strikes, especially when the non-union men are officially debarred from the unions striking against them. A thousand and one problems are constantly engaging the attention of parish priests, and in the semi-annual conference they may find the guidance which they may desire.

Questions of theology, the relation of science to the Bible, evolution, all may be brought forward for discussion, to clear up some mooted point, to resolve a doubt (not a doubt of doctrine, of course) in some mind, to gain from the attrition of minds a knowledge of the best theological thought on the subjects discussed.

NEW CUNARD LINERS ARE TO MAKE 25 KNOTS

Story That They Are to Be Supplied With Steam Turbines a Mistake.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—No official details as to the Cunard line's new vessels, which are promised to break all records, have yet been made public, but a forecast of them can be given on the authority of a well-known Clyde shipbuilder.

The proposed ships will be 750 feet long and 70 feet beam. The contract calls for a speed of 25 knots. The horse power probably will be about 40,000.

It has been reported that the new ships would be equipped with steam turbines, but for this the builder mentioned declares there is no foundation. It is expected that the vessels will burn roughly 800 tons of coal a day.

"Broncho Busting" for Horse Show.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Oct. 19.—The eighth annual horse show, which will begin in Convention hall tomorrow night, and last during the entire week, promises to be the most successful in the history of the Kansas City Horse Show association. The entry list numbers more than 400. "Broncho busting" exhibitions will be among the innovations.

Numbers of prominent people too honest to impose upon others, and too sagacious to be imposed upon themselves, use and recommend Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant for Coughs and Colds.

AMERICANS TO BUILD MILLS IN IRELAND

Plan Steamship Line to Deliver Flour to Coast Towns of Great Britain.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Representatives of an American syndicate having headquarters in Chicago have been visiting Dublin, Belfast, Derry, Waterford, Cork, Galway and Sligo, looking for suitable sites for American flour mills, on which they are prepared to spend anywhere from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000, according to the facilities granted to them.

A feature of the undertaking will be a fleet of small steamers for distributing flour and corn meal to the smaller coast towns throughout Great Britain. The mill to be erected at Belfast will have an output of 5,000 tons weekly.

Ernest MacAndrews of the firm of Isaac MacAndrews & Son, millers, of London and Belfast, when seen on the subject said:

"If Americans want to build mills in Ireland they will be welcome, because it would improve the industrial condition of the country. The prejudice against American flour is being steadily broken down by the home millers. On a sack of flour manufactured in Belfast there is at least $1 distributed in wages, whereas not more than 5 or 6 cents is distributed in this country by the sale of each sack of imported flour."

NEW YORK THREATENED WITH COAL SHORTAGE

Even With Strike Settled, Operators Will Be Unable to Mine Winter's Supply.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—With the strike practically ended, the actual possession of coal has now become the chief interest of the consumer. Many who have studied the question declared that it will be impossible to supply at this late day more than two-thirds of the amount ordinarily consumed in the succeeding six months.

It is declared by experts that the average consumption a month during the winter is 7,500,000 tons, while, based upon the statements of an official of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, which handles 15 per cent of the coal, it will be possible for the railroads to handle only 5,000,000 tons a month. This would leave a shortage of one-third to be borne by the consumers.

PEACE IN THE WORLD.

The Rev. U. S. Greves Tells of the Great Work of Jesus Christ.

At the Forty-third street Presbyterian church last evening the Rev. U. S. Greves preached a sermon on "The Cross and the Treaty of Peace." His text was taken from Ephesians ii.16: Mr. Greves said in part:

With what joy throughout this nation did men receive the news that the great coal strike was practically settled! How England ran riot with gladness when the news of the end of the bloody South African war was announced! Not so far past is the rejoicing of this land at the termination of the Spanish war! A greater and more enduring treaty of peace than any of these was concluded when God wrote in blood of His son that the war was ended between man and his God, between man and his fellow.

The Apostle Paul presented a vivid picture to his readers of the enmity between Jews and Gentiles, a picture which students of the Bible and readers of history know to be true to the facts. This enmity he declares to be broken down by the death of Jesus Christ on the cross. The Saviour whom the Gentiles love and trust was a Jew by birth, a Gentile by adoption. And thus by a common interest in one who did for both the two peoples have become united. Of the actual working out of this theory of the apostle, current history gives its witness. In the two great nations of the world, England and the United States, Christian and Jew have now equal rights. And both are bringing pressure to constrain other nations to give the same justice.

TOOK COLLECTION IN DARK.

Duss' Band Drew a Great Throng to the Bijou.

For five minutes yesterday afternoon the big crowd that attended the religious services conducted by the Rev. S. Edward Young in the Bijou theater sat in utter darkness. Through a slight accident the electric lights were extinguished and it required some dexterous work on the part of the electricians to secure light in time for continuing the exercises.

Duss' band was the musical attraction and more than 4,000 persons filled the house, crowding first floor and the galleries, and many were unable to gain admission. Handel's "Largo," the "Tannhauser" overture and a medley of gospel hymns were played with a spirit that aroused the enthusiasm of the audience. A large choir of picked voices led the singing.

Mr. Young had begun the opening exercises and was telling his audience the plans that had been outlined for continuing the services in the theater through the winter. He had asked for a contribution for the support of the undertaking, when the lights were suddenly extinguished. The ushers, who were to pass the collection baskets, however, were moving about the aisles and assured the audience that the light soon would be turned on. The people made use of the time by counting out their contributions by the "feel" of the money. When at last the light came on the collection baskets were filled, but many in the audience found that they had made strange errors in contributing.

A Grand Exhibition of Furs.

To Which Is Joined a Handsome Collection of Gowns and Wraps.

Today we make a general opening of Furs, and women everywhere within the city and the adjacent towns are invited to attend.

We never employed such efforts to gather a handsome collection of furs as we did the past season for buying them. We went to the trouble of importing the richest skins and having the garments made especially for us—many of them after designs of our own. The wisdom of this is to be seen in the superb finish of the garments offered.

The collection in its entirety is a magnificent representation of newest Fur styles from the best artists of Europe and America. We cannot too strongly emphasize the excellence of each piece, whether it be a charming little Scarf of Marten or a magnificent scarf of Russian Crown Sable or the elegant Coat of Seal.

The new location of the Fur section is in its every appointment a model salesroom. One of the new features which will add to the pleasure of shopping here are the private rooms for inspection of finer furs and for trying on of wraps and neckpieces.

The following quotations make this section so strong in the giving of honest and thoroughly good values that its superiority in this respect will be more firmly established than ever. No woman in need of furs can really afford to overlook the wonderful saving advantages that stand out in such broad review here.

The Exhibit of Seal Coats.

The fur of the seal is scarce and growing more so every year. This is due to the unwarranted destruction of the seals in their natural home in Alaskan waters. Notwithstanding the high prices of this fur, we were fortunate the past season in getting hold of some remarkable values, which we can sell at prices far below the present worth of seal coats.

The "piece de resistance," as it were, to prove our supremacy in the fur world, is a fine genuine Alaska Seal Coat at $175. We are enabled to set this price—fifty dollars below the real value—because we imported the skins and had the coats made for us. These garments are limited in quantity. They are all stylish garments in the wanted lengths, and made by only the best furriers in America. There are but 50 of the fine coats, enough for a short time only, and when they are gone the next lot of a similar grade will be priced $225.

We have six stylish Sealskin Coats that are tight-fitting in the back, box effect front, lined with seal brown satin, a very smart little fur coat and one that many women will appreciate. Price $125 each.

Some elegant Seal Coats lined with best of satin, at $225, $250 and $275.

For the ultra fine seal coats we have many specimens on exhibition. The sizes run from 32 to 42 inches, and the lengths from 20 to 24 inches. All possess the finest workmanship and the fur is only the kind that enters into coats of highest quality. Prices range $300, $350 and $400.

Fur Automobile Garments.

The Fur Department exhibits newest designs in garments for automobile wear. They are what Paris says is correct.

The materials used are fine leather, in black, brown and green, lined with Russian squirrel, locks or backs, and have collars, revers and cuffs of either Mink, Ermine, Astrakhan or Marten.

The prices are from $200 to $350.

One in particular is a real hair seal Automobile Coat, with Marten trimmings. The price is $100.

Others are of all-leather, coat length, at $25 and $30.

Your own ideas followed to the letter if you prefer other combinations. Our made-to-order department will produce coats after any special design.

Coats of Other Fine Furs.

Every fur that is used in the making of coats for women is to be found in our collection. Not to take up too much of your time, or too much newspaper space, mention is made of only a few.

Coats of an excellent grade of Persian Lamb, the smartest looking of all furs, 20-inch length, box front, double breasted, high collar, at $165, $175 and $190.

Coats of the rich and beautiful broadtail, bell-shaped sleeves, the entire coat lined with heavy satin, at $275 and $300.

Monte Carlo Coats of finest Broadtail, having pointed capes and fancy sleeves. These coats also have fine Persian Lamb vest and chinchilla collar. They are the newest idea in imported fur garments. Price $350.

Squirrel, as you know, is the faddish fur for this season. To be in style you must have some squirrel fur piece among your belongings. We have Blouse Jackets of Siberian Squirrel finished with a gray squirrel collar and fancy belt, for $165.

Blouses of Gray Squirrel finished with ermine collar and revers, full sleeves, to which are attached ermine cuffs, an exceedingly smart garment, for $225.

The Smaller Furs.

As intimated above, the fur of the little gray squirrel (petit gris) is the fad this season. More properly, it refers to the Siberian squirrel. Never since the days of our grandmothers, when squirrel lined cloaks and squirrel tippets were in fashion, has the fur of these little animals been in such demand.

While this fur will be largely used for coats, blouses and muffs, it will be more largely used for neck pieces of all styles. Our collection is a fine one in every respect, as is also the collection of all the other furs that are usually worked up into neckpieces.

Enumerated briefly.

Ermine Scarfs.

This is the dainty Fur, and is very effective, especially when worn by young people.

Beautiful Ermine Scarfs in flat stole shapes at $65 and up to $125.

Blue Lynx Scarfs.

The particular thing to know about scarfs of this fur is to be sure that the dye is good. Ours is guaranteed.

Black Marten Scarfs.

Marten is the dependable fur for scarfs for runabout wear. They are sightly, full of style, and not at all expensive.

Cluster Scarfs of Marten, with eight tails, $5.

Cluster Scarfs of Black Marten in which two skins are used, $12.50.

Scarfs of Baum Marten.

A choice Fur when you get the genuine. There are many Furs of the more common sort that masquerade under the name of Baum Marten.

Baum Marten Scarfs, made of two skins, the back finished with three tails and claws, $35.

Squirrel Scarfs.

Paris was the first to revive this fur, and as usual, she went wild over petit gris, "the little gray," which is the name given to the fur of the Siberian squirrel.

We have a very fine Scarf of this Fur, in a flat stole shape, which sells for $75.

Mink Scarfs.

Scarfs composed of two Mink skins, and ten natural tails, $20.

Extra fine Mink Scarfs, flat stole shape, $45.

Scarfs of Fox Fur.

The fox family is still held in high favor by many women. Our collection of scarfs, boas and stoles is an excellent one from two points of view—variety and low prices.

Scarfs of American Isabella Fox, one skin, two bushy tails, $20.

A very choice quality of Isabella Fox, two skins worked up into a pretty scarf, two bushy tails, $28.

Finest quality of Isabella Fox—two large brush tails—$38.

Scarfs of Sable Fox, one skin, two large brush tails and claws, $11.50.

Scarfs of Sable Fox, two skins, full brush tails and claws, $17.50.

Fine one-skin Scarfs of Sable Fox, two brush tails, $22.

Fine to superfine Scarfs of Sable Fox, two skins, brush tails, $30 to $35.

Choice Black Fox Scarfs, natural brush tails, $23.

Choicest quality of Fox Scarfs, an extra value, $45.

Black Lynx Scarfs.

The same caution must be used in selecting the black Lynx Scarf that you would use for that of Blue Lynx.

Black Lynx Scarfs, and a fine black at that, boa shape, $30.

Scarfs of a finer quality, $40.

The line of Black Lynx Scarfs runs up to those of finest quality at $90, this last mentioned piece being something out of the ordinary.

Chinchilla Scarfs.

Still high in favor with women and considered especially smart for young ladies.

Chinchilla Scarfs, an excellent color, trimmed with six blue fox tails, $20.

A handsome Stole of an extra quality of Chinchilla—a remarkable value for the price of $125.

The Sable Scarfs.

Of course, Sable is the richest of all Furs, and some of the finer Sables are precious as gems—notably the Crown Sables of Russia.

Hudson Bay Sable Scarfs from $75 to $300.

Scarfs of Russian Crown Sables from $125 to $650.

Brilliant Array of Costumes, Dresses and Wraps—Imported and Copies.

It is a daring thing for us to say that this Fall exhibition is the finest and best we ever had. But it is true. The best examples of Paris, London and Berlin are here as well as the clever imitations effected by American dressmakers.

Today, or at any hour of the other days of the week, you are invited to judge of this brilliant collection.

Coronation Effects.

These are prominent in every style and description of dress. The blending and harmonizing of black and white is so artistically executed that really nothing remains to be desired. In this handsome association of colors, there are velvets, paons, broadcloths, peau de soies, zibelines, etc. For the finishings there are such exquisite stuffs as royal ermine, panne velvet, duchesse, moire and beautiful laces.

The predominating style, if indeed any style predominates this season, where the individuality of the wearer can be suited rather than arbitrary Fashion, are the Garrick, the new Du Barry, the Monte Carlo, and the numerous pretty ideas from Vienna. And you may as well know that Vienna is a new Richmond in the world of fashion.

In this new style of dress, gowns range in price from the velveteen at $25 to the foreign creations at $300.

Wraps for street, opera or carriage wear, from $40 to $300.

Tailored Dresses, notably the new French blouse, $50 to $125.

Velvet Costumes and Suits.

This is really a wonderful exhibit, exemplifying every idea of completeness. This is true of all classes of costumes—afternoon, evening and street.

These models are either copies of the artistic creations of Paquin, Doucet, Sarameyer, Mme. Agnes and the lesser lights of Paris, or the originals themselves.

It is needless for us to say there is but one of each design, and every one is in itself all that the most exacting woman of fashion could ask.

The French Blouse, the hip seam Prince Albert, the Blouse peplum and others are represented with garniture of hand-run Cluny and Grecian Laces, artistic fancy braids, jeweled buttons, etc., and the prices are $65, $75, $90 and on to $150.

Silk Lined Tailored Suits, $25.

Another proof that our suit section deserves your attention.

Velvette Shirtwaist Suits, $15 and $25.

The remarkable popularity of this first cousin to silk velvet, made up in the chic shirtwaist-suit style, is broadening every day.

Nothing ever brought out in a gown for street wear, or semi-dress occasions, could have more to commend it to the practical, as well as the artistic mind, than these dainty suits.

The prices, as above, do not convey a fair idea of their excellent worth.

The colors are black, navy and Havana, either solid grounds, or a sprinkling of dots, or small designs in metallic print.

Special Walking Suits, $20.

Value $30.

You've a right to know why we can say for these suits $10 less than the regular price. Here's the story: When our buyer was in New York last week he ran across five pieces of Scotch Cheviot All-Wool Mixtures, in the handsomest turned off the looms this season. There was only one bolt of each pattern, and each bolt makes nine suits, hence we have only forty-five of them.

If made up in the regular way, adding the usual profits, they would cost us very nearly what we offer them for.

This is one of those unusual things that happen occasionally, and of course the forty-five suits will not be with us long.

They are made in the new short Norfolk strap effect, fitted back and fly front, lined with all silk taffeta. The skirt is seven-gored, with box pleat strap and closely stitched seams.

We don't mind telling you that the style of this suit is a copy of one that we sell for $35.

Some Specially Priced Dress Skirts.

While there is every style of fashionable dress skirt in our Autumn collection, space is only taken this morning to tell of some specially priced numbers.

Black Dress Skirts, of Cheviot, made with a three-inch box pleat, neatly trimmed with silk; the lining is of excellent silkoline, $13.75.

Very handsome Dress Skirts, for which an excellent grade of gray and black novelty cloth has been used. The style of the skirt is nine-gore flare with side pleats, each of which was formed of black broadcloth, giving a panel effect at flare, $20.

Fine Dress Skirts of taffeta silk, with circular folds of camel's hair, finished with braid ornaments from waist to bottom of skirt, $30.

The Sensible Walking Skirts.

Our exhibit is made of generous assortments, and that is what every woman likes.

Three of our special numbers.

At $7.50, Walking Skirts of camel's hair cloth, seven-gore flare with three-inch stitching. Each seam is finished with five rows of stitching. Blue and oxford.

At $10. Walking Skirts of thin blue and black rain-proof Melton Cloth, a medium weight. This skirt is box pleated and there are 10-inch tucks between the pleats.

At $16.50, very handsome Walking Skirts of Covert and Melton Cloth—tan, black, blue and brown. They are made with a yoke from which pleats extend to bottom; seven-gore habit back. Both yoke and flare finished with five rows of stitching.

Golf Vests, $1.50 to $7.50.

Why these should be termed Golf Vests is rather difficult of explanation, when as a matter of fact, they are oftener used for street or house wear, either under a wrap or coat or over a light shirtwaist.

All colors and combinations—in the collection several college colors.

$1.50 to $5 without sleeves.

$5 to $7.50 with sleeves.

Tan Covert Cloth Jackets, $10.

These are new arrivals and are what many women have been waiting patiently for. To those who have not seen them, we'll say they are of all-wool light-weight Covert Cloth, Tan only. Lined with heavy taffeta, in solid or changeable colors.

All sizes from 32 to 42—but only sixty of them.

No more for the next two weeks—tailors won't make them for us at the price.

New Monte Carlo Coats, $17.50.

In this offer, if the class of tailoring, grade of cloth and linings are considered, the real worth is $25.

All-Wool Smooth Kersey, black and colors; 30 inches long.

Notched coat collar; the new puffed sleeve with turned back cuff; very full back draped perfectly; both back and front finished with six one-inch straps running full length coat, lined with Skinner's guaranteed satin.

Silk Shirtwaists, $3 to $60.

Dress and Shirtwaist Styles.

At the price of $3.90 we show a handsome peau de soie waist, liberally tucked and pleated. French back and stock collar.

Then at $5 we show no less than 10 styles in black and colors. They are unapproachable values. Testified to by thousands of Pittsburg women who buy silk waists often and consider $5 the popular price for a serviceable garment.

This department was never busier, nor in better form to cater to your wants. The styles at $8, $10 and up to $60, are marvels of tone and character, not the usual every-day kind that one meets on every occasion, but styles that are distinctively refined and designed to meet the requirements of fashionable dressers.
